13. This Tribunal welcomed the substituted Respondents in place of Shri Roy with a view to continuing the proceedings (vide Order No. 72, dated July 3, 1958, and Order No. 73, dated July 10, 1958). For the substituted Respondents and their learned Advocates who have ungrudgingly helped this Tribunal, a catastrophe has been averted, namely, a case of this magnitude had not to be heard ex parte. I would have, however, welcomed Shri Roy as a contesting Respondent, or even as witness, all the more.

14. The hearing was resumed at 10-30 a.m. on August 5, 1958, from the point where it was left at 10-30 a.m. on May 10, 1958. P.W.9, Ramchandra Singh, P.W.10, K. C. Ghose, P.W.11, Anil Kumar Sadhukhan and P.W.12, Kalipada Banerjee, were cross-examined. Before the resumption they were only examined in chief. Two other witnesses, P.W.4, Sailendranath Niyogi, recalled and re-examined on May 10, 1958, and P.W.6, Abhedananda Das, similarly recalled and re-examined on May 12, 1958, were not needed by the substituted Respondents for cross-examination and were not, therefore, summoned to appear (vide paragraph 4 of Order No. 80, dated August 5, 1958). Evidence on behalf of the Petitioners thus closed on August 8, 1958, the learned Advocates for the substituted Respondents informed this Tribunal that they called no oral evidence. Thereafter, arguments were heard exhaustively on August 16 and 18, 1958. Shri Basu immediately before addressing me just mentioned the question: Who would argue first in view of the fact that no oral evidence was led by the substituted Respondents? But he submitted at the same time that he made no point of it. None else of the learned Advocates touched it even. Shri Basu began and was followed by Shri Chatterjee. Thereafter, I heard the learned Senior Standing Counsel and also Shri Chatterjee and Shri Basu in reply.

15. Now to the truncated Issue No. 3, again. It is the only issue on which the Petitioners and the substituted Respondents go to trial at the resumption, though the Petitioners had the complete freedom at the resumed hearing to pursue other issues (vide the 8th paragraph of Order No. 77, dated July 21, 1958). This Tribunal has been addressed on no other issue either by the learned Senior Standing Counsel arguing for the Petitioners or by Shri H. K. Chatterjee appearing all through for the substituted Respondent N. C. Das or by Shri B. P. Basu appearing all through for the substituted Respondents Brajagopal and Devaprasad. Shri Sen appearing for the other set of substituted Respondents, Sudhamadhu and three others, has adopted at every stage of the trial all that has been asked and argued by Shri Chatterjee and Shri Basu. But it must be recorded in fairness to Shri Chatterjee that, his main argument ever, he raised a point of maintainability rested on absence of authority of Shri Asoke Krishna Dutt to present the election petition (which he did) before the Election Commission under section 81 of the Act, and ransacked the issues on record to see under which such a contention could be put. Ultimately he found none. I shall deal with it in due course.

16. The importance of the truncated and adjusted third issue is such that it bears repetition. Now it reads—

> "Is Shri Biren Roy disqualified for being chosen as a member of the Lok Sabha because of his connection with a firm under the name and style of Indo-German Trade Centre?"

"Connection" in the context of pleadings and submissions made at the Bar means any share or interest in terms of section 7(d) of the Act in the contract referred to above, entered into by the Indo-German Trade Centre with the Central Government. The expression section 7(d) of the Act uses is "the appropriate Government." Is the Central Government with which the Indo-German Trade Centre entered into a contract "the appropriate Government" within the meaning of section 7(d) of the Act? An affirmative answer cannot be in doubt. Section 7(d), it will be seen, is in Chapter III of Part I of the Act. And there is an independent interpretation clause for this chapter: section 9. It reads, in so far as it is material for the present purpose,—

> "9. Interpretation, etc.—(1) In this Chapter—
> (a) 'appropriate Government' means, in relation to any disqualification for being chosen as or for being a member of either House of Parliament, the Central Government....."

Thus, it appears to be beyond argument that the "appropriate Government" referred to in section 7(d) of the Act means the Central Government.

17. It is now time to call attention to the relevant excerpts from section 100(1)(a) of the Act—

> "100. Grounds for declaring election to be void.—(1) ..... if the Tribunal is of opinion—
>
> (a) that on the date of his election a returned candidate was not qualified, or was disqualified, to be chosen to fill the seat under the Constitution or this Act..... .....
>
> ..... ,
> the Tribunal shall declare the election of the returned candidate to be void."

What the date of election of a returned candidate is has been provided in section 67A of the Act—

> "67A. Date of election of candidate.—For the purposes of this Act, the date on which a candidate is declared by the Returning Officer under the provisions of.....section 66, to be elected to a House of Parliament.....shall be the date of election of that candidate."

(Words in section 67A not required for the present discussion have been omitted in the quotation above.)

The date of election here of Shri Roy from the Calcutta South-West Parliamentary Constituency is March 20, 1957. There is the averment to that effect in the 5th paragraph of the election petition, which Shri Roy traverses in the 9th paragraph of his written statement as under—

"9. The statements in paragraph.....5.....are substantially correct."

This matter having been concluded by the pleadings, no evidence aliunde has been led to show what the date of election of the returned candidate, Shri Roy, is. None appears to be necessary either.

18. These preliminaries settled about the meaning of the words "connection with the Indo-German Trade Centre," of the expression "the appropriate Government" section 7(d) of the Act uses and of the words "the date of election"—words to be found in section 100(1)(a) of the Act. I now proceed to determine the third issue as it now stands. To determine that, the following questions arise, the last of which needs a searching examination—

(i) Did the Indo-German Trade Centre enter into a contract with the Central Government for installation of automatic vote-recording equipment in the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha?

(ii) Was the contract subsisting on the date of the election of Shri Roy, to wit, on March 20, 1957?

(iii) Has Shri Roy any share or interest in the aforesaid contract?

Paragraph 9 of Order No. 77, dated July 21, 1958, may be looked into in this connection.

19. The first question formulated in the preceding paragraph admits of an easy answer. The answer is that the Indo-German Trade Centre did enter into a contract with the Central Government for installation of automatic vote-recording equipment in the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha. Shri Basu, the learned Advocate for the substituted Respondents, Brajagopal Das and Devaprasad Roy, has somewhat lightened my labour by admitting the existence of such a contract. Still, reference has only to be to the papers set out below to be convinced of the fact that there has been such a contract

(1) Exhibit 4.—A letter dated January 19, 1956, over the signature of K. C. Ghosh, P.W.10, for Indo-German Trade Centre to the address of Shri S. P. Chatterjee, a Deputy Director of Supplies, submitting the tender in duplicate for the supply of automatic vote-recording equipment for the Lok Sabha, New Delhi.

(2) Exhibit 5.—The tender itself with necessary papers over the signature of K. C. Ghosh too for Indo-German Trade Centre, save that in the Income-tax Clearance Certificate, part of the tender, just below the signature of K. C. Ghosh occur the words "Proprietor, Indo-German Trade Centre."

(3) Exhibit 6.—A letter dated April 9, 1956, from the Director-General of Supplies and Disposals, over the signature of Shri Harish, an Assistant Director, "for and on behalf of the President of Union of India," accepting the tender just noticed.

(4) Exhibit 7.—The tender for installation of automatic vote-recording device in the Rajya Sabha along with two forwarding letters purporting to be over the signature of B. K. Mukherjee, one dated May 26, 1956, and the other dated June 6 following other papers, beautiful photographs illustrating the equipment and all, marked collectively.

20. These primary documents apart, the long line of letters, Exhibits 3 series touching the installation at the Lok Sabha and Exhibits 8 series touching the installation at the Rajya Sabha, have to be taken into reckoning. On top of that, here is the evidence of Shri S. P. Chatterjee P.W. 1, a Deputy Director, Supplies—

About the Lok Sabha tender, Exhibit 5, at page 4 of his recorded evidence—

"It was a sealed tender along with others. And it was duly opened by us in public. This very tender was accepted with some modifications. Acceptance over, work was executed in accordance with the terms of the tender."

Again, at page 7 of his recorded evidence, about the Rajya Sabha tender—

"The contract for installation of automatic vote-recording equipment in the Rajya Sabha was duly executed by the Indo-German Trade Centre after its tender was accepted."

21. The conclusion, therefore, seems to be irrefutable—and I find as a fact—that the Indo-German Trade Centre did enter into a contract with the Central Government for installation of automatic vote-recording device in both Houses of Parliament.

22. The second question listed in paragraph 18 ante now merits notice—

Was the contract subsisting on March 20, 1957, the date of election of the returned candidate, Shri Roy, within the meaning of section 67A and section 100(1)(a) of the Act?

Here also Shri Basu concedes the answer: The Contract was subsisting pointing out at the same time that the English law is otherwise. That indeed is true. In England an executed contract does not discuss (Schofield: Parliamentary Elections, 2nd Edition, page 95). The admission of Shri Basu apart, about the contract subsisting on March 20, 1957, there is the telling evidence of P.W. 1, Shri S. P. Chatterjee, again. At page 4 of his recorded evidence on Lok Sabha contract—

"Yes in the first part of 1957 from January to April the contract or terms of the tender was alive. Sir, I cannot say after April. I can say it was alive up to March 1957. Over 10 per cent. of the payment for the aforesaid contract is still due. And by April 1957, what remained due and outstanding for the contract was still more."

Again, at page 7 of his recorded evidence on the Rajya Sabha contract -

"Yes, in the month of January to April 1957 this contract was subsisting."

I, therefore, find as a fact that the Indo-German Trade Centre's contract with the Central Government, as referred to above, did subsist on March 20, 1957.

23. Much the most important question—the third one—formulated in paragraph 18 ante is now taken up for consideration—

Has Shri Roy any share or interest in the aforesaid contract?

Before I proceed to deal with the materials giving an answer to this question, I remind myself of two principles which must not be lost sight of. First: The success of Shri Roy by such a comfortable margin (12,538 votes) should not be lightly interfered with. That is "a sound principle of natural justice," as observed by his Lordship Mahajan, C.J., in Jagan Nath's: AIR 1954 SC 210. Second: The object of section 7(d), which alone now concerns me, is "to prevent the conflict between interest and duty that might otherwise inevitably arise." A member of Parliament entering into a contract with the Central Government can hardly be expected to do his duty qua member in a manner he should when such a deal in which he is so interested comes up before Parliament or any one of its Committees for discussion and decision. His interest and duty clash. Section 7(d) guarantees that he must not be "exposed to temptation or even to the semblance of temptation." At the same time, mere sentimental interest arising out of natural love and affection of a father for a son or of a brother-in-law for a brother-in-law (as here) appears to be beneath the notice of this statutory provision. Further, an interest in a contract to be caught by section 7(d) must be a pecuniary or at least a material interest, but it need not be a pecuniary advantage. It may equally be the likelihood of a pecuniary loss. (More of which hereafter.)

24. With these two principles in the forefront of my consideration, I have weighed over and over again the evidences—oral and documentary—led at the trial. Taken individually one after another, most of these evidences cannot have the slur of disqualification under section 7(d) of the Act put upon Shri Roy. Taken collectively—on which the learned Senior Standing Counsel stresses so much—the position does not, in my judgment, improve by one jot or tittle. Weak evidence added to weak evidence does not make for strong evidence, just as any number of ciphers added to a cipher gives you nothing but a cipher. Deliberately have I used the words "most of these evidences." Most, because I find some evidences which between themselves prove to the satisfaction of a prudent man that Shri Roy has, in any event, interest in the contract entered into by Indo-German

Trade Centre with the Central Government for installation of automatic vote-recording equipment in both the Houses of Parliament. I proceed to state in chronological sequence what those evidences are.

25. October 23, 1952, and Shri Roy addresses a letter, Exhibit 19/4, to the lessor Messrs. Diamond Sugar Mills Ltd., 28 Stephen House, which houses the Indo-German Trade Centre too (as the printed letter head shows), complaining about various inconveniences suffered only because of the obtuse headedness of the lessor. "Our business is suffering on account of light and, of course, we and our clients are put to a lot of inconvenience and difficulties by the absence of fans." What is meant is the cessation of electric current. Not that the fans were not there. There is no mistaking the signature of Shri Roy here. I do not pretend to be a handwriting expert. But the lack of my expertness does not worry me in the least. One has only to compare the admitted signatures of Shri Roy in the written statement and other papers on record (such as his application under section 116 of the Act on May 24, 1958) with the signature here in Exhibit 19/4 to be convinced that they are all the signatures of one and the same person—Shri Roy. No doubt, each person signs in his own way. But Shri Roy's signature has features all its own, distinguishing it from so many others. To see this signature is not to forget it. If Shri Roy is nobody to the Indo-German Trade Centre and if the Indo-German Trade Centre is nothing to Shri Roy, how is it that he addresses such a letter to the lessor of the accommodation where Indo-German Trade Centre is housed, complaining about his business suffering and his clients being put to a lot of inconvenience?

26. On reference to Shri Roy's passport, Exhibit L, it has been contended that he could not have lent his signature to this letter, Exhibit 19/4 on October 23, 1952, because the date of his arrival in India, as noted in the passport, Exhibit L, by the Calcutta Police, Passport Control, is October 26, 1952. Shri Roy, the contention runs, was not here on October 23, 1952. I took the passport in evidence as a public document, which it undoubtedly is, overruling the objection on behalf of the Petitioner (vide note by Tribunal at page 34 of the recorded evidence of P.W. 10 K. C. Ghosh). After having given the matter further and better consideration, I shall not unsay what I said then. The passport goes in evidence and with it all entries made inside of it, including the endorsement made by the Calcutta Police, Passport Control, noting the date of Shri Roy's departure on August 4, 1952, and the date of his arrival on October 26, 1952. What is apt to strike one is that such police endorsements noting the arrival and the departure are only two and no more, though Shri Roy visited foreign countries on other occasions as well. Still, I have not thought it fit to examine any Court witness from the Calcutta Police, Passport Control, which I was verbally invited to do by Shri Basu after his misconceived application inviting this Tribunal to write a letter to the Calcutta Police was not pressed (vide paragraph 6 of Order No. 84, dated August 8, 1958). Because on merits such a contention resting on the passport entries about the arrival in India does not help matters forward for Shri Roy. I may not, indeed, I should not, take notice of the pencil entry: 28-10-52 at the top of Exhibit 19/4, the learned Senior Standing Counsel's contention notwithstanding. Who wrote the pencil entry and what led to that entry being made I do not know. No evidence is there to that effect. That indeed is not of the least materiality. What really is of the utmost materiality is: Why sign a paper with the letter head "Indo-German Trade Centre" in print, and say all that appears above your signature? Shri Roy did not surely sign it with his eyes shut. He must be held to the sanctity of his signature on his return to Calcutta on October 26, 1952, even though it might bear the date October 23, 1952. There can be no running away from his signature.

27. Did Shri Roy sign blank papers which were kept with P.W. 10, K. C. Ghosh? At page 33 of Ghosh's recorded evidence—

"Q.—Did you keep with you any papers which were blank and signed by Shri Biren Roy?

Ans.—No. I do not recollect. Hence I cannot answer it."

Not a happy answer for an intelligent witness like Ghosh. But what really is at the back of this suggestion? The typed portion in Exhibit 19/4 was typed afterwards, Shri Roy's signature having been there from before on that blank paper and Shri Roy, therefore, not knowing anything about its contents. To suggest so is to suggest too much. And a suggestion is not proof. Nor do I see any merit of probability in such a suggestion. Further, the same question repeats itself: Why does Shri Roy sign the blank paper of the Indo-German Trade Centre with its name in the printed letter-paper?

28. It has not been suggested, nor argued, that the business Shri Roy speaks of in Exhibit 19/4 is the business of the Indian Airman, an aviation journal, Exhibit L, of which Shri Roy has been the Editor, or that the Indo-German Trade Centre was out autograph hunting, as a result of which they succeeded in getting the signature of Shri Roy at the bottom of its printed letter-paper. So, I leave such consideration alone.

29. Only because K. C. Ghosh, P.W. 10, cannot say even by guess how many days ahead of October 23, 1952, the Indo-German Trade Centre had come into being—it is indeed very difficult to say so—I do not see any "gigantic conspiracy," as Shri Basu does, in the birth of Indo German Trade Centre in the presence of Shri Roy. I accept K. C. Ghosh's evidence that Indo-German Trade Centre had come into being in the latter part of October 1952 when Shri Roy, even going by the entries made by the Calcutta Police, Passport Control, in the passport, Exhibit L, had returned home from his tour abroad. In any event, what demands an answer and what has not been answered yet is: Why does Shri Roy lend his signature to a letter like Exhibit 19/4 if he had had no connection with the Indo-German Trade Centre?

30. The contention that P.W. 9. Ramchandra Singh, the Law Agent of the Diamond Sugar Mills, produces this document, Exhibit 19/4, and not Sohanlal Murarka has little in it. Sohanlal Murarka apart, the Director of the Diamond Sugar Mills was cited (vide the application of the petitioners, dated March 29, 1958) and was asked to produce by a competent person the correspondence, etc., regarding their sub-tenant Shri Biren Roy. So, the Law Agent, Ramchandra Singh, appears to be quite a natural and competent witness too; all the more so when it is remembered that Sohanlal Murarka is one of the three Directors. Equally ineffective is the contention that Datta Sahib (Kedarnath Datta) who had handed over the paper, Exhibit 19/4, to the witness Ramchandra Singh is not examined. This Tribunal sees no merit in multiplying witnesses on the same point. Nor does it see any utility in attacking the custody of Exhibit 19/4 when the apparent and admitted signature of Shri Roy is there.

31. January 14, 1956, and Shri Roy uses his own letter paper with his name Biren Roy, M.L.A., and address embossed at the top for addressing a communication to Shri S. P. Chatterjee about the tender which bulks large here. It is Exhibit 3, the first paragraph of which reads—

"Dear Mr. Chatterjee,

I was shown a communication by the Indo-German Trade Centre of 50 Stephen House, Calcutta, about the submission of tender for the Automatic Voting System as is in operation in the West Bengal Legislative Assembly and quoted also for the Lok Sabha by Telefonbau Und Normalzeit of Frankfurt/Main, Germany."

Why does Indo-German Trade Centre show such an important communication to Shri Roy who "has or had absolutely no connection with the said business," as the averment in paragraph 22 of the written statement goes?

The second paragraph of the letter reveals that Shri Roy knows a lot about this business—purchase of a tender form, air-mailing the same to Germany for submission in India by January 23, 1956, despatch of an engineer by the German firm, taking of measurements, incurring of expenses, quoting of rock-bottom price, etc., etc.

The third paragraph pleads for "a little further extension in time" in case the tender does not reach by January 23, 1956.

The fourth paragraph is important—

"The Indo-German Trade Centre has, however, been advised by me to submit a tender quoting the equipment as manufactured by the said firm, and on their guarantee directly. When the manufacturing firm is directly dealing and has already quoted to the Lok Sabha and is going to submit the tender themselves, their quotation will certainly be favourable and should hence be preferred."

Do I see in the writer of this letter a gentleman who "has or had absolutely no connection" with the business, or a gentleman who is immensely interested in it? I see not merely a sentimental interest arising out of natural love and affection of a brother-in-law for a brother-in-law, assuming Shri B. K. Mukherjee, a brother-in-law of Shri Roy, to be the real owner. I see instead in the writer of the letter a gentleman whose interest in the tender is vital and who is all out to see the success of the venture. The Indo-German Trade Centre does not dominate him, but is dominated by him and is advised by him about the correct step to be taken--submission of an independent tender quoting equipment, etc. I regret my inability to treat the letter as a mere 'recommendation" (to quote Shri Chatterjee) from "a brother-in-law like Shri Roy of international fame" (to quote Shri Basu), without Shri Roy having any manner of interest in the business. To read the letter so will be to misread it. The eminence of Shri Roy is not to be denied. What is denied, however, is the esoteric interpretation sought to be put upon a plain letter, Exhibit 3, which can have but one meaning: The writer, Shri Roy, is materially interested in the contract.

It only remains to be recorded that Shri Rajan, Director-General of Supplies and Disposals, New Delhi, claimed privilege for this letter, Exhibit 3, and that, for reasons recorded by me in Order No. 35, dated April 28, 1958, I overruled this claim.

32. April 20, 1956, and Shri Roy, in the same type of letter paper just noticed, writes to Shri Ghosh, P.W. 10. The letter is Exhibit 27. It is such an important document that I consider it necessary to reproduce the whole of it--

"Biren Roy, M.L.A.

Behala, Calcutta-34.
Phone: 45-3319.
April 20, 1956.

My dear Ghose,

On my advice you took up the work of the Indo-German Trade Centre and carried it on in behalf of the principal Shri B. K. Mukherjee. You are also leaving the same again on my advice, and as such I shall be responsible for and in case the said principal or anybody claims or brings forward in (any?) claim as against you, you are to have no worry on this account

I would, however, like you to deliver the Bank pass-book, recpts and Account books, etc., for any future I.T. references and for any use of the Principal before the 27th April 1956.

K. C. Ghose, Esq.,
21 B Gangulipara Lane,
Calcutta-2."

Yours, etc.,
(Sd.) Biren Roy.
(Biren Roy)

The concluding words underlined by me as also "recpts" which has been underlined too are in manuscript, the rest of the letter having been typed.

33. On Shri Roy's advice P.W. 10, Ghosh, had taken up the work of the Indo-German Trade Centre and "carried it on in behalf of the Principal Shri B. K. Mukherjee," a brother-in-law of Shri Roy. On his advice again P.W. 10, Shri Ghosh, left the work he was doing. Why so frequent advice by Shri Roy? On January 14, 1956, he advises the Indo-German Trade Centre to submit an independent tender, as Exhibit 3, already noticed, reveals. What this exhibit, namely, Exhibit 27, reveals is still more significant. On two very important occasions Shri Roy advises what he calls "the Principal"—

(i) who will work for him; and

(ii) when he will cease working so.

Is Shri Roy, then, the real owner and the real man behind the organisation: Indo-German Trade Centre? I do not go so far as that. It is hardly necessary for me to do so either. All I find is that Shri Roy is materially interested within the meaning of section 7(d) of the Act in the organization —not sentimentally interested in the welfare of his brother-in-law: Shri B. K. Mukherjee.

34. This is not all. P.W. 10, Shri Ghosh, is leaving Indo-German Trade Centre on Shri Roy's advice. "As such," Shri Roy "shall be responsible for and in case the said Principal or anybody claims or brings forward in (any?) claim as against you, you are to have no worry on this account." By having written this, Shri Roy appears to have damaged his case beyond repair. Indeed, disqualification under section 7(d) of the Act is writ large here. How high is the standard in a matter like this will be apparent from England versus English 1920, 2 K.B. 363. The address of the shop run by a member of the Corporation in England appeared in some of the spectacle cases supplied by his son, not a partner but a paid employee of the father, on the basis of a contract of his own with the Corporation. Even so, it was held that the father, a member of the Corporation, had interest in the contract, and was, therefore, liable to penalties, as is the English law. This appears to be a good authority in interpreting section 7(d) of the Act. Their Lordships of the Orissa High Court followed it in the recent case of Akshya Narayan Praharaj: AIR 1958 Orissa 207 the current August issue, as it appears from the headnote. But the report is incomplete as I write the judgment, and, so, I cannot say more about it.

35. To revert to the facts here, how much stronger they are? The likelihood of a pecuniary loss befalling Shri Roy because of his unequivocal commitment in Exhibit 27 is always there. As soon as that is said- and that must be said, Shri Roy has interest, within the meaning of section 7(d) of the Act, in the contract entered into by Indo-German Trade Centre with the Central Government. I need not put it any the higher, though it can be said, as has been said by the learned Senior Standing Counsel: Why go in for so much, for future liability, when you have had no connection with the business? Unless the business be yours, what is the point in your standing for the future liability? Shri Chatterjee, on the other hand, sees in Exhibit 27 an act of magnanimity on the part of Shri Roy out to save Shri Ghosh who was appealing to be saved on the apprehension that Shri B. K. Mukherjee would "throttle" him (Ghosh), as Shri Chatterjee puts it. With respect, on materials I have had put before me and on evidence I have heard, I cannot bring myself to hold so. Indeed, to argue so is to depart from the realm of evidence and to enter into the realm of speculation. Shri Ghosh was specifically asked about all this, and his dental rings true.

At page 19 of his recorded evidence-

"It is not true that the indemnity executed by Biren Roy became necessary because B. K. Mukherjee gave me a job at the request of Biren Roy.

* * * * *

I was at no point of time under the employment of B. K. Mukherjee.

It is not true that I took that sort of indemnity from Shri Biren Roy because I wanted to save myself from the attack of B. K. Mukherjee."

36. Shri Chatterjee asks me to read this letter, Exhibit 27, in the light of several facts and circumstances set out below:-

(i) Shri B. K. Mukherjee, a son of a quondam Jaipur Dewan, is a rich man, ordinarily residing at Jaipur.

(ii) But he runs a business here with the assistance of Shri Roy and his brother, Shri Ramen Roy.

(iii) P.W. 6, Shri Abhedananda Das, proves the specimen signature of Shri Ramen Roy, Exhibit 15/2, in the Bank of India, which contains an endorsement about a power of attorney favouring Shri Ramen Roy.

(iv) Shri B. K. Mukherjee is "a cautious businessman," not a pliable fellow.

(v) Shri K. C. Ghosh, P.W. 10, considers Shri Roy as his benefactor to this hour. To such a man as Ghosh such a one as Shri Roy addresses a letter, Exhibit 27, which gives Ghosh complete satisfaction. He worries no more about his liability in future for Indo-German Trade Centre

(vi) This exhibit, namely, Exhibit 27, is dated April 20, 1956. Only three days later, to wit, on April 23, 1956, P.W. 10, Ghosh, executes a deed of release in favour of B. K. Mukherjee, and some days later Ghosh presents himself at the Behala branch of the Alipore Registry where Exhibit G, the deed of release, was registered, to furnish himself with a certified copy thereof.

(vii) At the first lap of the trial P.W. 10, Ghosh, gives evidence before this Tribunal on May 10 and 12, 1958. Only seven days later, namely, on May 19, 1958, B. K. Mukherjee raises an action in the Original Side of the High Court, impleading Ghosh, P.W. 10, the Petitioners before this Tribunal, Banerjee and Sadhukhan, and also Shri Roy. The plaint, Exhibit 33, be taken into consideration. Has Shri Ghosh taken any defence there so far?

(viii) Shri Asoke Krishna Dutt, son of the defeated candidate, Shri Ashim Krishna Dutt, has been acting as Ghosh's Solicitor in that litigation without having charged anything so far as his remuneration

37. I have done what Shri Chatterjee has been good enough to ask me to do. Indeed, I have gone a little more. I have assumed that all matters listed in the preceding paragraph are supported by evidence on record, though that is by no means the case. To give but one example, there is no evidence that B. K. Mukherjee is rich. A mere suggestion to that end put to P.W. 10, Ghosh, is there. Being the son of a Dewan of Jaipur, certainly Shri Mukherjee comes of a respectable family. But respectability is not opulence as opulence in itself is not respectability. Even having stretched so much in favour of Shri Chatterjee, I do not see how the eight considerations enumerated in the preceding paragraph can, singly or collectively, rid Shri Roy of his unequivocal admission in Exhibit 27 proclaiming himself answerable for any claim brought against K. C. Ghosh for his work in Indo-German Trade Centre and thus proclaiming his interestedness too in the contract within the meaning of section 7(d) of the Act. On the basis of this letter, Exhibit 27, coupled with two other letters, viz., Exhibits 19/4 and 3, I do not hold that Shri Roy is the proprietor of Indo-German Trade Centre. It is not necessary for me to go to that length. All I hold is that Shri Roy is interested, within the meaning of section 7(d) of the Act, in Indo-German Trade Centre and its contract.

38. Shri Chatterjee invites my attention to the last paragraph in Exhibit 27, where Shri Roy asks P.W. 10, Ghosh, to return the bank pass book and other papers. In doing so, he contends—

Ghosh will not part with these papers—a fact which shows him in his "true colours." On the other hand, B. K. Mukherjee has been "pestering" Shri Roy for these very papers which Ghosh has been holding back. The necessity of a letter like Exhibit 27 is on the side of Ghosh who keeps in his pocket a certified copy of the deed of release, Exhibit G, as his talisman, so to say, even when he is in the witness box. Consider Exhibit 27 in this background.

39. I have done so. Here also it defeats me how such an approach can prevent the terrors of Exhibit 27 from being shaken on Shri Roy. Really, the contention put forward comes to this: Ghosh is blackmailing Shri Roy by withholding the papers. Exhibit 27 is the result of this blackmail. I can hold blackmail and even worse if there is evidence, direct or circumstantial, to that end. Here there is none. There is not even a particle of evidence to show that B. K. Mukherjee was "pestering" Shri Roy for the papers. And then, who blackmails whom? A small man, which K. C. Ghosh is, successfully blackmails one like Shri Roy, and that too over such a petty issue? A prudent man cannot hold so in all circumstances here without forsaking his prudence. True it is that Ghosh was anxious to bring out a paper, presumably the certified copy of the deed of release, from his pocket while in the witness box with a view to refreshing his memory. But I stopped him. And there the matter ends. That has little to do with the manner or accent of reading Exhibit 27.

40. Exhibit 27, dated April 20, 1956, is over the signature of Shri Roy, who makes himself answerable for future claims and asks K. C. Ghosh "to have no worry on this account." Yet three days later a deed of release, Exhibit G, comes to be executed by Ghosh and in favour of B. K. Mukherjee. Why has it been so? Let the recorded evidence of P.W. 10, Ghosh, answer it. At page 19—

> "Q.—Since your evidence is that you broke off relations with Shri Biren Roy on your failure to get any percentage of profits as previously agreed upon, will you tell my Judge what was the necessity of having a letter from Shri Biren Roy, as Exhibit 27 is?
> Ans.—I was acting for Shri Biren Roy. So, when asked by him to execute a deed of release in favour of B. K. Mukherjee, which I did, I said: Where stand I? I have been working for you and under you. I know you only. So, when I am to execute a deed of release in favour of another, namely, B. K. Mukherjee, I must be assured of my immunity from any liability. To that Shri Roy answered back: As you very well know, having been an M.L.A. myself, I cannot have such matters in my name. Just like you, B. K. Mukherjee is a name-lender too."

To err on the side of safety, let me not pay heed to what, according to P.W. 10, Ghosh, Shri Roy "answered back." Still, what remains receives striking corroboration from Exhibit 27, written by Shri Roy on April 20, 1956, and Exhibit G, executed by Ghosh on April 23, 1956, in favour of B. K. Mukherjee. Exhibit G is a solemn registered document, and Exhibit 27 a mere letter.

41. The learned Senior Standing Counsel sees in Exhibit 27 "a contract of indemnity" within the meaning of section 124 of the Contract Act. Shri Basu, on the other hand, sees in it "a letter of assurance only," and nothing more. To an Election Tribunal, which is not called upon to pronounce a decree on the basis of Exhibit 27, it does not matter which. Let me say with Shri Basu that it is "a letter of assurance only." The same question again: Why does Shri Roy give assurance to stand for future liability when he has nothing to do with the business? And the same answer too: Only because he is materially interested, within the meaning of section 7(d) of the Act, in the business. It may just be added that some time before the contract, to be exact, on October 20, 1955, P.W. 10, Ghosh, drew a cheque, Exhibit 16, for Rs.1,190 in favour of Shri Roy, the amount having been duly credited to the joint account of Shri Roy and Shrimati Asha Devi, as the Cash Transfer Book, Exhibit 29, read along with the pay-in-slip and the relative file, Exhibits 23 and 23/1, go to show. Let Ghosh be condemned for betraying the trust reposed on him. But that will not show Shri Roy as not having received the money from Indo-German Trade Centre, when he had actually received it.

42. The contention on behalf of the substituted Respondents is that "interest" within the meaning of section 7(d) must be pecuniary interest only. Here, Indo-German Trade Centre has nothing like any pecuniary interest in the contract; and, consequently, Shri Roy, even if he has interest in Indo-German Trade Centre, cannot come on the edge of section 7(d). Such a contention, however, appears to be against the weight of authorities which I notice one after another:—

(i) England versus English, 1920, 2 K.B. 636, referred to already, shows no pecuniary interest. The address of the shop run by the member of the local Corporation appeared on some of the spectacle cases supplied by the son of the member on the basis of a contract with the Corporation in his own name. The father and the son were not partners. Indeed, the son was a petty employee only. but the possibility of a pecuniary advantage was there: the address on the cases might serve as an advertisement and give a fillip to his trade.

(ii) Akshya Narayan Praharaj versus Maheswar Bag, AIR 1958, Orissa 207, also referred to earlier, follows the English case just cited in interpreting section 7(d) of the Act. It emphasizes that, though an interest in a contract must be a pecuniary or a material interest, it need not be a pecuniary advantage. If a candidate incurs loss in executing a work undertaken by Government, it does not mean that he has no interest in the contract within the meaning of section 7(d). (I repeat I am going by the head-note only, the report being still incomplete.)

(iii) To the same effect is the observation of D. N. Sinha, J., in Pramodelal versus Additional District Magistrate, 24-Parganas. 61 CWN 11 at page 22, in construing section 22(f) of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932, which has a striking similarity with section 7(d) here. Interest excludes sentimental interest. It "need not, however, be only the possibility of a pecuniary advantage, it may equally be the likelihood of a pecuniary loss." (On Exhibit 27 is writ large the likelihood of Shri Roy's pecuniary loss.) "The accruing benefit need not be direct. The possibility or even probability of an actual resulting benefit will be sufficient." The observations are no doubt in the nature of obiter. But I do not read his Lordship's decision to mean that it lays down one proposition only, namely, that interest does not include sentimental interest, as Shri Chatterjee invites me to do. His Lordship lays down all that I have quoted, prefacing this finding with the remark at page 21 that "the above..... is entirely sufficient to dispose of this application, and it is not necessary to enter into the merits of the case." Indeed, that cannot be otherwise. The doctrine of conflict between interest and duty, out of which other propositions emerge, is a well recognised doctrine in India too, as shown in paragraph 46 infra.

(iv) Nutton versus Wilson, 1889, 22 Q.B.D. 744, from which I have quoted in paragraph 24 ante, is also there. The object of a provision like this is "to prevent conflict between interest and duty that might inevitably arise." Shri Roy, with the liability to be shouldered by him in terms of his own letter, Exhibit 27, can hardly be expected to do his duty as a member of Parliament over anything about the contract. His interest in the contract and his duty as a member of Parliament do clash and thus defeat the very object for which section 7(d) is there.

(v) In re S. N. Patnaik, 13 E.L.R. 58, the Election Commission, on a reference made by the Governor of Orissa, gives the opinion that interest in a contract with Government within the meaning of section 7(d) need not necessarily be financial interest. There Shri S. N. Patnaik, M.L.A., worked on a road project. He had thereby got an opportunity of "cultivating" or "nursing" the constituency, financial interest or no financial interest. Further, there was a scope for making profit, it being immaterial whether or not profit was actually made. Thus, the bar of section 7(d) stood between Patnaik and his success at the poll.

I do not think much of the contention that this decision is not binding on me as a decision of the High Court or the Supreme Court is. No doubt, that is true. But I can be persuaded by the decision of the Election Commission. And I have been persuaded.

I, therefore, reject the contention noticed in the beginning of this paragraph on the construction of section 7(d).

43. Then, upon the whole of the materials here, it draws largely on my belief that in the contract Indo-German Trade Centre has no pecuniary interest or advantage along with the possibility of such an advantage or even just the opposite, namely, the possibility of a loss. That the "Centre" will take one trouble after another for months and years on end in a contract to the tune of several lakhs of rupees only as a labour of love seems, on the face of it, a startling proposition. Turning to the evidence, let me exclude from my mind what P.W. 10, Ghosh, says on this—"The price quoted for the machinery for installation of automatic vote-recording equipment included 15 per cent. commission for the Indo-German Trade Centre or Shri Biren Roy"—in answer to Tribunal at page 8 of his recorded evidence. I exclude this evidence not because it is so unworthy of credence, but because it is better to be even overcautious in a matter like this. All the more so, as it is clear that there is no love lost now between Shri Roy and Shri K. C. Ghose, however much Ghosh might say that to this hour he considers Shri Roy to be his benefactor and however much he might protest that he has been dragged as a witness much against his will. The learned Senior Standing Counsel argues that "the best antidote for the evidence of Ghosh is the evidence of B. K. Mukherjee and Sh Roy—evidence which has been withheld. An argument of considerab force, which compels attention. Shri Basu argues that, if the Tribun believes K. C. Ghosh, non-examination of Shri Roy is immaterial, an that, if the Tribunal does not believe Ghosh, Shri Roy's non-examinatio is equally immaterial. Though nicely put, such an argument breaks dow on the obvious fallacy that the evidence of Shri Roy as also of B K Mukherjee would have helped me immensely in arriving at a decision o the trustworthiness of Ghosh. Further, the presumption arising from non examination of such important witnesses cannot be overlooked. Even so I shall stretch in favour of Shri Roy and the substituted respondents t the breaking point, and I shall not draw any presumption adverse to them only because of such non-examination. Nor shall I go by the learned Senior Standing Counsel's contention that the prospect of appearance followed by actual appearance of K. C. Ghosh as a witness was enough t frighten Shri Roy away and to scare him away, too. On the other hand I shall assume that the trial has been proceeded with ex parte. On this assumption, I ask myself: Has it been proved that in the contract the Indo-German Trade Centre has any pecuniary advantage or interest, the possibility of such an advantage or interest, the likelihood of loss and the like? And I answer: Yes, for the following, among other, reasons:

(a) Exhibit A/1, a letter dated May 23, 1956, to the address of the Deputy Director of Supplies, New Delhi, by Messrs. Telefonbau Und Normalzeit, is very much in my mind. It says, inter alia, that Indo-German Trade Centre "has no financial commitment or profit in the deal" and "was somehow drawn into this deal, though it normally works for us as contact agents only." Exhibit F, a letter, dated March 10, 1956, over the signature of P.W. 10, Ghosh, for the Indo-German Trade Centre to P.W. 1, S. P. Chatterjee, also calls attention. The Indo-German Trade Centre does not want to receive any money, as the same will have to be fully paid to the German firm. Exhibit F/1 is merely a copy of Exhibit F. But the matter does not end here, as Exhibit A, a letter, dated February 14, 1957, by Shri O. Prakash, Deputy Director of Supplies, to the address of the German firm reveals. That firm is called upon to give an undertaking that the security amount of Rs.19,824 they offer for the Indo-German Trade Centre and over which they reserve or claim no right shall be repayable to the Indo-German Trade Centre only. Thus, pecuniary interest or advantage appears to be patent, and section 218 of the Contract Act seems to have been cited in vain.

Before I proceed to the next point, I owe it to myself to record that I did not allow any evidence on the Indo-German Trade Centre being a contact agent only of the German firm (vide note by the Tribunal at page 16 of P.W. 10, Ghosh's recorded evidence). No such plea has been taken in the written statement of Shri Roy. And the Respondents substituted under section 116 of the Act are continuing the proceedings on the foot of the written statement. Continuation means that they cannot do what Shri Roy ld not have done. By parity of reasoning, they can only do what Shri y could have done had he not retired under section 116 of the Act. ler No. 77, dated July 21, 1958, may be looked into.

(b) The Indo-German Trade Centre was never so averse to profit as is sought to be made out. The original tender, Exhibit 5, contains, inter a, a clause—

> "If tenderer Indo-German Centre has to supervise or undertake installation and fittings, etc., 5 per cent. on the quoted tender will be charged for."

This is natural human conduct showing the human agency operating the do-German Trade Centre as human too and not running after altruism, which I heard so much at and during the trial.

The second paragraph of Exhibit 4, the letter, dated January 19, 1956, itten by K. C. Ghosh forwarding the tender, reiterates that—the claim a surcharge of 5 per cent. But the last paragraph of Exhibit 3/3, a tter, dated February 11, 1956, by the Indo-German Trade Centre to P.W. ', natterjee, a Deputy Director of Supplies, makes it clear that "in view of rther future orders, we agree to forego the surcharge in this instance." n view of further future orders" are significant words which proclaim the ssibility or probability of a pecuniary advantage and which also show at Shri Roy, so much interested in the contract, has an interest therein thin the meaning of section 7(d).

(c) Exhibit 3/16, a letter, dated October 20, 1956, by the Indo-German rade Centre to the Director-General of Supplies and Disposals, laments at due to an increase of the Lok Sabha seats from 525 to 530 the German m's quotation of an increased price ("without anything for us") has been cepted. The hankering for profits is there.

In Exhibit 3/19, a letter, dated November 3, 1956, the Indo-German rade Centre casts off all signs of delicacy. For increasing the capacity f the voting equipment from 499 to 525 members, "the grand total contract mount" (if I may quote this jargon which passes off as English) increases om Rs.3,30,600 to Rs.3,38,256-4. This letter laments, too, that the profits f the Indo-German Trade Centre were not considered. The addressee, e Director-General of Supplies and Disposals, is thereafter given a bit of he mind of the Indo-German Trade Centre: "You cannot refuse all the ime any profit to us as, while submitting this original tender for 499 embers, we charged only 5 per cent. as our profit and handling as a pecial case to introduce this equipment, but by your letter, dated 9th ebruary, 1956, item 5, this small profit was also denied to us, even though ur Principals intimated by their letter to you on May 23, 1956, page 2, ines 4-7, that we have no profit or financial commitment in the deal at all. So, for this small profit in the additional equipment and not at all in the ig main equipment of Rs.1,950 only you should not grudge." The etailed estimates enclosed do charge 10 per cent. profit—Rs.563-12 in one case and Rs.1,925 in another. Still have I been asked to hold that Indo-German Trade Centre has no pecuniary interest, no pecuni advantage, etc., in the contract.

Again, in this very letter, Exhibit 3/19, the Indo-German Trade Cen complains about the Rajya Sabha tender—

"In fact our travelling and out-of-pocket cost constitute a loss"

So, here is actual loss—and not merely the likelihood of a loss

(d) In Exhibit 3/39, another letter, dated December 12, 1956—Exhil 3/36 is only a copy of Exhibit 3/39—the Indo-German Trade Centre as Shri Chand Narayan, Under Secretary, Lok Sabha, to make arrangemer for the accommodation of the German experts, for which "we shall pay reasonable rent," and also for "a good servant cook" "at our cost." S the financial commitment is too palpable to be missed. Such expenses c be explained on the hypothesis of charity or profit. For all I have seen this statutory proceeding, charity must be ruled out. So, what remai as the basis of such expenditure is profit, expected or actual, and, pro failing, loss. Whatever it be, the conclusion follows that the Ind German Trade Centre has interest in the contract within the meaning section 7(d) of the Act. And so has Shri Roy.

(e) Instead of multiplying such letters, let me close with Exhibit 3/4 a letter, dated April 21, 1957. Every part of the contract is "fulfilled. overcoming all obstacles. In terms of the contract, 80 per cent. advan totalling Rs.4,40,000 is not yet paid by Government. On top of that, th Indo-German Trade Centre is saddled with more than Rs.15,000 as out-of pocket costs. "In spite of the usual procedure of allowing handling charg and profit to all tenderers, we have not yet been allowed even a bare 5 pe cent. demanded by us." The letter concludes with the renewal of this clain of 5 per cent., which the Indo-German Trade Centre had agreed to forego o February 11, 1956 (vide Exhibit 3/3). And still it is contended in al seriousness that in the contract the Indo-German Trade Centre has nothing like any pecuniary interest or advantage or even the possibility of it. It is vain to invoke section 230 of the Contract Act with a view to feeling the pulse of the Indo-German Trade Centre, which is such live factor in the contract.

44. Thus, even on an assumption of the utmost liberality (bordering, I am afraid, on a mistaken approach) that non-examination of Shri Roy and B. K. Mukherjee does not give rise to any adverse presumption against them or the substituted Respondents, it has not been possible for me to find that Shri Roy has no interest, within the meaning of section 7(d) of the Act, in the contract entered into by the Indo-German Trade Centre with the Central Government for installation of automatic vote-recording equipment in the Lok Sabha and in the Rajya Sabha. On the other hand, the conclusion seems to be clear—and I find so as a fact—that he has, by himself and on his own account, such interest.

45. To hold so or to allow the petitioners to argue so is not to depart from the pleadings, as has been wrongly imagined. Let not the words which occur in paragraph 8B(a) of the election petition be lost sight of: "In any event, at all material times the Respondent Biren Roy had an interest or share in the said business carried on.....under the name and style of Indo-German Trade Centre." So, where is the departure? But I accept Shri Basu's contention about the unhappiness of the verification at the foot of the election petition, stating all these alternative cases—Shri Roy being the proprietor or partner, or, in any event, having a share or interest, etc., being true to the petitioners' knowledge. But that in itself cannot defeat the election petition or the conclusion I have come to in the preceding paragraph. Nor can it be said that to make out an alternative case is to convert the election petition into a roving and rambling inquisition. It must be remembered that these are facts within the special knowledge of the Indo-German Trade Centre and also of Shri Roy, as Exhibit 3 goes to show. So, the petitioners deserve a little lenity.

46. If I have refrained so far from mentioning Chaturbhuj's case, 1954 SCA 373, cited by the learned Senior Standing Counsel, it is only because it is not germane to the facts before me. Chaturbhuj was disqualified under section 7(d), even though the contract entered into with Government by the firm of which he was a partner was in violation of Article 299(1) of the Constitution—which leads to the inevitable result that it could not have been enforced against Government. Section 7(d) does not require, the Supreme Court points out, that the contract at which it strikes should be enforceable against Government. All it requires is that the contract should be for supply of goods to Government—just the case here. Then, on a question of principle, follows a passage, which has been my guide—

> "The purpose of the Act is to maintain the purity of the legislature and to avoid a conflict between duty and interest. It is obvious that the temptation to place interest before duty is just as great when there is likely to be some difficulty in recovering money from Government.....as when there is none."

The Indo-German Trade Centre's letter—Exhibit 3/48—summarized in paragraph 43, ante, is an illustration of the difficulty of recovering 80 per cent. advance from the Central Government in terms of the contract. Here, as also in other letters, such as Exhibits 8/29, 8/30, 8/36, etc., the Indo-German Trade Centre is bitter about it.

47. In view of all that goes before—and that is sufficient for a just decision of the instant election petition—with utmost brevity shall I refer to other features of the case, unimportant though they are:

(i) Exhibit 30 is the Banker's report, dated March 1, 1956, on the Indo-German Trade Centre. Exhibit 2 is just the same, too. The Director of Supplies and Disposals here forwards the Banker's report to New Delhi. Here also privilege was claimed only to be overruled (vide Order No. 35, dated April 28, 1958). The pith of the report is: "The Bank of India understands that Indo-German Trade Centre is financed by Mr. Biren Roy, M.L.A., of Behala, who is reported to be of good means." Hearsay of a bad type, even the learned Senior Standing Counsel rejects it. And so do I. But it strikes me, as I record this judgment, whether or not it can be elevated to the height of res gestae. Since however the learned Counsel appearing for all the parties and I have all along proceeded on the footing that it is a hearsay and, therefore, beneath notice, I must allow the matter to rest there.

(ii) P.W. 9, Ramchandra Singh's attempt to prove that Shri Roy is the proprietor of the Indo-German Trade Centre appears to be more amusing than credible. On May 10, 1958, he says in answer to my question that Shri Roy all along maintained in course of his talks with Ramchandra Singh that he was the proprietor. On August 5, 1958, however, he is definite in answer to Shri Basu that he had had no conversations ever with Shri Roy.

(iii) There are other ugly features, too, in the evidence of Ramchandra Singh. To speak of one only, according to him, the decree in the action in ejectment in the Small Causes Court, Calcutta, has been against Biren Roy carry-on business of the Indo-German Trade Centre, suitable amendment of the plaint having preceded the decree. But the decree itself, Exhibit 21, shows nothing of the kind. The description of Biren Roy as Director of the Indo-German Trade and Economic Information Centre is still there. The summons, Exhibit D, shown to Ramchandra Singh, records that description, too, though that surprises him, and he says: "Kaisa Hoga (How can that be)?"

(iv) In spite of the whole of the evidence of P.W. 10, Ghosh, it is not necessary for me to hold that Shri Roy is the proprietor of the Indo-German Trade Centre. And I shall not hold that which is not necessary; all the more so when I see that here is a case of two friends having fallen out and of the benefited seeking to let down the benefactor. Further, Ghosh's assuming the role of a handwriting expert and pointing out with reckless glibness what is or what is not the handwriting of Shri Roy in numerous papers, though Shri Roy had written none of the entries in his presence, has created a bad impression on me. His capacity to identify Shri Roy's handwriting was put to test about Exhibit 3/42, which, according to his evidence on May 10, 1958, is in Shri Roy's handwriting and which, according to his evidence on August 7, 1958, is in whose handwriting he cannot say. That must be so, when the witness sees the writings "B. K. Mukherjee" in one letter after another and says that Shri Roy wrote it, though Shri Roy had not written so the "signatures" of B. K. Mukherjee in his presence. I can well understand a witness of Ghosh's calibre proving the handwriting of Shri Roy in Exhibit 5, the Lok Sabha tender, for example, or in Exhibit 25, the answer to a questionnaire touching the tender, where there are continuous writings, say, by Shri Roy. But when Shri Roy "signs" the name of his brother-in-law in a particular way which is not his usual handwriting, it is difficult to say for a layman, which Ghosh is, that that is Shri Roy's handwriting. So, disbelieve the evidence of Ghosh to that extent. No less do I disbelieve the evidence of that Law Officer of the Behala Municipality, P.W. 8, M. L. Das, who sees B. K. Mukherjee sign on two or three occasions utmost—1939-40, some time between 1942-44 and 1953-54—with the tail of "B" bulging out, and thereby acquires sufficient proficiency to identify one signature after another of his. But when presumably the real signature of B. K. Mukherjee, Exhibit 15/1, maintained as a specimen signature in the Bank of India, is put before P.W. 8, Das, he cannot identify it. No "tail" of "B" is there. The cut and the outline are entirely different. So, there is something shady somewhere. Either B. K. Mukherjee signs differently at different places or the real B. K. Mukherjee signs at one place and a sham B. K. Mukherjee signs at another. Whatever that be, I do not feel called upon to pursue this matter any further.

(v) About Benami and trust, all I need say is that, the evidence being what it is, it is not so easy to find either, though I see little merit in the argument, Exhibit G, the deed of release, executed by Ghosh, admits B. K. Mukherjee to be the real proprietor and, therefore, negatives the plea of Benami.

To say so is to ignore Exhibit 27, about which so much has been said. To say so is to ignore the evidence of P.W. 10, K. C. Ghosh, reproduced in paragraph 40 supra—evidence which cannot be lightly brushed aside. Again, to invoke section 115 of the Evidence Act, as has been done by Shri Basu, seeking to estop P.W. 10, Ghosh, from denying B. K. Mukherjee as his master or employer looks like an argument of despair, if I may say so with respect. This is not an action at law, nor a suit in equity, nor a statutory proceeding between Ghosh and B. K. Mukherjee. So, section 115 of the Evidence Act can have no manner of application here. Shri Basu's reference to section 21 of the Evidence Act shares the same fate.

(vi) The learned Senior Standing Counsel relies on Uman Prasad's case, 14 Indian Appeals 127, where Lord Hobhouse, delivering the judgment of the Board on July 6, 1887, observes that even a slight quantity of evidence to shew that the transaction was a sham one will suffice, in view of the fact that the system of putting property in Benami is so extremely common. But for the Petitioners here, it is not such a good case as it looks. Because the lines that follow the observations of his Lordship just noticed read—

> "Still, such a transfer cannot be considered as nothing. The person who infringes its apparent character must shew something or other to establish that it is a Benami or sham transaction."

That apart, Lord Phillimore, delivering the judgment of the Board on December 7, 1920, in Seth Maniklal's case, 25 C.W.N. 409, cautions: It is essential to take care that the decision of the court rests not upon suspicion but upon legal grounds established by legal testimony. If P.W. 10, Ghosh's legal testimony furnishes some legal grounds, it furnishes plenty of suspicions, too. One such suspicion is furnished by the Indo-German Trade Centre's shifting to Shri Roy's house at Behala in April or May 1955. A gravely suspicious circumstance no doubt. But a brother-in-law running an office in the house of a brother-in-law by itself is not enough. And it is not so uncommon either. But I am free to confess that on such matters I have missed very much Shri Roy and his brother-in-law, Mukherjee. Exhibit 26, said to be in the handwriting of Shri Roy, is a draft letter for K. C. Ghosh to the address of the Bank and remains unsigned to this day. It is another suspicious circumstance. But that is all it is. Be that as it may, P.W. 10, Ghosh, cannot be regarded as a witness of the type of whom I can say: There is section 134 of the Evidence Act, and in safety can I go by his uncorroborated testimony on all matters. This disposes of the several attacks made against the credibility of P.W. 10, Ghosh—such as prevarication about his own signature in a receipt marked Exhibit N, different versions about the reason of Benami, Ghosh letting nobody know before May 10, 1958, what he would depose about and yet the petitioners setting out so many details about the Indo-German Trade Centre in their election petition and verifying them in the manner done, etc., etc.

(vii) I have not thought it fit to be much concerned about the Indo-German Trade and Economic Information Centre. Let it be taken for granted that Shri Roy was its owner, director and all. And it will not be wrong to do so either, in view of the amazing fact elicited in cross-examination of P.W. 9, Ramchandra Singh, that the attachment before judgment of Shri Roy's car in that action in ejectment led to the compromise decree, Exhibit 21. The contention that Shri Roy did all that to preserve his "prestige" may be left alone. Even then, the issue before me is about Indo-German Trade Centre, its contract with the Central Government and Shri Roy's interest in it within the meaning of section 7(d) of the Act. I have confined myself to that and that only.

48. Instead of getting lost on these petty matters which do not help the petitioners or the substituted Respondents, let me reiterate what I have found above. The three letters of Shri Roy, Exhibits 19/4, 3 and 27, discussed at some length in the foregoing lines, conclusively prove that Shri Roy is interested, within the meaning of section 7(d) of the Act, in the Indo-German Trade Centre's contract with the Central Government for installation of automatic vote-recording equipment in both Houses of Parliament. So, he is disqualified for being chosen as, and being, a member of the Lok Sabha. I find so and answer the third issue, as it now stands, in the affirmative.

49. Shri Chatterjee has raised in vain towards the close of his arguments, and that too for the first time during the trial, the new point about Shri Ashoke Krishna Dutt not being a person authorised in writing by the two petitioners to present the election petition, which he did, before the Election Commission. The learned Senior Standing Counsel has not taken the trouble of replying to this contention. But the minimum this contention deserves is a reply. And the reply is this. In the first place, I cannot ow Shri Chatterjee to spring a surprise at so late a stage. There has been issue to that end, though each and every issue was fixed after a good deal hearing, as Orders numbering 14, dated August 3, 1957, 15, dated ugust 5, 1957, and 19, dated August 19, 1957, go to show. In the second ace, from the endorsement at the top of the election petition over the gnature of Shri A. Krishnaswamy Aiyangar, Secretary, Election Commis-on, I may presume in safety—which I do—that this official act has been rformed with regularity and that no irregularity vitiates it. Surely, ere are no exceptional circumstances here which preclude me from draw-g this presumption. In the third place, both the petitioners, Sadhukhan d Banerjee, P.W.s 11 and 12, speak of "certain papers," "many a per" having been signed by them when they signed the election petition, ough they cannot recall what exactly those papers are. Only because it that, it cannot be said that non-existence of an authority in writing has en proved. Were such an issue there, this Tribunal would have directed e production of such an authority. Last but by no means the least, let be assumed that there is no authority in writing by the two petitioners in vour of Shri Ashoke Krishna Dutt for presenting the election petition to e Election Commission. What, though that is so? Will this Tribunal smiss, under section 90(3) of the Act, this election petition on the ground at it does not comply with the provisions of section 81? To say so is to sh the matter to the verge of absurdity and ridicule. This Tribunal sees fore it the two Petitioners who are very much in earnest about their tition. They take steps after steps, engage Counsel, pledge their oaths d attend the hearing almost every day. Still, lack of authority in iting only for presentation of their petition will deprive them of the ccess which is otherwise due. That cannot be. This only illustrates that e words "authorised in writing in this behalf" in section 81(2)(a)(ii) of e Act are directory and not mandatory in their character, just as the words in favour of the Secretary to the Election Commission," used in section 17, have been held by the Supreme Court in the recent case of Kamraj adar to be directory and not mandatory. So, the substituted Respondent-et little out of such a belated contention. I hold so.

50. In the result, I allow the petition and declare the election of the eturned candidate, Shri Biren Roy, M.P., to be void.

Now about the costs which, including the pleaders' fees, shall be in the iscretion of the Tribunal [section 120(1) of the Act]. Upon the whole of he facts and circumstances here, including P.W. 12, the Petitioner anerjee's evidence on August 8, 1958, of having expended so far Rs.600 Rs.800, under section 99(1)(b) of the Act I fix the total amount of costs ayable as Rs.1,200 and specify that the persons named below do pay to e Petitioners, Banerjee and Sadhukhan, the sums shown against them -

Shri Biren Roy—Rs.600 (vide the last sentence in Order No. 61, dated June 2, 1958);

The substituted Respondent, Shri N. C. Das—Rs.300;

The substituted Respondents, Shri Brajagopal Das and Shri Devapra Roy—Rs.300.

I do not saddle the substituted Respondents, Shri Sudhabindu Band padhyaya and others, with costs. Because they have appeared only name.

NOTIFICATION

No. 2285L.- 23rd September, 1958.—The following Act of the West Bengal Legislature, having been assented to by the President, is hereby published for general information:—

West Bengal Act XVIII of 1958

THE WEST BENGAL AGRICULTURAL LANDS AND FISHERIES (ACQUISITION AND RESETTLEMENT) ACT, 1958.

[Passed by the West Bengal Legislature.]

[Assent of the President was first published in the Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary, of the 23rd September, 1958.]

An Act to provide for the acquisition of agricultural lands and fisheries and resettlement of agricultural lands for certain purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient in the public interest to provide for the protection of agricultural lands, the cultivation or production whereof is injuriously affected by fisheries and for that purpose to provide for the acquisition of such lands and fisheries and for the resettlement of such lands for agricultural purposes;

It is hereby enacted in the Ninth Year of the Republic of India, by the Legislature of West Bengal, as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the West Bengal Agricultural Lands and Fisheries (Acquisition and Resettlement) Act, 1958.

(2) It extends to the whole of West Bengal.

(3) It shall come into force at once.

4. Whenever it appears to the State Government that the cultivation or production of agricultural lands in any area is affected or is likely to be affected injuriously by the establishment or existence of any fishery in such area or by extension of such fishery by the inclusion of adjoining lands therein or in any other manner, the State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare its intention to acquire such fishery and all lands within the area and the Collector shall cause public notice of the substance of such notification to be given at convenient places in the notified area in such manner as may be prescribed.

Acquisition and delivery of possession.

6. (1) If, on a consideration of the report of the Collector and of the record of proceedings held by him, the State Government is satisfied that the cultivation or production of agricultural lands in the notified area is affected or is likely to be affected injuriously by the establishment or existence of any fishery in such area or by extension of such fishery by the inclusion of adjoining lands therein or in any other manner and that it is necessary so to do for the purpose of protecting the lands, the State Government may, by order published in the Official Gazette, acquire the fishery and the lands in the notified area or such part thereof as it thinks fit.

(2) On and from the beginning of the day on which the order is so published, the fishery and the lands mentioned therein shall vest absolutely in the State free from all incumbrances and the Collector shall take possession of such fishery and lands and shall, for that purpose, cause an order to be served on the persons in possession of such fishery and lands requiring them to deliver possession thereof to him by such date as may be specified in the order.

(3) If any person fails or refuses to comply with the order under sub-section (2), the Collector may take or cause to be taken such steps and use or cause to be used such force as he thinks necessary to enforce the delivery of possession to him of the fishery and the lands in respect of which the order was made.

(4) If any person contravenes any order made under this Act he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees, or with both.

(5) On taking delivery of possession of the fishery and the lands acquired, the Collector shall, in such manner as may be prescribed, cause public notice to be given at convenient places on or near the fishery and the lands acquired stating that the State Government has acquired the fishery and the lands and inviting claims to compensation from persons interested.

(Sections 7—11.)

7. (1) Whenever any fishery and lands are acquired under section 6 there shall be paid in the manner prescribed to every person interested, compensation, the amount of which shall be determined by the Collector in the manner and in accordance with the principles hereinafter set out:

Provided that where any such fishery or land is resettled under section 11 with any person, the compensation, if any, payable for it to such person shall be set off against the consideration which may be otherwise payable by such person for such resettlement.

(2) Compensation payable under sub-section (1) shall be determined by the Collector according to the following principles:—

(a) for agricultural or other lands—

(i) for the first five hundred rupees of the net average annual income	.. ten times such income;
(ii) for the next five hundred rupees of the net average annual income	.. eight times such income,
(iii) for the next five hundred rupees of the net average annual income	.. four times such income;
(iv) for the balance of the net average annual income	two times such income,

(b) for a fishery—

(i) for the first five thousand rupees of the net average annual income	.. three times such income
(ii) for the balance of the net average annual income	.. two times such income.

Explanation.—Net average annual income shall mean—

(a) in the case of agricultural land, one-third of the average value of the produce derived or derivable from such land during a period of five years immediately preceding the date of vesting;

(b) if the award is made by the Collector of the district, to the Commissioner of the Division.

(2) No appeal shall lie against an appellate order passed by the Collector of the district or the Commissioner of the Division.

Disposal of fishery and lands after acquisition.

11. On acquisition of the fishery and lands under this Act the State Government may take such action as it may think fit for the reclamation or protection of lands affected or likely to be affected by the fishery and may thereafter resettle the lands for cultivation on payment of such consideration as may be determined by the State Government

The West Bengal Agricultural Lands and Fisheries (Acquisition and Resettlement) Act, 1958.

(Sections 12—16.)

so, however, that such consideration shall not exceed the compensation payable for such land under section 7:

Provided that any such land as was previously cultivated and is fit for cultivation shall be resettled with the person who last cultivated it, or, if such person is not agreeable to take resettlement of the land or cannot be traced, with any other person, on the terms and conditions on which the same was previously held by the person who last cultivated it.

Disposal of surplus lands.

12. The State Government may deal with the fishery and any land remaining after resettlement referred to in section 11 in such manner as may be prescribed.

(b) compelling the production of documents;

(c) issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses; and

(d) inspecting any property or thing concerning which any question may arise.

Delegation of powers of the State Government.

14. The State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, delegate any of its powers under this Act, except the power to make rules under section 16, to the Board of Revenue, subject to such reservations, if any, as may be specified in the notification.

Indemnity.

15. No suit, prosecution or other legal proceedings shall lie against any person for anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done in pursuance of this Act or any rules made thereunder.

Power to make rules.

16. (1) The State Government may make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power such rules may provide for—

(a) the fees, if any, payable for petitions of appeal under section 10 and the procedure to be followed in such appeal,

(b) all or any of the matters which, under any provision of this Act, may be or are required to be prescribed or provided for by rules.

LABOUR DEPARTMENT

ORDER

No. 3958-I.R.|I.R.|13L-9|57.—18th September 1958.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4496-I.R.|I.R.-13L-9|57, dated the 28th November 1957, the industrial dispute between Messrs. The Daily Lokmanya, 94|3 Lower Chitpur Road, Calcutta-7, and their working journalists represented by the Indian Journalists' Association, 249B Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12, regarding the issues mentioned in the said order being matters specified in the second and the third schedules to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the fourth Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Fourth Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between The Daily Lokmanya, 94|3 Lower Chitpur Road, Calcutta-7, and their working journalists represented by the Indian Journalists' Association, 249B Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12. (Case No. VIII-271|56.)

BEFORE THE FOURTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

PRESENT:

SHRI M. N. GAN, Judge, Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

Appearances:

For the Workmen: Shri N. D. Manna, Counsel.

For the Company: Shri P. K. Ghose.

This industrial dispute between The Daily Lokmanya (hereinafter referred to as the Company) and their working journalists, in respect of the following ten issues, was referred to the First Industrial Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4311-Dis|D|13L-5|55, dated the 26th September 1956.

The issues are—

(1) Whether the termination of services of Sudama Prosad Singh and Girija Prosad Singh was justified? To what relief by way of reinstatement and|or compensation are they entitled?

(2) Introduction of pay scales.

(3) Hours of work.

(4) Holidays.

(5) Leave Rules.

(6) Introduction of the following amenities:—

(a) Canteen, (b) Retiring Room, (c) Reference Library and (d) Transport for night staff.

(7) Provident Fund.

(8) Retrenchment Benefits.

(9) Realisation of arrear pay.

(10) Bonus.

Parties filed their written statements before that Tribunal and the case was pending for some time for adjudication. By a subsequent order No. 4496-I.R.|I.R.|13L-9|57, dated the 28th November 1957, the Labour Department withdrew that case from that Tribunal under section 33B of the Industrial Disputes Act and transferred the same to this Tribunal for speedy disposal. Parties did not file any separate written statement before this Tribunal and proceeded to trial on the pleadings already filed by them before the First Industrial Tribunal. Learned Advocate for the parties have adopted written statements already filed before the First Industrial Tribunal as their written statement in this proceeding before this Tribunal. After several adjournments for amicable settlement, the case was fixed for hearing on the 18th July 1958 when the Company filed a petition challenging the jurisdiction of this Tribunal to adjudicate on this dispute. This was heard on the date fixed, along with the whole case, and I decided to proceed to adjudicate the case on merits. The reasons for rejecting the Company's objection regarding the jurisdiction of this Tribunal are recorded below:

The additional issue raised by the Company is whether this Tribunal has jurisdiction to entertain and adjudicate the issues under the reference. The point formulated by the learned Advocate for the Company is this: The original reference in this case was made on the 26th September 1956 by which the issues in the dispute were referred to First Industrial Tribunal. The reference was withdrawn by the Government purporting to act under section 33B, Industrial Disputes Act, which came into operation on the 10th March 1957, vide the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 4th April 1957, publishing a notification of the Ministry of Labour, Government of India, dated the 1st March 1957. That section cannot have any retrospective operation so as to apply to proceedings started under the old Act, before its amendment, as in this case. Therefore, the order of transfer made by the Government of West Bengal under section 33B, Industrial Disputes Act, is bad in law and this Tribunal has no jurisdiction to adjudicate and/or to proceed with the reference. Learned Counsel on behalf of the Union refuted this argument contending that the provisions of section 33B, Industrial Disputes Act, apply to this case, as it applies to all proceedings under this Act and that apart from the provisions of section 33B, Industrial Disputes Act, this Government has powers under section 21 of the General Clauses Act to transfer, to withdraw a reference from one Tribunal and transfer it to another.

The Industrial Disputes (Amendment and Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1956 (No. 36 of 1956), was passed on the 28th August 1956. It contained several sections, all of which did not come into force on one day. It would appear from the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 4th April 1957, mentioned above, that several clauses and sections of the Act No. 36 of 1956 amending the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, came into force on different dates and section 33B, Industrial Disputes Act, came into force on the 10th March 1957. Accordingly, on the date of transfer on the 28th November 1957 the powers under section 33B were there and there cannot be any reasonable objection to the exercise of the said powers under that section of the Act. Further, it has been conceded that the Government has powers under section 21 of the General Clauses Act to transfer the reference from one Tribunal to another. This has been held by a Division Bench of the Calcutta High Court in a case between Biren Kumar Chatterjee and other versus Reliance Jute Mill Company Limited reported in 1958 (II) Labour Law Journal, page 67. Further, the wording of the section 33B would go to show that the power is conferred on the appropriate Government in respect of any proceeding under this Act and, therefore, it is idle to contend that the said power can only be exercised prospectively to proceedings commencing from the 10th March 1957. Any such interpretation is likely to come into open conflict with the express provisions of section 33B, Industrial Disputes Act. Lastly, there is nothing in the Act to show or suggest that section 33B has got no retrospective operation. One of the leading rules relating to interpretation of statutes is that every statute, which takes away or impairs vested rights acquired under existing law, must be presumed to be intended not to have any retrospective operation. But this presumption does not apply to enactments affecting procedure or practice as in this case. The reason is that no person has a vest right in any case of procedure. The general procedure, indeed, seer to be that alterations in the proceedings are always retrospective, unl there be some good reasons against it. Learned Advocate for t Company could not assign any reason whatsoever why a provisi for transfer should not apply to pending cases. For all these reasor I am afraid I cannot accept the Company's contention as sound. T result, therefore, is that the transfer of the reference to this Tribun is valid and this Tribunal has jurisdiction to entertain and/or to proce with this adjudication of this reference. The Company's petition objection, therefore, fails.

The learned Counsel for the Union does not press for issue Nos. 2 and 10 f adjudication.

Both parties adduced evidence, oral and documentary, and advanced arg ment in this case.

Issue No. 1: Before entering into the merits of the issue it is necessar to place on record that the Company, in this case, was directed to place audite balance sheets for 1955-56, by an order, dated the 20th January 1958. Th Company did not comply with this order. A fresh order to that effect wa made on the 18th February 1958. That was also not complied with. As th question of financial capacity has been raised in connection with almost al the issues, this has a particular bearing on the results of the case.

Learned Advocate for the Company during the argument of the case ha for the first time raised an objection that the present dispute is not an industria dispute for there was no proper demand to the proprietor of the paper and n dispute was even raised before any Conciliation Officer in respect of all thes issues. The present staff is not coming forward to support the Union's case Therefore, this Tribunal will not have any jurisdiction to entertain this dispute Curiously enough, this point of objection was not taken even when the Compan was challenging the jurisdiction of this Tribunal on the ground mentioned abov on the 18th July 1958. The Company has adopted the previous pleading filed in the case and proceeded on the basis of that pleading to trial. Learnec Advocate for the Company referred to paragraphs 1 and 2 of the written state ment filed by the Manager of Lokmanya Press on the 19th January 1957 and contended that the objection, though not specifically taken, is fully covered by the statement made in the said paragraphs. In this connection the evidence of the Proprietor would go to show that he is the Proprietor of the Lokmanya Press from which The Daily Lokmanya is published for circulation. In fact, the two organizations are identically the same. Therefore, it is no wonder that the Company did not think it necessary to file a separate written statement in the case. In fact, the whole case was answered in the statement filed on behalf of the Lokmanya Press. In paragraph 6 of it, it is conceded that the journalists raised this dispute to the Proprietor of The Daily Lokmanya and the newspaper concerned was always ready and willing to amicably settle the matter. This belies the contention raised by the learned Advocate for the Company during argument. Further, it cannot be said that before the Government could make a reference under section 10(1) of the Act, procedure indicated in section 12 of the Act should be followed. It has been repeatedly held that the jurisdiction of the Government to make a reference under section 10(1) is independent of the procedure laid down in section 12(5), Industrial Disputes Act. Even in absence of a demand by the workers on the Management and their not moving the appropriate machinery for conciliation would not disprove the existence of a dispute. The dispute is there. It has been sufficiently proved in this proceeding that the Indian Journalists' Association had taken up the cause of the working journalists of this paper. Therefore, the mere absence of the existing staff from the witness box would not make the dispute other than an industrial dispute. Question of jurisdiction is always a mixed question of fact and law, and the objection as to jurisdiction should be taken at the earliest possible opportunity. It was, therefore, no small wonder to find that such an objection was taken for the first time during argument of the case. The objection must, therefore, fail.

P.W. 2, Shri Sudama Singh, and P.W. 3, Shri Girija Prosad Singh, were in service of The Daily Lokmanya. Shri Sudama Singh was, at the relevant time, a News Editor of the paper. Shri Girija Singh, according to the Association, was Sub-Editor at the time of his discharge, but according to the Company he was merely an apprentice, learning work as a journalist. The case of Shri Sudama Singh is taken up first. In paragraph 10 of its written statement, the Company stated that Shri Singh did not attend to his work properly and was acting against the interest of the paper in which he was employed. Accordingly, he was assigned the work of a translator of advertisement, without in any way affecting the conditions of his service. Shri Singh, however, refused to accept such assignment and voluntarily left his service. He was charge-sheeted for the said offence, and, by way of punishment, was not allowed to resume his duties. He was asked to collect his dues which he did not do. The Association's case on the other hand is that Shri Singh was summarily dismissed on the night of the 1st May 1956 by the Proprietor of the paper, who, however, for reasons best known to him, changed his mind and on the next day asked Shri Singh to take up the work of a translator of advertisement, which in the profession of journalist was decidedly an inferior work. Shri Singh protested both against his arbitrary dismissal and his subsequent demotion on transfer to an inferior post. On the 10th May 1956 Shri Singh was charge-sheeted for his failure to take up duties of a translator. In reply, Shri Singh denied the charges and the Management made a pretended order of enquiry which, however, did not take place. Shri Singh, in reply to Management's letter for a final enquiry, informed the Management that he would, under protest, resume duty as a translator of advertisement on the 2nd July 1956. The Management, in its letter of the 4th July 1956, Exhibit 13, did not permit him to rejoin his duties as translator of advertisement and was informed that he was under suspension and, therefore, not entitled to any wages during the period of unemployment. Shri Girija Singh has deposed in support of his case. P.W. 4, Bichari Mahato, also an employee of this paper at the time of the incident and subsequently dismissed from service, corroborates P.W. 2, Shri Sudama Singh. O.P.W. 2, Shri Tripathi, has deposed in this case. He, however, did not stick to his defence made out in his written statement. He said, he wrote Exhibit 1, dated the 1st May 1956, on the same night, dictated by Shri Sudama Singh. The letter, undoubtedly, means the immediate termination of service of Shri Sudama Singh. But, curiously enough, Shri Tripathi would have us believe that he was forced to write that letter under pressure from Singh, a fact which is extremely difficult to believe, regard being had to the position of the parties and the occasion which demanded it. He further said that the letter had nothing to do with the immediate discharge of Shri Singh from service, but he was only relieved of his duty as the News Editor. He was assigned to less onerous duty where Shri Singh would not be able to do any mischief to the paper. This assignment, according to Shri Tripathi, was made at least two days before that day. It was not made in writing. It was put to writing for the first time on the night of the 1st May 1956 but was withdrawn at the dictation of Shri Singh and replies by Exhibit 1. I do not believe this to be true. The services of Shri Singh were terminated on the night of the 1st May 1956. Next day, wiser counsel prevailed and the Manager of the paper asked

Shri Singh to take up the duty of the translator, which, according to Shri A. C. Banerjee, the President of the Indian Journalists' Association, is not the work of a News Editor. Exhibit C, a Press Note containing the decision of the Wage Board, also shows that this is not a News Editor's work. Naturally, Shri Singh expressed his resentment against this arbitrary action of the Management. He was charge-sheeted when he refused to take up the work. But there was no enquiry though one was promised. On this point there is some controversy between the parties. But then it is not very material for our present purpose, for even after that, a final date of enquiry was fixed by the Management and it was suggested that Shri Singh would take up the work assigned to him. Shri Singh responded to this call. He was in distress and could not hold out any longer. He wrote back to say that he would resume duties on the 2nd July 1956. Shri Singh's evidence is that he came to join but he was not permitted to do so. Eventually, Shri Singh was informed in writing by the Management that he would not be permitted to resume his duty even as a translator of advertisements and, at the same time, refused him all wages for the period of unemployment till that date. He was, on no previous occasion, told that he was under suspension, and, therefore, the mere mention of the word "suspension" in the letter, dated the 4th July 1956, Exhibit 13, could not alter the situation. Shri Trinpathi said that except the Editor-in-Chief all other Editors used to do translation work. But I fail to see how in that event it was at all necessary to assign the work of translation to Shri Singh, specially when Tripathi wanted to remove him away to a place of safety from where he could not do any mischief to the paper. Shri Tripathi could not give any concrete incidence of Shri Singh's connection with Sanmarg, his alleged rival paper. At the time of the termination of his service, he did not even know of it. All the same he suspected that it was due to Shri Singh's activity against his paper and he was losing financially for that. Shri Singh's evidence is that the time he and Girija, who was dismissed before him, were actively connected with the Union activities and in supporting the case of the Press employees in an industrial dispute pending before a Tribunal. Shri Tripathi tried his level best to separae the two Singhs from the activities of the Union but failed and their termination of services followed almost immediately. Shri Tripathi even now said that he was prepared to take Shri Sudama Singh in service and reinstate him in his old post, provided he severs all connections with the rival paper, Sanmarg. It is true that Shri Singh, for several months past, is in service of Sanmarg, but that after the termination of his services. He cannot serve two masters at a time. So he will have to sever all connections with the paper, Sanmarg, before he is reinstated in his old post in The Daily Lokmanya. This, to my mind, is clear case of victimisation of an employee for his Union activity and a case of dismissal which to say the least, is arbitrary, illegal and unjustified. Shri Sudama Singh is in that case entitled to normal remedy, viz., reinstatement in his old post. Considering the financial difficulties of the paper, as proved by the evidence of O.P.W. 1, Shri K. P. Srivastava, and O.P.W. 2, Shri R. S, Tripathi, and the fact that Shri Singh is in service of Sanmarg since the beginning of this year. I find that he is not entitled to get back wages for the entire period of his unemployment. He will get back wages only for three months, at the rate last drawn, within one month from the date of the publication of this award. He will sever all connections with the paper, Sanmarg, by resigning his service and report himself to duty any time within one month from the date of the publication of this award when he should be reinstated in his old post.

P.W.3, Shri Girija Prosad Singh, according to the paragraph 11 of the written statement, was an apprentice and his services were terminated as he was found after protracted trial unsuitable for any post. But the letter of termination, Exhibit 14, dated the 28th April 1958, reveals a different set of facts. Shri Singh was told that due to financial difficulties no new appointment was possible. He was, therefore, asked not to come to work. This letter was written in Hindi by Shri Tripathy himself on the 28th April 1956. Shri Tripathy's evidence on this point is, however, different from what has been stated in the said documents. He said that Shri Girija Singh was equally guilty, acting in combination with Shri Sudama Singh, of misconduct in acting against the interest of this paper at the instigation of Sanmarg, which is also a local Hindi daily. Shri Singh was Assistant Secretary and worked with Shri Sudama for betterment of service conditions of the employees of the Press. Nothing further is said or known against him. Shri Singh said that he was Sub-Editor. But his name is not found in the Attendance Register. Shri Tripathy said that he was paid some money, not as remuneration but his occasional help during this period of apprenticeship. Shri Singh's evidence is otherwise. He was Sub-Editor on a monthly pay of Rs.60 per month. No one was admittedly paid any wages regularly and almost everyone was in arrears at a time up to 2|3 months. Shri Tripathy himself concedes this. One other noticeable feature of this case is that the Accountant says that the Company has audited balance sheet, which fact the Proprietor denies. Despite directions from this Tribunal not a bit of accounts was placed before it, not to speak of any audited balance sheet. It is, therefore, not possible to accept Shri Tripathy's evidence that Shri Girija was only an apprentice learning work without receiving any pay for it. The evidence of the other side, therefore, cannot but be accepted. Shri Singh was also victimised for his Union activities and dismissed from service most arbitrarily. I, therefore, find that his services were wrongfully terminated and he is entitled to reinstatement He is during the period of his unemployment earning his livelihood by doing the work of an unskilled labour in a factory. He is, since January 1958, working in Hind Motors at Uttarpara in a temporary job. He asked for reinstatement. There is nothing on record which can justify refusal of normal remedy of reinstatement. He is, therefore, directed to be reinstated in service in his old post, provided he reports to duty within one month from the date of the publication of the award. He is to get back wages for three months only at the rate last drawn, viz., Rs.60 per month, also within one month from the date of the publication of the award. Considering the financial difficulties of the paper and also considering the fact that he is at present employed in a temporary post he is not allowed all back wages for the entire period of unemployment. I answer the issue accordingly.

Issue No. 9: This relates to realisation of arrear pay as stated in Appendix A to the Association's written statement. Now, this table shows that these arrears are due since March 1956 and November 1955 and, in some cases, since a later date. This includes privilege leave pay since August 1951, 1952 and 1953, etc. Of the ten employees mentioned in the table of the Annexure A only two have deposed before this Tribunal. They are Shri Sudama Singh and Shri Girija Singh. P.W.2, Shri Sudama's pay amounting to Rs.625 and equal amount, on account of his privilege leave due, have been claimed in this table. P.W.3, Shri Girija Singh's pay since November 1955, amounting to Rs.660 and privilege leave salary amounting to Rs.60, have been claimed. P.W.2, Shri Sudama, said in his evidence that the arrears mentioned in Appendix A to the statement remained unpaid. He has no independent recollection about the arrear wages. As to his leave pay, he said that he was entitled to privilege leave of one month each year and for five years he would get Rs.625. He says, he prepared this chart. P.W.3, Shri Girija Singh, said that Rs.168-8 was in arrears. A statement which is contrary to that made in Annexure A, O.P.W.1 in his deposition said that some of the arrears in Appendix A were no doubt true, but they were fully paid and that nobody was allowed any leave wages. O.P.W.2, Shri Tripathy, in his evidence said that wages of two months or in some cases three months were in arrears in April 1956. There is, as stated already, no Book of Accounts on the Company's side, to prove payment as is stated by the Accountant. There is also no evidence on the side of the Association to prove the claim, except, of course, a portion of Shri Sudama Singh's. But then, there is one other difficulty in entertaining this issue. It is nobody's case that there is any industrial dispute over the non-payment of alleged arrears of wages. There may be arrears, for the realisation of which the aggrieved party will have to move the proper authority, and not the Industrial Tribunal, which exercises very restricted jurisdiction in this matter. Shri Tripathy said that wages were in arrears because he could not pay them. There was no dispute regarding its payment. An arrear emerges when a liability to pay it is established and a default in that payment is made on demand. Such arrear might be there but then the claim cannot be sustained without any reliable evidence. I answer the issue accordingly.

Issues Nos. 3 to 8: This has to be considered against the background of the financial position of this Company. Shri Tripathy, who has been in public line for a long time, is connected with this paper for over twenty years. He tried his best to effect an improvement in the circulation of this paper and purchased a rotary machine at a cost of Rs.50,000 in 1950. Since then, he has been experiencing financial difficulties in running this paper. He admits that he is almost regularly in arrears in payment of wages to his staff. He is in chronic debts. I believe that the financial position of the paper is not very sound. Unfortunately the Company did not place any material, other than the evidence of O.P.W.1 and O.P.W.2, to show what its present financial position is. The accounts, kept in Hindi, could have been produced before the Tribunal to show what actually the position is. The audited balance sheets and the income-tax assessment orders must be there and O.P.W. 1 admits that. They are not produced. Therefore, it is difficult for this Tribunal to make any proper assessment regarding the true financial position of the Company at the present day. That it is not very satisfactory is, however, clear from the conduct of the paper and from the evidence of its Proprietor.

The hours of work, holidays and leave rules cannot be formulated in the absence of proper materials. None of the present staff is forthcoming to give evidence on this point. It is very difficult to appreciate their difficulties without proper evidence and then the conditions of service of the working journalists are now being considered on all-India basis and the decision of that body is likely to be available at an early date.

Regarding introduction of "canteen," retiring, etc., there is no evidence on record to show what other papers of same standing are providing for their employees. Regarding Provident Fund and retirement benefits, this again would very likely to be introduced when the conditions of service are finalised for all the working journalists. Besides, it is no use making any new rules and provisions on paper when the Company is financially not in a position to regularly pay even the wages to the staff.

Regarding issues Nos. 3 to 5, hours of work, holiday and leave rules, section 67 of the Working Journalists' Condition of Services and Miscellaneous Provision Act, 1955, and rules 7 to 16, 17 and 35 of the Rules of 1957 prescribe for all journalists. The Company would do very well to give effect to them, if not already done, with effect from the date of the publication of this award. Regarding issues Nos. 6 to 8, as already stated above, there are no proper materials on record to consider them and in the present financial position of the Company it is not desirable to introduce them immediately.

This is my award.

AWARD

An industrial dispute between Messrs. Bhartia Electric Steel Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the Company), 8 Swinhoe Street, Calcutta, and their workers as represented by Bhartia Iron and Steel Workers' Union, 7|2A Jamir Lane, Calcutta-19, in respect of the following issue was referred to me for adjudication by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4615-I.R.|IR|11L-120|57, dated the 3rd December 1957.

Issue

Whether all the workmen are entitled to get the benefit of the existing Incentive Bonus? If so, on what condition?

Both parties filed written statements, adduced evidence, and advanced arguments in the case.

Issue No. 1: At the outset Shri Khaitan on behalf of the Company contends that this reference relates only to the Swinhoe Street Works at Ballygunge and it does not apply to the Khardah Works. Shri Khaitan makes a pointed reference to the wording of the order of reference in this case and points out that the reference clearly mentioned the Company's office at 8 Swinhoe Street, Calcutta, where there is a factory of the Company and the reference in question was also sent to the said address, and not to the address of the Head Office of the Company or to its Khardah Factory. Shri Khaitan further points out that a dispute on certain establishment or more than one establishment can be referred to a Tribunal under section 10(5) of the Industrial Disputes Act. A reference has been invited to a decision of the Madras High Court in a case between India Tyre & Rubber Co. and their workmen reported in 1957 L.L.J. Vol. II, pages 506|512, where an interpretation of "industrial establishment" was given by the Hon'ble Court. In my view this contention appears to be correct. The present reference relates to workers employed at 8 Swinhoe Street, Calcutta only, and not at other places.

The short point involved in this case is whether all the workmen are entitled to get the benefit of the existing incentive bonus, and if so, on what condition?

The incentive bonus scheme exists for the benefit of the workmen. Admittedly, it does not apply to all the workmen employed in the non-productive departments. They do not enjoy the benefit of the scheme. The question now is whether under the existing scheme all the workmen are entitled to incentive bonus. The issue is not for a revision of the existing scheme so as to make it applicable to all workmen. Neither is it for preparation of a new scheme for those who are not covered by the existing scheme. According to the Union, 803 workmen including the monthly-rated staff numbering 202, out of the total of 3,000, are not covered by the existing scheme. These workmen including the temporary hands are employed in the six departments as mentioned in the paragraph 12 of the Union's written statement. On the other hand, the Company's case is that only 230 workers, and the piece-rated workers numbering 288 of the Machine Shop, as stated in Exhibit A(2), do not get the benefit of this scheme. As stated above, a number of workmen, particularly, those employed in the non-productive departments are not covered by the scheme. The Company's contention is that for obvious reasons they are not in the scheme, and they are not entitled to the benefit of the existing scheme. The Union's contention, however, is that the benefit of the scheme which is confined to workmen employed in the productive department should be extended to all, no matter where they are employed. The reason is that the production depends on the co-operative effort of all sections of the workmen, and every one has a share in the total output. So, there should not be any discrimination in the matter of granting the benefits of the incentive scheme between workers and workers. The work-load of every individual has increased, and it is only fair and reasonable that all should derive some benefit out of the scheme in question. Further, there are engineering concerns who have similar incentive bonus schemes applicable to all workmen. The oral evidence in this case is very short. Shri B. N. Majumder, President of the Union, deposed on behalf of the workmen, and O.P.W. 1, Shri K. N. Shivaram, deposed on behalf of the Company. Shri Ram Sen on behalf of the Union relied on the Exhibit 2, which is a copy of an agreement between the Joy Engineering Works and its workmen on production bonus, and contended that the workmen employed there get the benefit of the scheme no matter where they once employed. Exhibit 2 shows the outline of the scheme introduced as a result of an agreement entered into between the management and the Workers' Union on 12th April 1956. The two other awards referred to in this connection on behalf of the parties are of Shri G. Palit in the case of Messrs. Guest, Keen & Williams Ltd. In one case the learned Judge has refused to extend the benefits of the scheme to all and in another, while revising the production bonus scheme, made it applicable to all workmen. As stated already, this Tribunal is not called upon in this reference to revise the existing bonus scheme or to prepare one so that the workmen who are not getting the benefits of the scheme at the present time, would get the same. It has been conceded that under the existing scheme, numbering about 50, all the workmen are not entitled to the benefits of the scheme. Shri Ram Sen pleades that in the interest of peace, and in the interest of the success of the scheme itself, its benefit should be extended to all the workmen. He advances two more reasons for this, viz., (i) to secure co-operation of all concerned so as to get full work and (ii) every one has a share of contribution towards greater production under the incentive bonus scheme. This, in his opinion, will ensure industrial peace and remove the present discrimination in the matter of payment. The outlines of the scheme, the number of which is about 50, are given in the Exhibit A and its working in Exhibit A(1). A glance at the scheme will show that, more or less, all of them are on experimental basis, and they are revised from time to time. They are not the conditions of service and their withdrawal does not lead to any industrial dispute. They guarantee normal wages. The number of workmen concerned in different schemes vary from 4 or 5 to 300 and more. No two schemes can be interchanged. Each scheme is tailored according to requirement appertaining to operations of that department. The Union's claim is that the benefit of the existing scheme should be extended in the same manner and on the same terms to everybody. That is to say the incentive bonus should be equally distributed so that the present ratio between the quantum of production bonus and the wages be maintained. The Union's evidence is that the temporary hands do not get the benefit of this scheme, and the monthly-rated staff also, e.g., clerks of the general department, do not get the benefit of the scheme even when they are deputed to work in a productive department where the scheme is in operation. I have given my anxious consideration to the evidence and the circumstances of the case. In my view the production bonus is never looked upon as a part of the normal wage, and it is not under the existing scheme. The scheme is not compulsory in the sense that a workman does not stand to lose even a part of his normal wages, he being not able to qualify himself for the benefit of the scheme. It is not in evidence in this case that the workmen who are at present outside the scheme and work outside normal hours, are not paid any overtime for overtime work. The departments in the factory are, no doubt, inter-connected in this sense that one is to some extent dependent on the other. It is equally true that co-operation of all employees is necessary for the successful working out of any scheme. But that alone is not sufficient to justify a claim for a share in the incentive or production bonus even in a non-productive department. It may be that in one or two engineering concerns the benefit of the incentive scheme has been extended to all workmen. We have already seen that in one case this was done on mutual consent of the parties. In another case the entire scheme was revised and the issue before the Tribunal was for such a revision of the scheme. In another case this was revised. So there is no practice in any engineering concern to extend the benefit of the incentive bonus scheme, as a rule, to all workmen. The Union, in my view, has failed to establish any reasonable justification for extending the benefits of the scheme to workmen who are now not covered by any one of them. There is no proof on the Union's side that there has been any case of discriminatory treatment in the matter of application of the scheme or in the matter of payment under the scheme. Broadly speaking, the Union's point of view is that all should receive equal treatment in this matter. It is, no doubt, desirable that equal treatment should be meted out to all places in equal circumstances. In that view of the matter, there has not been any discriminatory treatment in this case. All the workmen are not entitled to the benefit of the scheme.

This is my award.

BEFORE THE SECOND LABOUR COURT, WEST BENGAL

New Secretariat Building, Third Floor, Calcutta

PRESENT:

SHRI P. C. MAITRA, M.A., B.L., Presiding Officer, Second Labour Cour

An application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act w filed by Shri Sailendra Kumar Dutta against Messrs. Grant Advertisin Incorporated and Messrs. Imperial Tobacco Company of India, Ltd Calcutta, in connection with Government order No. 5059-Dis., dated 13t October 1955, before the First Industrial Tribunal. The said Tribunal h virtue of the notification No. 1916-I.R., dated 13th May 1958, transferre the said case to the Second Labour Court for disposal. Notices were ther upon issued on all the parties and all of them appeared before me an adopted their written statement. The Opposite Party, Messrs. Gra Advertising Incorporated, further submitted a supplementary written stat ment stating that this Court has no jurisdiction to adjudicate into the matte and the First Industrial Tribunal has no authority to transfer such referenc Applicant's side was represented by Shri D. L. Sengupta, Advocate, an on behalf of the Opposite Party No. 1, Messrs. Grant Advertisin Incorporated, Shri S. C. Sen, Advocate, appeared and Opposite Party No. simply submitted their written statement.

In his application the applicant states that Messrs. Imperial Tobacc Company of India, Ltd., had sponsored another concern—Genera Advertising Agency (I.), Ltd., which was a shadow company of Messrs Imperial Tobacco Company, and practically both the companies were func tioning in the same building with same Accountant and same Directors The petitioner had put in 21 years of service (12 years under Imperia Tobacco Co. and 9 years under Grant Advertising Incorporated) and tha the petitioner during the pendency of the reference had been unjustly without any reason was dismissed from service with a vindictive motive t crush the Union at any cost. The petitioner had been sick with effect from March 1956, and is still suffering and is unfit for resumption of duty The petitioner applied for leave which was granted and extended from time to time till at last when the petitioner applied for further extension of leave by letter, dated 18th July 1956, asking for further leave for three months with or without pay, and the Management did not at all reply to that letter till 3rd September 1956, the dismissal letter was issued to the employee on the plea that under Standing Order of the Company absence on sick leave for more than 80 days will automatically result in termination of service The applicant stated that the order is unjust, illegal, mala fide and that the Company cannot terminate the service of a man being on sick leave without giving him an opportunity to show cause for such absence and, in this view, the above order was unjust, perverse, malacious and vindictive. The applicant further states that the Standing Order relied on by the Company not been certified under the provisions of Industrial Employees nding Order) Act, 1946, and as such not binding or enforceable. That said standing order having been circulated very lately cannot give any ›spective effect and cannot adversely affect the applicant. The petitioner ed that he should be restored in his service with back wages.

)pposite Party No. 2, Messrs. Imperial Tobacco Company, Ltd., in their ten statement stated that petitioner is not in the employ of Messrs. erial Tobacco Company of India, Ltd., and no employer or employee tionship exists between the Opposite Party and the petitioner and the erial Tobacco Company of India, Ltd., has been wrongly made a party ie present dispute, and so far as they are concerned, the case should be ıissed against the Imperial Tobacco Company of India, Ltd.

)pposite Party No. 1, viz., Grant Advertising Incorporated in their inder states that the petition of the applicant is incorrect on material ts. Grant Advertising Incorporated is not a shadow company of the erial Tobacco Company, Ltd., as alleged. It is admitted that at the › of termination of his services he was an employee of Messrs. Grant ertising Incorporated. The petitioner was sick from March 1956, and till unfit for resumption of duty. According to service rules of the ıpany the services of an employee who is absent for more than 80 days ıccount of sickness will be automatically terminated. Consequently the ıpany, by its letter, dated the 3rd September 1956, terminated the services the applicant. From the letter it will appear that the Company, far n being actuated by any vindictive motive to crush the Union, was very erous and sympathetic towards the employee and paid him a sum of ees one thousand five hundred and thirty only, to which he was not ally entitled, over and above his Provident Fund dues. That the appli- t has got a very exaggerated idea about himself and the Company does understand how by termination of his service the Union will be crushed. it the Industrial Employment Standing Order Act is not applicable to Company. The Company has its service rules which governs all its ployees and, as mentioned hereinbefore, that the service of the applicant terminated in pursuance of the provisions of the said service rules. It y be mentioned here that under the common law no employer is legally ınd to keep an employee in service even when he does not receive any vice from him for a pretty long time, unless a contrary contract is proved. the applicant is medically unfit to render any service to the Company a long time, it is just and proper that his services have been terminated. ese service rules are known to all the employees of the Company. Lastly Company states that the termination of the service of the applicant was it and proper and the application should be dismissed.

Both the sides, viz., Messrs. Grant Advertising Incorporated and the rkman hotly contested the case and produced documentary evidence which e enclosed in the record as exhibits and which have been carefully examined me. I have heard with care and attention argument advanced by the arned advocates of both the sides and my considered decision will be as llows:—

or Messrs. Grant Advertising Incorporated: Shri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

or the applicant: Shri D. L. Sengupta, Advocate.

'or Messrs. Imperial Tobacco Co.: None.

AWARD

Decision

It appears from the record that on 3rd September 1956, Manager, of Messrs. Grant Advertising Incorporated, have informed the applicant by a letter which runs as follows:—

> "As mentioned in our letter, dated 8th July 1956, we regret no further extension of leave can be granted to you. In pursuance of our office rules and regulations, clause 6(viii), your services automatically come to an end on account of your being away from duty for more than eighty days since 9th April for reasons of sickness. Your services, therefore, stand terminated with effect from 18th July 1956.
>
> Your contention that you have been in service of this Company for more than 20 years is not correct. As intimated to you already and as you know very well, this Company came into existence in India on 1st October 1947.
> Though you are not legally entitled to any gratuity or retirement compensation payable under the Industrial Disputes Act, the Company has decided to pay you purely as ex gratia a sum of Rs.1,530 (Rupees one thousand five hundred and thirty only). Our cheque is enclosed herewith."

Company paid a lump sum of Rs.1,530 to the applicant which he received and as regards his Provident Fund the Company has promised to refer the matter to the Trustees of the Provident Fund for sympathetic consideration. The applicant examined himself and he was cross-examined by the learned Advocate of the Opposite Party. The Opposite Party, viz., Grant Advertising Incorporated did not produce any witness and they simply relied on their documentary evidence which they filed as exhibits. The Court cannot insist the Opposite Party to produce their oral evidence. As against the oral evidence of the applicant, at best, Court can make an adverse inference against the Opposite Party that they have no oral evidence. In his evidence, witness admits that up to 1947 he worked in the General Advertising Agency and he originally entered into the service of Imperial Tobacco Company of India, Ltd., in May 1936. Since 1947 he worked in Grant Advertising Incorporated. He did not apply for any appointment under General Advertising Agency and Grant Advertising Incorporated. That the service rules of the Imperial Tobacco Company and the General Advertising Incorporated were the same. He was suffering from pleurisy and the Company granted him leave up to 6th May 1956 but he was not cured and he again applied for leave on 5th May 1956 and the Company granted him further leave from 7th May 1956 to 22nd May 1956. After that Company granted him leave without pay up till 18th July 1956. On 8th July he again applied for three months' leave. On 3rd September 1956, Company informed him that his services have been terminated with effect from 19th July 1956 and that he was completely cured in September 1956. So the witness makes contradictory statement in his oral evidence and in his written statement filed before the Court. In the written statement filed by him on 26th November 1956, he admits that he is still suffering and is unfit for resumption of duty but in his oral evidence he said that he is completely cured in September 1956. In his cross-examination he admits that from 16th January 1956 up till the date of discharge he did not work in the Company. Company gave him his Provident Fund dues, both his share and the Company's contribution, and he received Rs.1,530 as ex gratia over and above his Provident Fund dues from the Company. He further admitted that he was working as a cashier there. He was the only cashier and the cashier's duties were as such that one will have to attend every day. He admitted further that Jadu Gopal Dutta, who is an artist, got more leave than himself. The evidence of the applicant has not been corroborated and in the documentary evidence which he filed as exhibit he stated that he has received a cheque from the Company for a total sum of Rs.5,176-15-3 on the Lloyds Bank of India, Limited. In his application, dated 18th July 1956, he prayed for reconsideration of his case from humanitarian point of view and prayed for leave of another three months, with some pay or without pay for his medical treatment. It appears that the Company granted him leave from time to time during his illness, and when all leave was exhausted and no further leave was due to the applicant, the Company sent him a letter that they have discharged him with effect from 19th July 1956. He was a cashier of the Company and the duty of the cashier is of such a nature that no Company can be run without a cashier for a single day. Naturally during his illness the Company must have made some arrangement and must have appointed someone in his place and he cannot possibly be granted leave even without pay for an indefinite period during his illness of pleurisy and duties of the cashier cannot go unattended to by the Company. I do not, therefore, find anything wrong on the part of the Company in dismissing him when, for months together, his services were not available and could not be available during his serious illness and when all the leave was exhausted. Learned Advocate of the applicant has stressed too much in his argument about American State Laws. The Company in their letter has used the word "the State Laws," but who knows whether that meant the State Laws of our State of West Bengal or any State within the Indian Union or the State Laws of America? State Laws of West Bengal has not made any such provision that one should not get sick leave for more than 80 days and the learned Advocate of the applicant has argued that the natural presumption is that the Company has meant the American State Laws, because it is an American Company. It is to be considered further that at that time when the applicant prayed for leave there was no Standing Orders and that the Company has now introduced the Standing Orders at a subsequent date and, as such, these Standing Orders cannot have any retrospective effect. Learned Advocate, Shri S. Sen, on behalf of the Company had argued that the Company had their rules of service which were known to all the employees and if the applicant now says that he does not know of any such rules by which the Company can terminate the services of their workmen if their services are not available for more than 80 days on medical ground, it cannot be an excuse as ignorance of law is no excuse and when he was in service he must have known the rules of the Company and their leave rules and cannot now plead ignorance. It appears further from the letter of the applicant to the Company that he prayed further leave and he was not sure whether any leave is due to him in his credit and he even prayed for further leave with or without pay on the 18th July last. In their written statement the Company has said that under the common law no employer is legally bound to keep an employee in service even when it does not receive any service from him for a long time unless the contrary contract is proved. This contract may be express or implied and I am inclined to think that here was an implied contract not only in Grant Advertising Incorporated, but also in General Advertising Agency and Imperial Tobacco Company, the predecessor companies of Grant Advertising Incorporated, that if one's service be not available for more than 80 days one's services automatically stand terminated. This must have been known to the employees and this implied contract which is the condition of service, although not express, is a contract by itself, born of long years of custom and convention, and ignorance of such rules can never be the excuse on the part of the employee. I should, therefore, think that the employee cannot claim legally further leave when no leave is due to him. It is evident that he did not render any service since he took his first leave from January 1956 up till now when he applied for redress of his grievance to the Tribunal and it is the fundamental principle that in order to earn any wages one must render one's services Company allowed him leave up to 18th July 1956 and then terminated his services. The contention of the applicant that there was no proceeding drawn against him nor any opportunity is given to him is immaterial, as no such proceeding is necessary in a case of dismissal when one is dismissed from service during one's continued absence when one had no leave due to one. Apart from the legal aspect of the question which I have discussed I should think that from equitable point of view, if I am to do natural justice to the workman concerned, I should allow him a lump sum compensation of his total wages including dearness allowance, if any, for four months, i.e., up to the end of November 1956 when he applied to the Tribunal for redress of his grievances.

The applicant has brought his case against two employers, viz., Grant Advertising Incorporated and Messrs. Imperial Tobacco Company. This shows that he was not sure who is his real employer. The subsequent conduct, as envisaged in his documentary evidence, and the oral evidence which he tendered, go to show that he knows that he is the employee of Messrs. Grant Advertising Incorporated and had brought a speculative case against Messrs. Imperial Tobacco Company who ceased to be his employer long ago and he has himself admitted that since 1947 he is in service of Messrs. Grant Advertising Incorporated. As regards the real employer of the complainant, the matter has been fully discussed in the award published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 10th July 1958, page 2136, by Shri J. N. Maitra, Third Industrial Tribunal, where the matter has been set at rest. Shri Maitra has observed that "from the circumstances there can be no doubt that the original employment of the workmen in Messrs. Imperial Tobacco Company has ceased long ago. So no question of lien can arise." He had further stated in his award: "the Union in a way admitted in their written statement (i.e., in the main case) that the business of General Advertising Agency became precarious. Thus it had to sell its business to Grant Advertising Incorporated. If the employees did not consent to go to Grant Advertising Incorporated, they would have been retrenched." It appears then that this Grant Advertising Incorporated is the successor Company of General Advertising Agency and, for the matter of that, of the Imperial Tobacco Company with whom the relationship of the employer and employee had long ceased and the Imperial Tobacco Company of India, Ltd., is therefore exonerated so far as this case is concerned. As regards the relation between Messrs. Imperial Tobacco and General Advertising Agency Shri Maitra had observed in his awards:

> "When.....
> .....as an outright transfer to G.A.A. severing all connection with the original employer."

So, the question of lien as has been argued on the side of the applicant is an after-thought and absolutely speculative and Messrs. Imperial Tobacco Company can in no way be implicated into the matter and has rightly been exonerated by me.

As regards the question of jurisdiction, which the learned Advocate Shri Sen has raised, that the Labour Court has no jurisdiction to adjudicate into the matter in view of the fact that Government by its notification, dated 13th May 1958, has authorised only the new Tribunals which has been constituted after the 10th March 1957 to transfer such case and as this case was pending before the old Tribunal which was constituted before the 10th day of March 1957 the transfer in this case by the First Industrial Tribunal to the Second Labour Court is invalid. I have discussed thoroughly into the matter in my award in another application filed by Shri S. Roy and seven others against Messrs. Grant Advertising Incorporated and Imperial Tobacco Company and in my another award between Shri Ranjit Kumar Nath versus Clive Mills, where I had to deal with the self-same question. My observation therein was:

"This case was transferred to me by the First Industrial Tribunal. Company's main contention is that in the old Industrial Disputes Act there was no provision of transfer and in the new Act under section 33(B) there has been the provision of transfer and the transfer is illegal in view of the fact that the case was pending before the old Tribunal which was enacted under the old Act in which there was no scope of transfer from one Tribunal to another. Learned Advocate had argued that such transfer is bad in law and since Labour Court is a creative under the new Act, this Court cannot adjudicate on a matter which was presented for decision in the old Industrial Tribunal. Under section 33(B) it has been provided:

'The appropriate Government may and, the Labour Court to which the proceeding is so transferred, shall dispose of the same.'

This, the appropriate Government has done by virtue of their notification No. 1916-I.R./IR/3A-1/58, dated the 13th May 1958 to transfer the present case which was pending before the First Industrial Tribunal under section 33A. It is to be construed as if it is a main reference to the Second Labour and the Government has the inherent right of such transfer under section 33(B) of the Industrial Disputes Act which is now in force. The 'Tribunal' means an Industrial Tribunal constituted under section 7A, and Government of India has further amended the Act by their notification, dated 6th June 1957, as 'Tribunal,' means 'an industrial Tribunal constituted under section 7A and includes an Industrial Tribunal constituted before the 10th day of March 1957, under this Act.' I am, therefore, inclined to think that by Tribunal not only the Tribunal or Labour Courts created under the present Act, but also the Tribunal created under old Act before the 10th day of March 1957 is also included and by virtue of section 33(B) Second Labour Court of West Bengal is empowered to adjudicate into the matter which has been transferred to me, by the First Industrial Tribunal, no matter whether it was the First Tribunal under the old Act and the First Tribunal under the new Act constituted after 10th of March 1957 of the Industrial Disputes Act. Same institution is there and the same Industrial Disputes Act is also there. It is only that there has been subsequent amendment of the Industrial Disputes Act by the appropriate Government from time to time by virtue of which Tribunal means old Tribunal as also the new Industrial Tribunal created under the Act and the Labour Courts which has also been created under the Act, as provided under section 7 of the Industrial Disputes Act, which is now in force. I would, therefore, reject the contention as propounded by the Advocate that the Second Labour Court of West Bengal has no jurisdiction to adjudicate into the matter and this Court should refrain from exercising its jurisdiction when it is vested under the the law to exercise as such."

I have discussed all the points raised in this case and I am inclined to think that this applicant is a workman under the Industrial Disputes Act and he has rightly come for redress of his grievances before the Second Labour Court which has got jurisdiction to adjudicate into the matter. On the merits of the case I find that the workman has not been able to establish that he was victimised by the employer for Union activities. This is a pure and simple case of dismissal due to continued absence when no further leave can be granted to him by the employer. Learned Advocate on behalf of the Company has referred to me a Supreme Court decision between Indian Iron & Steel Company, Ltd., and another and their workmen, reported in 1, L.L.J. 1958, page 260. Their Lordships have referred therein to Burn & Co.'s case versus their employees (1956 S.C.R., pages 781, 798 of 1957, 1, L.L.J., page 226) wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed:

"We are unable to agree with this decision. The ground of discharge is the continued absence of the employee and his inability to do work, and it is difficult to see what purpose would be served by a formal charge being delivered to him and what conceivable answer he could give thereto. The order of the Appellate Tribunal is manifestly erroneous and must be set aside."

The Hon'ble Supreme Court had established the principles which is binding on me that "overstay in leave will be considered as absence without leave." In the present case, the same question is involved and I cannot but hold that the dismissal was legal and there can be no question of reinstatement which the workman has claimed. I would disallow his prayer for reinstatement and I hold that he has been legally dismissed. Only to do natural justice, in view of the continued absence due to illness upon which he had no control, I should allow the workman concerned compensation for four months' wages, including dearness allowance, if any, which I have discussed above. I direct that Messrs. Grant Advertising Incorporated, his employer, will have to pay the sum within 10 days from the date of publication of the award in the Calcutta Gazette.

This is my Award.

It is necessary to remove the defects and omissions and to provide for certain other matters by amending the Act. The Bill has been drawn up for that purpose.

NOTIFICATION

No. 23631.—8th October, 1958.—The following Bill which was introduced in the Lok Sabha on the 7th March, 1958, and in regard to which a motion was carried on the 5th September, 1958, that the Bill be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon by the 31st December, 1958, is hereby published for general information together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed thereto. Written expressions of opinion by any person or public body should be sent so as to reach the Law (Judicial) Department of the Government of West Bengal not later than the 30th November, 1958. Any opinion which is submitted direct to the Lok Sabha Secretariat or the Ministry of Law of the Government of India or to any other Ministry of the Government of India or to any other Department of the State Government will not be accepted for consideration.

Bill No. I of 1958

THE CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1958.

(As introduced in Lok Sabha.)

A

further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Ninth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 19 .

Amendment of section 342. 2. In sub-section (2) of section 342 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (hereinafter referred to as the principal Act), the words "or by giving false answers to them" shall be omitted. V of 1898.

Amendment of section 562 3. In sub-section (1) of section 562 of the principal Act, after the words "antecedents of the offender", the words "and the offender making a completely true statement without concealing anything" shall be inserted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of the Bill is to eliminate perjury from law courts and to encourage amongst the litigant public the habit of speaking the truth. A statutory guarantee to the accused for making a false statement as provided for in section 342 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, is repugnant to modern notions of jurisprudence and should be deleted. Similarly amongst the extenuating circumstances which the court may take into consideration at the time of applying provisions of section 562 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, it may also be considered if the offender has made a clean breast of things concealing nothing.

The Bill is intended to achieve the object by amending sections 342 and 562 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, in the manner indicated above.

3. If in any case the Health Officer considers that the issue of a notice under these regulations is likely to lead to such an amount of delay as might facilitate the spread of cholera he may forthwith take such step as he may think fit for carrying out the work, and shall thereafter, as soon as possible, issue a notice on the person concerned stating the reason why such work has been carried out.

4. If any measure which the Health Officer has, by a notice issued under these regulations, required to be carried out, be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notice, the Health Officer shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

NOTIFICATION

No. P.H./4276/2R-39/58.—13th October 1958.—Whereas the Governor is satisfied that the municipal areas of (1) Ghatal, (2) Kharar, (3) Midnapore, (4) Chandrakona, (5) Ramjibanpur, (6) Khirpai, (7) Tamluk, and (8) Kharagpur in the districts of Midnapore are threatened with an outbreak of cholera;

Notices

3. If in any case the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector considers that the issue of a notice under these regulations is likely to lead to such an amount of delay as might facilitate the spread of cholera he may forthwith take such steps as he may think fit for carrying out the work, and shall thereafter, as soon as possible, issue a notice on the person concerned stating the reason why such work has been carried out.

4. If any measure which the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector has, by a notice issued under these regulations, required to be carried out be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notice, the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

Costs and compensation

5. (1) All expenses incurred in carrying out any work in pursuance of an order issued under these regulations shall be paid by the municipality except in any case where the order directs a person to carry out any work in relation to property in his possession, in which case the expenses shall be paid by that person:

Provided that where the conditions, which led the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector to pass such an order, are not attributable to any act or default of the persons in possession of the property, the municipality may pay to such person the whole or a part of the expenses incurred by him in carrying out the order.

(2) The municipality may recover all expenses incurred by the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector in carrying out the measure under regulation 4 from the person or persons to whom the notice was originally issued.

6. The municipality shall pay adequate compensation to any person who has sustained substantial loss or damage by reason of anything done under these regulations:

13. No person shall enter any place wherein a patient is isolated under regulation 11 without the permission of the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector.

14. The municipality shall provide free of charge suitable places, with necessary attendants, medicine, diet and other necessaries for persons isolated under regulation 11: provided that a private individual may provide places certified by the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector as being fit for the purpose of such isolation.

15. If it is not possible for the Municipal Commissioners to provide suitable places with necessary attendants, diet and other necessaries for isolation of the patient or if satisfactory arrangement for such isolation is not also possible in the house where the patient is staying, the patient shall be sent, under proper sanitary precautions, to the hospital within or outside the nearest municipality where there is suitable arrangement for isolation.

1. By Government order No 5441-I.R./D 10L-116 56, dated the 20th December 1956, the aforesaid dispute was referred to this Tribunal, presided over by me, under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), for adjudication. The said Tribunal was constituted under section 7 of the Act by the notification No. 3581Lab., dated the 9th June 1951.

2. The reference was received here on 26th December 1956. Usual notices were issued on the parties. On 14th May 1957 Messrs. Hindusthan Motors Ltd., filed a petition before this Tribunal claiming its deletion from the order of reference. The Tribunal was not disposed to delete it at this stage, and rejected the petition. Then the matter was taken up to the High Court, and the Hon'ble Court issued a stay-order. Eventually the said Company was deleted under an order of the Hon'ble High Court and also of the Government. On 29th October 1957 a petition for an interim relief was filed by the Unions. The said petition was rejected by the Tribunal by its order, dated 12th November 1957. Thereafter written statements were filed by some of the individual companies as also by the Federations of Unions. Some preliminary objections were heard and disposed of by an order, dated 6th March 1958. As a result of this order (1) Messrs. Greaves Cotton and Crompton Parkinson Private Ltd., (2) Messrs. Indian Aluminium Co. Ltd., (3) Messrs. Maya Engineering Works Private Ltd., (4) Messrs. Asbestos Cement Private Ltd., and (5) Messrs. East India Rubber Works Ltd., were deleted from the order of reference. An order was passed on 6th March 1958 partially deleting Messrs. Aluminium Corporation of India Ltd., Messrs. Reckitt Colman of India Ltd., Messrs. Gramophone Co. Ltd., Messrs. Jessop & Co. Ltd., and Messrs Remington Rand of India Ltd., from the order of reference. The Tribunal also by an order, dated 6th March 1958, limited and defined the scope of wages in the issue No. 1. It omitted the claim about house accommodation, medical aid, travelling allowance, etc., from the scope of the reference. The Indian Engineering Association filed written statement on behalf of 30 companies mentioned in the schedule II of the order of reference. The Engineering Association of India filed written statement on behalf of 9 companies mentioned in the schedule I, and 5 companies in the schedule II-A A corrigendum order was received from Government on 26th March 1958 (G.O. No 1039-I.R./IR-10L-4 57, dated 15th March 1958) by which the name of Messrs. Hindusthan Motors Ltd., was deleted from the order of reference. Thereafter an interim award was passed by the Tribunal on 6th March 1958 by which the Tribunal apprised the Government of the names of parties which were deleted from the order of reference. Thereafter evidence was taken and it concluded on 26th June 1958. The argument was heard from 3rd July 1958, and it concluded on 29th August 1958 The award was reserved.

3. The issues contained in the order of reference as per the schedul IV stood as follows:

(1) Wages, grades and scales of pay.

(2) Dearness allowance.

AWARD

4. The Indian Engineering Association and the Engineering Association of India have jointly filed written statements in the present case.

According to them, the Unions including the Federations in the present case have misconceived the present state of the engineering industry in West Bengal, particularly with reference to its trading prospects, and the short supply of raw materials. The Associations contend that the State of West Bengal hitherto enjoyed an initial advantage over other States in India because of its proximity to the port of Calcutta. But as a result of the introduction of uniform prices for pig iron and steel over all the States of India, the said advantage has been taken away. This has resulted in a setback to the engineering industry in West Bengal. Besides, the prices of pig iron and steel have increased considerably since the Second Omnibus Engineering Award of 1950. On the top of this, raw materials have become scarce due to the curtailment of the import of pig iron and steel. So it is urged that the present time is not at all opportune for any enhancement of wages and dearness allowance. The First Engineering Tribunal in 1948 prescribed Rs. 30 as the minimum basic pay, and Rs. 25 as the minimum dearness allowance for industrial workers in West Bengal. In 1950 the Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal enhanced the dearness allowance from Rs. 25 to Rs. 31. At that time the cost of living index in West Bengal stood at 340 points with 1939 - 100 as the base. In 1954-55 the average cost of living index came down to 327 and 322 points respectively. So the Unions' claim for an increase of dearness allowance during those years could not be sustained. The employers did not make any attempt to reduce the dearness allowance which they could because of the drop in the cost of living index. Besides, the Associations contend further that the employers started giving annual bonus on profits and also introduced incentive schemes. Various amenities, such as canteen facilities, medical aid, provident fund contribution, recreation facilities, etc., were subsidised by the companies. In view of all this, the Companies stubbornly opposed any enhancement of wages and dearness allowance. It was further contended by them that the wage-structure is a long-term arrangement, as it was held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India that it should not be disturbed except upon strict proof of material change of circumstances. Even if the matter is judged from the point of view considered by the Fair Wages Committee, it is urged that the claim for increase in wages cannot be maintained. In some cases there have been increases in production, but that was more the result of installation of modernised machineries undertaken at huge expenses, and improved method of work, than by any extra effort on the part of workmen. Extra effort, if any, put in by the workmen must have been amply compensated by the production bonus and incentive bonus schemes. The companies contend that unless the increase in wages is accompanied by a corresponding rise in the productivity, the prices of commodities will shoot up and the result will be inflation. So a system of payment by results should be adopted and the remedy lies elsewhere than in the shape of increase in wages.

Regarding the grades and scales of wages, the Associations contend that the classification of jobs on which these rest is a management function pure and simple and as such this should be left in the hands of the management. The First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal in 1948 discussed this matter, and left it there with the recommendation that Government should set up a Committee of Experts to deal with the matter. A Committee of Experts was set up, but no report is forthcoming. The Association did not oppose classification of workmen into different categories on scientific basis. But this can only be done by a detailed study of job evaluation and other incidental matters by a Committee of Experts. So the companies call upon this present Tribunal also to leave this matter there.

Regarding the scales of pay in particular, the companies opposed any automatic or guaranteed time-scale on the ground that the engineering industry is a highly competitive one, and that time-scale can only be introduced, according to them, if the prosperity of the industry is guaranteed for a long time to come. Besides, it will place a heavy burden on the industry. The workmen are, as a matter of fact, given promotions on the basis of improvement in their skill. So, according to the companies, any time-scale, let alone automatic time-scale, is not at all called for.

Regarding dearness allowance, it is contended by the companies that the sudden and unusual rise in the cost of living index is only a temporary phase. Government is already on the move, and steps have been taken with the result that a downward trend is already perceptible. The Associations of companies resist the claim of dearness allowance, based on the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scale as much as any other scale based on the middle-class cost of living index. Dearness allowance besides must not neutralise completely the rise in the cost of living index as that would result in inflation.

5. According to the Federation of Metal & Engineering Workers' Union, the State of West Bengal forms the centre of the major engineering industry. It is contended by it that this industry enjoys some special advantage being in close proximity to raw materials with proper facilities of cheap transport and technicians, etc. It falls under several heads widely varying from each other, such as,

(1) Structural, (2) Mechanical, (3) Electrical, (4) Manufacture of machine tools and hard utensils, (5) Iron and Steel foundry, (6) non-ferrous metal engineering and manufacture of non-ferrous mental utensils, (7) Manufacture of machines, (8) Ship repairing, (9) Automobile, etc.

The workers who are employed in this industry at present belong to middle-class families. This industry is said to perform a vital role in the national economy. Its development makes for rapid industrialisation of the country. The workmen in this industry have been clamouring for living wage, proper classification of occupation, pay scales for all categories of workmen, scientific grade system, yearly increment, and dearness allowance on the basis of cost of living index, etc. The First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal could not grant the demands of the workers because it was handicapped, including as it did, within the scope of the reference the weakest unit of the industry. The Second Major Engineering Tribunal merely revised the quantum of dearness allowance on the basis of increase in the cost of living index. This Federation claims here before this Tribunal a living wage as promised by the Constitution of India. There can be no reason to deny or defer this wage to the workmen, now that the industry is yielding colossal profits having before it a bright future.

In some of the engineering units there has been already introduced a grade system. Classification of workers has also been made in many cases. But all this has become nugatory in fact, being left to the whims of foremen, managers, etc., who misuse it for favouritism and to disrupt unions. This Federation claims that the units should be divided into three groups, C, B and A with respective strength of 250 to 500, 501 to 1,000 and 1,001 to above.

6. The National Union of Engineering Workers in their written statement contended that the engineering industry in West Bengal occupied a very important place in the engineering industry in India comprising as many as 1 lac and 60 thousand workmen out of the total of 4 lacs and 47 thousand in the whole of India. In the State of Bombay it is said to have comprised only 84 thousand and odd workmen in this industry, i.e., nearly half of what West Bengal comprises. The First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal granted only a subsistence wage to the workmen because the smallest units of the industry were also before it. But here the smallest unit is a modestly big one of 250 men. Besides, since then there have been increases in wages effected in respect of jute, coal and cotton textile industries as a result of various awards. But the engineering industry is left where it was. That the engineering industry is expanding vastly is amply clear from the installation of giant steel plants at Rourkela, Durgapur and Villai. Very recently at Jamshedpur a blast furnace is installed which will produce 2,650 tons of steel daily. It is one of the biggest blast furnaces in the world. Even the export market in the middle and south-east Asian countries is opening up for Indian products. The national dividend has also increased. This industry involves hazards, responsibility besides technical skill which strengthens the claims of the workers to higher wage. So it is contended that there can be no justification in pinning down the workers to the starvation level of wages. To add to this, if the ever increasing high cost of living is taken into consideration, the claim for increase in wages becomes almost irresistible The other contentions raised in the written statement I do not specifically mention here because they will be dealt with while I deal with the respective issues.

7. Issue No. 1 Wages, grades and scales of pay: That the wages occupy a very important position in the relationship of employer and employees cannot be doubted even for a moment. Half, if not more, of the disputes in industrial adjudications centre round the matter of wages. Its importance can hardly be over-emphasised as from the point of view of the employer as of the workmen. If the wages are high, the employer is hit in his pocket, I mean, the profit which comes to his pocket, must necessarily be less. Again, in the eye of the workers nothing is more vital and important. It is mixed up with the question of their very existence. The standard of living, no less the happiness of the family of a worker entirely rests upon it. Even the consumers are also linked to it in a way Its repercussion upon the prices of commodities is direct. So long as the wages were contractual, it was more or less free from troubles. The employees would feel aggrieved only when the wages ran into arrears. If the wages could not be amicably recovered, the civil law provided the remedy. Arrear of wages constituted the subject-matter of civil suits But in the industrial domain wages have passed practically out of the hands of the employer. Now an employer cannot give any wages he pleases. It does not depend upon the law of demand and supply, as in other matters. If the wages are below the starvation level, the State would intervene. The State does no longer play the part of a passive onlooker. It legislates to prevent exploitation or sweating of labour by the granting of less wages than the minimum. Not only that, even the Constitution of India has held out the pledge of "living wage" to the people of India. Apart from this the wage structure has to be very cautiously built up. In framing the wage structure one may err on the side of caution. But he cannot afford to be reckless because in that case he will harm the cause of the workmen for whose benefit he grants liberal wages. The goose that lays golden eggs would be killed as a result. If he industry collapses it will result in unemployment. The collapse of the ndustry will hit the workmen more than it does the employer. The mployer may tide over the crisis because of his ample resources, but the vorkers are irretrievably lost. They do not have resources to fall back n. These matters are worth while to remember when the Tribunal mbarks upon the fixation of wages or frames the wage structure.

The Unions call upon the Tribunal to clarify the precise scope of "wages" under the present issue Wages have been defined in the ndustrial Disputes Act as amended in 1956, to include dearness allowance nd the value of house accommodation, medical facilities, travelling oncession, concessional supply of foodgrains, etc., but it excludes any onus, contribution to the provident fund or any retiral gratuity [vide ection 2(rr)]. But as dearness allowance has been specifically mentioned nder the issue No. 2, it is clear that wages under the present issue refers nly to basic wage. It does not include house allowance, etc., also. I have lready made it clear under an order (vide order sheets of the case record) when the case was opened before the Tribunal.

Some of the Unions pressed that as it was an industrywise reference having comprehensive scope, there should be different wages prescribed for lifferent branches of the industry. As the wages depend upon the degree of skill and the amount of effort rendered by the workmen which are lifferent in different branches of the industry, the wages it is argued annot be the same in all the branches. Of course, I admit that the ndustry in the present case, as will appear from the component units, comprises structural, mechanical, electrical, ship repairing, automobile, ron and steel foundry, manufacture of machine tools and hard utensils units. But provision for separate wages for separate branches would not be admissible for reasons more than one. That will create unrest among the workmen of the engineering industry. That will be a source of discontent among the workmen. A workman always compares his lot, it not so much with workmen of analogous industries, at least with the lots of workmen in the same industry. To create uniformity in wages among different workmen in allied industries should also be the aim of a Tribunal. Hair-splitting justice in such cases is bound to make for discontent rather than for peace. Besides, the Tribunal is not competent to appraise the comparative money value of the services rendered by workmen in different branches of the industry. So the Tribunal would not grant different wages for workmen of different branches of the industry, even if it could. I must confess that the task already difficult in that case will be made further complicated if this contention is taken cognisance of. So, giving the matter my most anxious consideration, I refrain from prescribing different wages for different branches of this engineering industry as enumerated above.

The Federation of Metal and Engineering Workers' Union suggested that the size of the concern should be ascertained with reference to the workmen, and different wages should be prescribed for different groups of industries classified according to the number of men employed there. It mentioned in its written statement three groups, viz., C, B and A, comprising 250 to 500 men, 501 to 1,000 men and 1,001 and above number of men respectively. This suggestion is not only opposed by the Associations of the employers, but also by the Dock Mazdoor Sabha and other Unions. Their contentions is that the number of workmen is not necessarily an index of the financial soundness of the company concerned. By way of an illustration they say that the Philips Electrical Co. (India) Private Ltd., does not employ a large number of men, but it makes good profits and distributes handsome dividends. I think, there is a good deal of substance in this contention that such classification of companies is not proper. Of course, big companies ordinarily employ a large number of men than smaller companies. But to take this as the criterion of financial soundness of one company above the other is not always correct. So it is not proper to say that the first Tribunal was weighed down in fixing the wages merely because it had before it the marginal small units of the industry. Besides, for the size or even the financial soundness of a concern it cannot be asked to pay wages higher than what is prescribed for the whole industry. It may be liberal to pay more handsome wages than what is laid down for the industry but it cannot be compelled to pay it. Such disparity on wages on the basis of numerical strength would create industrial unrest. Big industries would draw men from the small ones. This is not desirable.

8. The question of increase of wages has been stubbornly resisted by the two Engineering Associations before me. When the case was opened by the parties, I was told that the present reference was brought more at the instance of the companies than of the Unions. The Companies were led to think that for ten years—a pretty long time,—there has been comparative peace in this industry because of the awards of the two Major Tribunals, one in 1948 and another in 1950, concerning this industry. So they wanted another award. The Unions, of course, have placed before me evidence to show that they agitated for increase of wages, and gave notices to some of the companies as also to the Government. Now, whatever may be the context in which the present reference has been made, I do not bother over at the present moment. I shall meet the contentions which have been placed by the respective parties and see what they are worth, one after another.

The Associations raise the legal objection in the first instance that wages form a long-term affair. Wages once fixed should be left undisturbed for a considerable time. They have referred to the case of Army & Navy Stores decided by the Labour Appellate Tribunal, reported in 1951 L.L.J., Vol. I, page 31, the case of Ford Motor Company of India Ltd. reported in 1951 L.L.J., Vol. II, page 231, and lastly confirmed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the Howrah Burn Company case, reported in 1956 L.A.C., page 799. I have no quarrel with this proposition of law enunciated in these reported decisions. But if by this the Associations argue that wages once fixed should never be revised, it is very difficult to accept the said stand. But the Associations were also conscious of this. So they next contended that the decision by the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal operates as res judicata, as in Civil Law in the present case unless a material change of circumstances is made out.

Now, let me consider how far this legal contention can be sustained. It has been admitted by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the Howrah Burn's case that res judicata is not applicable in terms in industrial adjudication. Had res judicata been made applicable as such to industrial disputes then there would have been finality of industrial disputes as finality of decrees in civil suits. In that case wages once fixed would under no conceivable circumstances be revised, even though the exigencies of circumstances called for such revision. That is also not desirable. In industrial adjudications the Tribunals grant remedies rather cautiously and slowly. They do it purposely just to see how the company can bear the burden imposed upon it as a result of the award. Awards act as a feeler. That is why, though a living wage is the goal and fair wage is legitimate under certain circumstances, the Tribunals start with giving the minimum wage. The living wage is the ceiling and the minimum wage is the rock-bottom. The gap cannot be obliterated all at once. If it is done hastily, or rashly the industry might be in jeopardy, and unable to bear the burden it may be off its legs. So awards of Tribunals one after another are like milestones in the path of progress in respect of wages. In the Jute Textile Major Award given by Shri S. N. Modak, he observed at paragraph 42 of the award: "It was absolutely necessary to make a start regarding fixation of the minimum emolument, standardisation and other subjects. We have given a start on the path of progress, and have laid the first milestone at a considerable distance ahead. As we have already indicated, the rest of the path may be covered by a few more milestones to be laid by way of conciliation or adjudication or through any other convenient machinery in the future." Dr. Radhakamal Mukherji at pages 215-16 of the "Indian Working Class" (second edition) has observed likewise about the principle of gradual and continuous advance even in cases of change of circumstances.

Then to constitute res judicata, there should be two elements among others, viz., (1) the matters which were directly and substantially in the issue in the previous reference must also be directly and substantially in issue in the present reference; (2) the issues in the previous reference must have been fully gone into and decided there. These two elements are sine qua non to constitute res judicata. They must co-exist. But if I consider the issues which were before the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal and which are before me in the present reference, I find that they are not only not absolutely identical, but they were not even fully adjudicated upon in the previous reference. So the principle of res judicata, strictly speaking, cannot be invoked in the present case as both the ingredients are absent. In the previous reference there was the question of minimum wages mooted as will appear from the framing of the issue. But here unqualified wages are under issue. It also appears that unlike here all the engineering units, big and small, were included there in the previous reference. That is natural in the case of fixation of minimum wages where wages are fixed for the entire industry. But here in the present reference only the companies which employ 250 workmen or more have been impleaded.

Next, the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal did not fix grades and scales for the workmen. So there was no decision on the point. The grade of unskilled workmen that was decided there was more by way of an apology than anything else. This cannot be said to be a full decision on the grades and scales of pay of the workmen. The learned Tribunal in so many words stated that it did not adjudicate upon the grades and scales of pay of the semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled workmen. It stated the reasons therefor which I do not like to repeat here. So the principles on which res judicata in Civil Law has been made to rest are absent here.

Res judicata being per se not applicable but may be if the broad principle on which it is based, can be invoked here. In that case, there should be a material change of circumstances as held in Howrah Burn's case. The change of circumstances has not been defined in the aforesaid decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. But it clearly means that the circumstances on which the previous wages were made to rest have undergone certain alteration. If the decision of the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal is read between the lines carefully it will appear that the learned Tribunal made his award about wages principally on two factors, viz., (1) prevailing rates of wages in the engineering industry or any analogous industry and (2) the recommendations of the Central Pay Commission. Now, the point before me is whether these two basic elements have since undergone any change. The prevailing rates of wages in the jute industry and the cotton textile industry have been increased materially since 1948. In the jute industry the basic wage has been raised from Rs. 26 to Rs. 35, and in the cotton textile industry it has been raised from Rs. 20 and odd to Rs. 28 and odd. There were three major awards in respect of the jute industry, viz., in 1948, 1951 and 1955. The first award of the cotton textile industry was in 1948 and the second one was in 1958. That the jute industry and the cotton textile industry are industries in the same region is not disputed by any side. So it can be safely held that the prevailing rates of wages in analogous industries in the same region have undergone alterations. Even if the total emolument is taken into consideration concerning these two industries I get that in the cotton textile industry it rose from Rs. 50 and odd per month, including dearness allowance, to Rs. 60.67 nP. per month. In the case of jute industry the total emolument was Rs. 58.50 nP. per month as a result of the first award of 1948. It rose to Rs. 63.60 nP. as a result of the second award of 1951. It was enhanced to Rs. 67.17 nP. as a result of the third award of 1955. But in the case of the engineering industry it was Rs. 55 as a result of the first award of 1948, and Rs. 61 as a result of the second award of 1950.

Regarding the other factor, viz., the recommendation of the Central Pay Commission, I may point out that even there, there seems to have been a change of circumstances. The Central Government is already on the move by the appointment of a Pay Commission, presumably for the change of circumstances. The State Government is also being pressed to make a move in this direction. I must point out here that the recommendation of the Central Pay Commission is not apposite to the present matter because it was not in respect of engineering workmen specifically. So, at all events, I can fairly hold that there has been a material change of circumstances since the decision of the last two Omnibus Engineering Tribunals.

Even if this change of circumstances is considered from a broad angle, in respect of this industry itself, it is difficult to dispute the progressive march of events in this industry. In 1948 the engineering industry was in a fluid condition. The country had just shaken off the foreign yoke, and was not as yet firm on its legs. Foreign competition was still then very keen and alive and the employers in the engineering industry were mostly Europeans. It was not certain when they would pack up lock, stock and barrel, if they would pack up at all. There was no knowing when the control of the industry would come into the hands of the Indians. So a state of uncertainty stared the industry in the face. There were other real difficulties also to be faced. East Bengal was lost, and with it were lost some important sources of raw materials as also a considerable bulk of the trade. The position has been summarised by the Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal in its award as published in the book "Awards made by the Tribunals" at page 239. It runs thus:

> "The Associations have referred in particular to various factors of loss of trade. For instance, they have stated that there has been a grave deterioration in the amount of orders, particularly orders from the Central and State Governments and the Railway Board, that even Government have recently been calling for tenders from foreign suppliers on the ground of their prices being lower, that there has been practically a complete cessation of trade between India and Pakistan and there has been a revival of competition from abroad, that ocean shipping lines trading to Calcutta prefer to have all but the most urgent repairs done in foreign countries because costs of repairs are lower there."

This reflects the position of the engineering industry in 1950. Compared to that the present position must be definitely better. Now there is no question of any paucity of orders from the Central Government and the State Government as also from the Railways. Rather, the evidence is that orders from the Government are much too large such that the companies find it difficult to cope with. There is no question of the Government calling for tenders from foreign companies on the ground of competitive prices. Then about the shipping repairs, the evidence seems to be in favour of increase of activities but for the recent little setback on account of the short supply of steel plates. The engineering industry has been called upon to put its shoulder to the wheel just to meet the demands of the Second Five-Year Plan. The whole country seems to be brisk with engineering activities. Not only that the machine-tools and other machineries are manufactured in West Bengal, but I find that giant boilers and huge iron pipes are also constructed in different factories in West Bengal. The whole of the State has taken a rapid stride in this direction. So taking a total view it can safely be held that there has been a substantial change of circumstances since 1948.

9. Next, the Associations contend that there has been no occasion for revising the wages because the constituent companies have given amenities in the shape of increased provident fund contribution, production bonus, canteen facilities, Employees' State Insurance benefits, etc., since the first major award in respect of this industry. These represent the real wage having monetary value attached to them. So though there might have been the minimum wage decided in 1948, but at present the current wage is the fair wage. It should not admit of revision. Of course, I admit that the evidence is clear that since 1948 the managements have increased the amenities of the workmen from what were available to them previously. These amenities have, no doubt, added to the money-wage of the workmen. But if I look behind the surface, I find that the position is not precisely as it is sought to be depicted. The First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal granted the minimum wage. It included in it the cost of food, and the cost of clothing, etc., but no cost on frugal comfort. So it was mere minimum wage on subsistence level, as they call it. Below it one would be undernourished. But the minimum wage can be drawn as much on this line as on where some amount of frugal comfort is provided for. That will also be minimum wage. It is called subsistence plus level wage. That comprises medical facilities, educational facilities and retiral benefits. These constitute the frugal comfort. It is not enough merely to give a workmen as animal necessities, viz., food, clothing and shelter, but he should be given wherewith all to be efficient. So the position is that even after the granting of the amenities which the companies have referred to, what they give to the workmen was still the minimum wage.

Secondly, the wage, as it is defined in the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, excludes bonus and provident fund contribution. So these go out of the reckoning when wages are computed. The Labour Appellate Tribunal found that the canteen facilities do not come under the head of wages. So the contention of the Association on this score does not go far enough.

The Associations of companies next contend that if the basic wage of Rs. 60 was not adequate for an engineering worker, why did the other Tribunals adhere to it so long? To this, firstly, I must say that I am personally aware of many cases where the Tribunal did not disturb the existing wage merely out of deference to the decision of the Major Engineering Tribunal for the reason that it was an industrywise decision. I personally remarked in some awards that I should not disturb the current wage if it is in conformity with the decision of the Major Engineering Tribunal because that might give rise to unrest among the workmen and might foment disputes. The decision of the industrywise Tribunal was given proper respect. It was not allowed to be collaterally impeached. But that does not mean that the wages should not move forward. The Associations are practically begging the question when advancing this contention.

Next, the Associations contend that there are certain initial difficulties in the matter of granting of increased wages in (1) the uniformity of prices of steel all over the country, (2) paucity of raw materials, (3) rising prices. I think that the initial advantage which West Bengal engineering companies had over other companies in the rest of India because of easy and cheap transport and proximity of the port of Calcutta is no longer there. But Government is the chief purchaser of such commodities. So the companies do not stand to suffer in the matter of selling the goods even at higher prices, of the profits may be a little less than before. Regarding the scarcity of steel, that is a general complaint. This is the direct result of restriction of imports due to shrinkage of foreign exchange. But the engineering industry is being given a preferential deal in spite of tight exchange under the Second Plan. The prospects are brightening up. The contract for import of Russian steel is said to have been concluded. So this seems to be only a passing phase. Regarding the rising prices, it will not much matter when Government purchase most of the products. There is no accumulation of stock. Rather the orders are far too many to cope with. So there are present difficulties but they are not such as can defeat the claim for the giving of legitimate wages.

Regard being had to the above facts and circumstances, I must hold that a general case for increase of wages has been made out beyond any question.

10. Next, though a prima facie case for increase of wages had been made out, and the objections to the granting of the same were not found to stand on scrutiny, yet there are certain widely accepted principles which have got to be answered before framing the wage system in this industry. These principles have been formulated by the Fair Wage Committee, and both sides before me have referred to those principles as governing the fixation of wage structure for the engineering workers. The Fair Wages Committee has described the minimum wage as the floor level, and the living wage as the ceiling level, and between these two limits it has placed the "fair wage". The floor level of wages can be granted irrespective of "the capacity of the concern to pay". But the upper limit of wages must be limited by what may be called the "capacity of the industry to pay". This capacity is not of a particular unit, but of the entire industry on industry-cum-region basis. The said Committee having defined the two limits of fair wages as above have further expatiated upon four factors on which the fair wages have been made to rest. These are (1) the prevailing rates of wages in the same or similar occupation in the same or neighbouring localities, (2) the productivity of labour, (3) the level of national income and its distribution and (4) the place of the industry in the economy of the country. These principles have been widely recognised practically without any demur from any quarter as governing the quantum of wages. But objections came sweeping in, the moment attempts were made to translate those principles into practice or to commute them into their money value. The Labour Appellate Tribunal wanted to tackle the matter and to assess the practical value of those principles, so far as the fixation of actual wage was concerned. It was observed by the said Tribunal that the productivity of labour was difficult to be ascertained, and at best uncertain. That it is difficult is clear because the Companies are slow to disclose the exact amount of their output for trade reasons. Even when the same is disclosed, it is difficult to make an industrywise survey or computation. It is uncertain because it depends on many factors over many of which the workers do not exercise control, such as the type and state of machineries installed, the quality of raw materials supplied, the level of managerial and technical efficiency, etc. That is why the Fair Wages Committee, in the opinion of the Labour Appellate Tribunal, did not seem to have given appreciable importance to this productivity factor. The prevailing rates of wages in the same or similar occupation in the same region was, in the opinion of the Labour Appellate Tribunal, capable of a more precise definition than other factors. This has an important bearing on the matter of wages because unless the same wage level of workers employed in similar occupation in the neighbourhood is maintained, one industry would have an overflow of labour because of its better level of wages while the other industry in the same region would suffer for paucity of labour. Besides, there would be an eternal unrest in the industry because the workers in one industry are apt to compare their wages with that of their co-workers in other industries.

Regarding the per capita national income, it had a remote bearing on the question of total emolument of an industrial worker, according to the Labour Appellate Tribunal. This figure was, after all, an hypothetical one arrived at by taking the average. According to the Labour Appellate Tribunal, the national income figures may perhaps be relevant for the purpose of seeing if the total emolument of an industrial worker is violently out of proportion to the per capita national income.

Regarding the remaining factor, viz., the place of the industry in the economy of the country, there can be no doubt that the engineering industry occupies a very prominent rank in the said economy. Without much exaggeration it may be said that India is what its engineering industry does. It is because of this that it has been given a preferential treatment in the matter of restriction of imports under the Second Five-Year Plan in spite of a very tight foreign exchange. Thus it is clear that the recommendation of the Fair Wages Committee cannot materially help in the matter of fixation of the quantum of wages, though the principles enunciated serve as a guide or test that the wages fixed may not be different from the reasonable level.

A more practical approach to the problem I meet with in the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Crown Aluminium Works versus their workmen, reported in the L.L.J., Vol. I, page 1, January, 1958. Their Lordships have accepted that the principal objective before the country is a Welfare State. This pattern of society would mean that justice, social and economic, should be secured to all citizens. Article 43 of the Indian Constitution lays down that the State shall endeavour to secure for all workers "work, a living wage, conditions of work ensuring a decent standard of life, full enjoyment of leisure and social and cultural opportunities". But Their Lordships observed that in fixing wage-structures in different industries, industrial adjudication attempts gradually and by stages though it may be, to attain this principal objective. The Industrial Truce Resolution of December, 1947, also referred to the need for making provision for payment of fair wages to labour. The Bombay Textile Labour Enquiry Committee observed that the living wage basis afforded an absolute external standard for the determination of the minimum and that where the living wage critarion has been used in the giving of an award or the fixing of a wage, the decision has always been tempered by other considerations of practical character. (This finds place in the report of the Fair Wages Committee at page 8.)

Thus it is clear that in framing the wage structure the Tribunal shou not miss the current condition of the industry or ignore other relevan considerations and should not grant a wage which may be an approximat approach to the living wage, but far in advance of the existing condition in the country. An abstract justice may be good, but it may prove harm ful if as a result of this the existence of the industry is in peril. Wage pre-eminently aim at ameliorating the pecuniary condition of the indu trial workers. This may be best subserved by making the wage com mensurate with the capacity of the industry to pay. Otherwise a hig wage will become illusory if, as a result, the industry is ruined. That w mean unemployment and the workmen will be thrown adrift on the stree Their Lordships in the aforesaid case observed: "Though social an economic justice is the ultimate ideal of industrial adjudication, its imm diate objective in an industrial dispute as to the wage structure is to setti the dispute by constituting such a wage structure as would be justice t the interests of both labour and capital, would establish harmony betwee them and lead to their genuine and wholehearted co-operation in the tas of production. It is obvious that co-operation between capital and labou would lead to more production and that naturally helps national economy and progress. In achieving this immediate objective, industrial adjudic tion takes into account several principles, such as, for instance, th principle of comparable wages, productivity of the trade or industry, co of living and ability of the industry to pay. The application of these an other relevant principles leads to the constitution of different categories wage structures. These categories are sometimes described as living wag fair wage and minimum wage. These terms or their variants, the comfo or decency level, the subsistence level and the poverty or the floor leve cannot and do not mean the same thing in all countries nor even in diffe ent industries in the same country. . . . .What may be a fair wage in a pa ticular industry in one country may be a living wage in the same industr in another country. Similarly, what may be a fair wage in a given indu try today may cease to be fair and may border on the minimum wage i future." This long quotation will make it is clear that Their Lordship have also recognised those principles already referred to as governing th framing of the wage structure.

11. Next, let me consider in the light of evidence how far these pri ciples can be brought to bear in the matter of determining the actual wag structure in the present case.

Regarding the item of productivity, Shri Narayan Das Gupta of th Dock Mazdoor Sabha has filed an index of production just to show how th production has gone up in respect of bicycles, sewing machines, electr fans, machine tools, diesel engines, storage batteries, electric motor power transformers, etc., from 1946 to 1958. He has also given the expo value of machineries, apparatus, sanitary fittings, etc. as contained in th monthly statistics of foreign trade of India, published by the Departmen of Commercial Intelligence and Statistics, Calcutta, Government of Indi

These, of course, show that the volume of trade has considerabl increased in respect of the engineering industry. But the learned Couns of the Engineering Associations Shri K. B. Bose contends that we are her concerned with the engineering industry in West Bengal, and not of th whole of India. In that view, of course, these figures shoot wide of th mark. But I find in the written statement submitted by the Engineerin Associations that there has been a considerable rise in the volume of pro duction in some companies. It was up to the Associations to place whe such rise has occurred. Such figures must be supposed to be in the possession of the company. So when the Associations partially admit, it may very well be taken that the productivity has generally increased during recent years in this industry.

Regarding the other requirement of per capita national income and its distribution, I can rely on the figures given in the Major Cotton Textile Award, published in the "Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary", dated the 10th June 1958, page 2068. Shri M. C. Banerji of the said Tribunal has observed:

> "It was suggested by the learned Standing Counsel that in 1956 the per capita national income was Rs. 281 per annum (vide Second Five-Year Plan, page 73), and this level of per capita national income did not justify a revision of the wage. The total income for four persons in a worker's family, being himself, his wife and two children constituting three adult consumption units would account for an annual income of Rs. 1,124, i.e., Rs. 93.7 per month..... The national income is to be compared to the average income of the worker in any of the mills or in the industry as a whole in West Bengal. I have no doubt that it will be at least Rs. 10 more per month over the lowest paid income."

Of course, the average figure of the lowest paid worker is not before me. But according to the Major Engineering Tribunal's award in 1950, I get Rs. 30 as the basic salary and Rs. 31 as dearness allowance. So the total figure of Rs. 61 forms the income of the lowest paid worker in an engineering industry. Now, if the national income, as Shri Banerji has observed, is at least Rs. 10 more, then it would go up to Rs. 71. In the present case if Rs. 35 is given as the basic pay and Rs. 36 as D.A., then the total emolument of the lowest paid engineering workers would come up to Rs. 71 per month. So I do not think that Rs. 71 as the minimum wages of a worker in the engineering industry will be violently out of proportion to the national income and its distribution as referred to above.

Regarding the rise in the cost of living index, I shall deal with it under the proper issue. But here I may point out that 364 points with 1939-100 as the base have been taken as the average cost of living index for the year 1957 by the Labour Commissioner, West Bengal. So, compared to the cost of living index which was found by the Second Major Engineering Tribunal to be 340 points, the present average shows a marked increase of 24 points. This rise would justify a revision of the wage.

Regarding the item of prevailing rates of wages, I have already shown that in the cotton textile and jute industries there has been a considerable rise in the rates of wages since the award of 1948. In the coal industry the total wages have come up to Rs. 68-1 as a result of the award of 1956. So the prevailing rates of wages have gone up leaving the engineering workers far behind. So, judged by the standard of comparable wages, the present wages in the engineering industry calls for a revision.

The last, but not the least, is the factor of the capacity of the industry to pay. Here I may passingly observe that if the jute industry, the coal industry and the cotton textile industry which are confronted with keen foreign competition and have other handicaps as mentioned in the major awards, have the capacity to pay, it may very well be supposed that the engineering industry which has a bright future ahead, must also have the capacity to pay increased wages. What is more significant and more positive is that in the written statement of the Associations incapacity to pay has nowhere been specifically pleaded. Some of the individual companies have, of course, pleaded incapacity to pay. That matter will be dealt with when dealing with their case. The capacity to pay cannot depend upon the financial competence of any particular unit, but on the entire industry as a whole. There may be marginal units and they may be at a disadvantage, but in this comprehensive computation that should be overlooked. This capacity to pay has been viewed from a wider angle. Not only the capacity of one particular industry should be considered, but the capacity of all the industries located in the same region should be taken into consideration. So the engineering industry, judged by this standard, should be presumed to have the requisite capacity to pay increased wages.

12. Next, I come to the question of actual determination of the wage structure in this case. For that the minimum wages of all classes of workers should first of all be ascertained. Then after making allowance for wage differential, the structure of wages has to be framed.

This topic resolves itself into two parts, viz., (1) the consumption units in the family of an industrial worker and (2) the ascertainment of the minimum needs of an industrial worker and the assessment of the value thereof. The First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal went into the question of consumption units. At page 89 of the book "Awards made by Major Tribunals during 1948, Vol. III" in which the said award was reported, the learned Tribunal observed: "The Labour Commissioner proceeded on the assumption that in the Calcutta Industrial Area each family consists of 4.96 members, equivalent to 4.13 adult units and that each such family contains 1.59 earners." On the basis of this the said Tribunal found that the net consumption units in an industrial worker's family in Calcutta might be assumed to be consisting of three units. Dr. Radhakamal Mukherjee also in his book "Indian Working Class" has assumed that the family of an industrial worker consists of 4 members (=3 adult units) (vide page 90 of the aforesaid book "Awards made by Major Tribunals during 1948, Vol. III)". The Engineering Association challenged this on the basis of the Jagatdal Survey Report. But the learned Tribunal did not accept the finding of the said Enquiry Committee. In the Buckingham and Carnatic Co. Ltd. case reported in the L.A.C., 1952, at page 513 the Hon'ble Judges of the Labour Appellate Tribunal observed:

> "It (The Fair Wages Committee), however, took into consideration the fact that in an industrial worker's family there would be more than one wage earner and the wages of such extra wage earner would be expected to meet the cost of living of consumption units in excess of three. Feeling the soundness of this reasoning Mr. Pillai appearing for the Union conceded that in the matter of determining minimum wages the calculations should proceed on the basis that the workmen will have to provide for the cost of living of three consumption units only."

So, it appears that they also accepted three consumption units as the basis of calculation. Even in the National Conference of the Ministers of the States in this year it was decided that three consumption units should be taken as the basis of calculation. So it can be fairly taken that what was decided by the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal in 1948 is still being followed, so far as consumption units are concerned.

Regarding the minimum needs of the employees, it was held by Mr. Higgins, the Second President of the Australian Arbitration Court, that living wage based upon the normal needs of the average employees regarded as human beings living in civilised community must be given. The First mnibus Engineering Tribunal decided the value of normal needs of the dustrial workers. It accepted the estimate of Dr. Aykroyd, the Director the Nutrition Research Laboratories, Coonoor, at page 17 of his Health ulletin No. 23, published in 1937 as the basis of its calculation. It accept-l that an an industrial worker needed food equivalent to 2,600 calories per ay. Dr. Aykreyd assessed the cost of 2,600 calories between Rs. 5 and Rs. 6 the price level of 1936 which was the basic year of his calculation. In 937 the Madras Government appointed Mr. Adyanthaya to enquire into the mily budgets of the industrial workers in the city of Madras. He came to he conclusion that an industrial worker required 2,860 calories. On the rice level of 1936 he assessed the cost thereof to be Rs. 5/9 per unit, and dding the cost of salt and condiment he found the cost to be Rs. 6 per onsumption unit. The Judges of the Labour Appellate Tribunal preferred o accept Dr. Aykroyd's computation which was also accepted in Bombay. hey observed that they would prefer to proceed on Dr. Aykrody's figure of 2,600 calories for estimating the cost of balanced and nutritious diet, and would take the cost to be Rs. 5-8 which almost agreed with Mr. Adyanthaya's stimate.

Now, turning back to the award of the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal's award I get that the learned Judges took Rs. 5 to be the cost of iet of an industrial worker, and thereafter multiplied it by 3 it being the number of consumption units in an industrial worker's family. So the total comes to Rs. 15. This represents the cost of food. The cost of other requirements, viz., housing, clothing and other miscellaneous items was increased by 40 per cent So it comes to Rs. 6 more. Therefore the total cost is Rs. 21. Prices were assumed to stabilise between 160 and 175 points of the cost of living index. So Rs. 21 was multiplied by 1.6. The total then comes to Rs. 33-9 on the cost of living index at 160 points. So according to the calculation of the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal the minimum needs of an industrial worker's family would cost Rs. 21 and the basic wages should be fixed at Rs. 33-9 per month. The learned Tribunal allowed them only Rs. 30 as the basic salary on the ground of prevailing rates of wages. Needless to say that if the prices are expected to stabilise at 175 points, and if the cost of 2,600 calories is taken at Rs. 5-8, as was done by the Labour Appellate Tribunal, the basic wage of an industrial worker would come to a little more than Rs. 40 per month. The Unions, of course, contended that the prices would be expected to stabilise not at 160 points, but at 200 points, or at all events at 180 points. Their contention is based on the report of the Jagatdal Survey. If the calculation is made on that basis the minimum basic wage of an industrial worker would be fixed at Rs. 50 per month. This reflects clearly how the matter stands. But I am unable to go beyond Rs. 35 per month as the minimum basic pay of an unskilled worker on the lowest paid worker in this industry and that among others for three reasons viz., (1) that the prevailing rates in jute and cotton textile industry have been reached as the result of awards, (2) that the workers have acquiesced in the said rates, (3) that a wage for in excess of that will disturb peace.

I do not think that the Unions should be very much aggrieved by this decision. In an engineering industry unskilled workers do not for all practical purposes come materially into the picture. Strictly speaking, the three categories of workers, viz., semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled form the Engineering personnel. If I fix the minimum basic wage of the semi-skilled workers at Rs. 40 per month, it may very well be taken by the Unions that the minimum basic wages of the industrial workers in the engineering industry is for all practical purposes raised to Rs. 40 per month, i.e., by Rs. 10 more than what was given in the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal's Award.

So the minimum basic wages of an industrial worker being fixed at Rs. 3 per month I keep up the wage differential between the unskilled and th semi-skilled workers as found by the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal The said Tribunal observed at page 95 of the award (in the "Awards made b Major Tribunals during 1948, Vol. III"). Moreover between the unskille worker on the one hand, and the semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled o the other, there is a well-recognised distinction. Persons of whom only physical or manual labour, not requiring any intelligence, training or experience, is expected, may be classed as unskilled labour; while any person working on or with the aid of a machine belongs to the skilled class; semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled belong to the skilled class for the purpose of this definition. (Central Pay Commission's Report, page 124)". The Unions have suggested that the semi-skilled workers must have a remuneration 20 to 50 per cent. above that of the unskilled workers, and that the skilled workers should be paid twice or thrice of what the unskilled workers get. The Judges of the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal observed that they were not persuaded that it would be possible or desirable to adopt any such fixed proportion. The learned Judges referred to the Report of the Central Pay Commission just to show that such a fixed proportion cannot be sustained. I am at one with the said decision. So I fix the basic pay of a semi-skilled worker at Rs. 40 per month, i.e., Rs. 5 more than that of an unskilled worker. The First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal did not fix the minimum basic wage of the skilled and the highly skilled workers. Though I do not accept such classifications as semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled, which matter I shall deal with later on, I fix the minimum basic wage of the next group, i.e., the old skilled group at Rs. 75 basic minimum per month. The basic minimum wage of the highly skilled workers I fix at Rs. 110 per month.

13. Next, I proceed with the second part of the issue, viz., fixation of grades and scales of pay. The federations of Unions as also other Unions who are not members of any federation, have claimed, firstly, that the occupational nomenclature should be standardised in the engineering industry, and secondly, that the workers in the engineering industry should be classified according to their skill and should be put into one or other category, viz., semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled. Thirdly, there should be time-scale grades for these workmen. Fourthly, there should be provision for automatic annual increment. Their grievances are that the workmen are made to rot at a particular basic wage for many long years. Promotions, if any, come at long intervals. Such promotions are also not regular. Neither they are governed by any rule. They are like windfalls on which the workmen cannot count. Such promotions, etc., depend largely on the whims or caprice of foremen and supervisors in whose hands the destiny of the workmen is completely placed. These authorities sometimes use or rather abuse promotions, etc., to create discord among the Union members. So promotions, etc., are calculated or designed for nefarious purposes, viz., to disrupt the Unions and to reward the black-sheep. Such things have been condemned by the Unions as unfair labour practice. So the Unions make an emphatic demand to have redress or relief on this score without which, they say, the lot of workmen can never be ameliorated.

The companies do concede that the wages of the industrial workers should be based on a proper scientific footing. But for that jobs should be evaluated by experts capable of doing the same. They mentioned Messrs. IBCON Ltd. and other such bodies who do such work by time and motion study. The companies do also want that occupational nomenclatures should be defined and fixed. The classification of workers should also be made with reference to their precise nature of duties. But while on the one hand occupations are ther far too many, the classification of workers on the other hand cannot e done except by trade tests. For that technical knowledge and expert odies are required. They also pointed out that classification according to kill is no longer scientific. Merit rating, etc., should be done of individual orkers for the purpose of classification. Not only the skill but also xperience, responsibility, effort, mental and physical strain bearing are actors which should be closely studied in this connection. These cannot be one except with the help of technical expert bodies. The Associations also elemently inveighed against any time scale and automatic annual increment. he grounds of their opposition are, firstly, that if it is granted, it will take way the incentive from workmen which will spell ruin to the entire industry. econdly, the engineering industry is a competitive industry, and any time-cale and automatic annual increment will place a heavy burden on the ndustry. It will react on the prices of commodities resulting in an upward end. So the market may be lost. Thirdly, such automatic time-scale does ot prevail in any of the Western countries. If any such thing was necessary, the Western countries would have shown the way, they being pioneers n all such matters. Lastly, it is contended by the Associations that if such me-scales are granted by the Tribunal, they must necessarily be linked to roduction. In the conclusion the Associations urged that this Tribunal hould emulate the example shown by the learned Judges of the First mnibus Engineering Tribunal. It should leave the matter where it is. t should wash its hands clean of the affair by leaving the matter to be ecided by expert bodies, as was done by the previous Tribunal.

Now, turning to the question I pause to consider whether the matter should be shelved as suggested by the Associations because of the obstacles involved or that it should be tackled boldly. That it is a crying need of the hour is not disputed by any side. So let me consider how far these objections of the companies are really sound and convincing, and whether they are really insurmountable obstacles. That the occupational nomenclature is really a complex problem does not require a moment's thinking. I called upon the Associations to give me the different occupational jobs prevalent in this industry. The number of such occupational jobs has been given in details which exceeds one thousand. Shri Jagannath Pandey of the National Union of Engineering Workers tried to reduce the number and took elaborate pains for this purpose. The list he submitted contains more than 750 occupational jobs (vide Ext. 16). So it will be nothing short of a wild goose chase to make an attempt to fix the occupational nomenclature.

Regarding the classification of workers with reference to skill I must confess that though I may have a will, like the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal, yet I do not find the way. To make the matter more complex, not only skill is involved, but length of service, physical and mental strain, effort, etc., are required to be studied. The matter becomes wellnigh impossible when I point out that the same worker finds his place among the semi-skilled and the skilled groups; for instance, a turner, a fitter, a moulder, etc., find a berth in any of these categories. There are also varities of skill in different industries, and perhaps, in the same industry. So, even for an expert body the work of classification may very well be taken to be an impossible task, let alone for a non-technical Tribunal like myself. I also recognise, as pointed out, that the conventional classification of semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled does no longer hold good. "Skill" has been transferred from the man to the machine. Man is appraised by his manipulative power to operate a machine. Shri M. C. Banerji, Tribunal, in his Cotton Textile Award has discarded this conventional classification. So, I also follow his example in this matter. The learned Judges of the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal also did not consider with favour su conventional classification. The learned Judges very rightly pointed that it was very difficult to fix the line where the semi-skilled worker sh his role and steps into the role of the skilled category. If there is a difference or line which has got to be got over, that will be fou in the difference of wages attached to each category. So the wages tath than the category itself mark the difference.

The Associations have opposed time-scale and automatic annual increme on the ground that it is not in vogue in Western countries, that it will ta away the incentive, and that it cannot be done without job evaluation am not very much impressed by this argument. Of course, there is evidence before me whether there is in Western countries any such tim scale in the engineering industry. But I think there is hardly any occasio for there being such a system in Western countries. I am told that the jo are rated there in Western countries. So each job has a particular mone value attached to it. So long as a worker holds that job, I mean, so long performs that job, he gets the pay attached to the job. If he is transferre to another job he gets the pay earmarked for that job. So simply becau such system does not prevail in Western countries, where conditions a different the contention of the Associations against such system cannot g far enough. Besides, in the evidence before me I get it admitted by th Associations that at least in a dozen engineering companies before me, su system of time-scale increment is in operation. Now, if some engineerin companies can work upon the time-scale of increment, why would not th other companies be able to follow suit. While adjudicating the case o the Guest, Keen, Williams, Ltd. I held that the said company had no scales of pay in vogue prior to the First Major Engineering Tribunal of 1948 After that award they gave up the time-scale increment and practised it i a different way. They fixed nine sub-classes in the semi-skilled group an also in the skilled group. These formed so many different jobs, each having a money value attached to it. So, as a Tribunal I revived the old system an put it in a more precise and cut-and-dried fashion. I found that it wa accepted by the workers as well as by the employers. I am told that it i still in operation there. From this if anything emerges, it is that the time scale is not an absurd proposition. It is quite feasible in engineering con cerns. Only certain safeguards should be taken in the matter.

Regarding the objection of the Associations that time-scale cannot be undertaken unless the job is evaluated, I do not accept that proposition firstly, because in all the companies where time-scale is admittedly in operation, job is not proved to have been evaluated. Secondly, what is the worth of job evaluation, so far as the scale of pay is concerned? Dr. Ram Ratan Bajpai, O.P.W. 1, who is the Director of Messrs. IBCON Ltd. and who was examined before me, has admitted that job evaluation merely fixed the hierarchy of jobs according to certain principles. It ascertains the relative or comparative places of different kinds of jobs according to time and motion study. It cannot fix incremental scale unless the management agrees or places certain suggested scales before it and the Unions acquiesce in that. So the result is that even if job evaluation is undertaken and accomplished by a technical body, incremental scale cannot be fixed in pursuance thereof. So the objection on this score is not sustainable on evidence.

So it becomes clear that standardisation of occupational nomenclature, classification of workmen according to skill or job evaluation cannot be adjudicated by this Tribunal for reasons above. But the point is—should the Tribunal abandon the issue or tackle it from another angle?

Dr. Radhakamal Mukherjee in his book "Indian Working Class", as noted by the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal, says that short grades will be the ideal provided the principle of fixed rate for a fixed job obtains. At page 69 of his book he pictures the ideal conditions, viz., a graded scale for each job with initial and maximum wage rates, providing for periodical increments for a short period. He observes, however, that this ideal can be reached only after jobs have been standardised and classified. The Judges of the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal observed "We must find that time has not come yet to translate the ideal into practice. In the case of the semi-skilled workers, though we have fixed the minimum basic pay, we do not consider it possible to fix a scale of pay or even several scales of pay. There is a large variety of semi-skilled jobs in the different industries" page 97 of the book "Awards made by Major Tribunals during 1948, Vol III)". Here I may observe that though the learned Tribunal did not attempt to fix scales of pay or grades as suggested by Dr. Radhakamal Mukherjee, the matter did not sit still there. The matter rolled on. The companies could not resist the increasing and persistent demand of the workers for long. They themselves revised the scales of pay and granted increments. Those companies which did not grant such scales and grades, granted increments nonetheless fixing the maxima and the minima of the grades. The management kept in their own hands the matter of granting increment. That formed a source of perennial conflict between employers and workers. So it becomes quite clear that the system of increment and scales are in existence in one form or another. All that is required is that they should be systematised. The said system should interfere as little as possible with the management function but at the same time, secure the future prospects of the workers. I have tried to solve that in my own way. I am alive to the grave responsibility as I tread on untrodden ground. I can never claim that the method I have formulated in this award is an ideal one. It has the only credit of being the first step in the right direction. To redress the grievances of the workers which were found to be legitimate was the only motivating factor behind this measure. It will be successful so far it achieves that purpose.

The Associations have contended that if any such scale is given, it should be linked to production. Even when the minimum wage issue was before the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal, this linking of wage to production was claimed by the employers. That was turned down by the said Tribunal. I do not say for a moment that production must not be increased. If production is not increased, how will the industry have the capacity to pay? How will the country with its ever growing population survive? But the way to link wages with production cannot be applied directly as is suggested by the companies. It will depend on more good will and more co-operation between the employers and employees. The Hon'ble Judges of the Supreme Court in their decision in the case of Crown Aluminium Works and their workmen, reported in the L.L.J., Vol. I, page 1, January, 1958, have observed:

> "Though social and economic justice is the ultimate ideal of industrial adjudication, its immediate objective in an industrial dispute as to the wage structure is to settle the dispute by constituting such a wage structure as would do justice to the interests of both labour and capital, would establish harmony between them and lead to their genuine and wholehearted co-operation in the task of production. It is obvious that co-operation between capital and labour would lead to more production and that naturally helps national economy and progress."

Thus it appears that more production will be assured if there is more of good-will between the employers and the employees or, in other words, if the cause of discontent is removed. The cause of the present discontent will disappear if the time-scale and grades, over which the Unions are crying themselves hoarse for a long time past, are conceded. The mis-apprehensions of the employers that it will take away the incentive and the workers will indulge in sloth being complacent about their increment can be obviated if there are short time grades and if there are checks or bottle-necks at each turn. Such safeguards I have provided in the scheme I have laid down which I detail below. For promotion from one group to another, not only efficiency but vacancies should be there, as the companies contend. That is true enough. But the matter should be decided by the Board to be set up as directed in the scheme. The engineering industry is such that it can bear this burden. In the jute industry, some such scale is there. Thus I set forth below the scheme in detail, which will speak for itself for all categories of workmen in this industry.

14. The workmen who are called operatives in the engineering industry are placed under four groups with different pay scales and grades as below:—

Group D. (Corresponding to the unskilled category in previous awards).—(1) Rs. 35 for workers who do heavy manual work such as transport of things from one place to another, and other such jobs.

(2) Rs. 35—1.25 nP/2—37.50 for workmen who improve in efficiency of working both in respect of nature and quality of his work. After he reaches the top of the grade the management will consider whether he is eligible for promotion to the next higher group.

Group C: (Corresponding to the semi-skilled category).—Rs. 40—65. It contains five slabs of Rs. 5 each. Each slab comprises a period of four years, and the yearly increment is Rs. 1.25 nP. It covers a total period of 20 years. The above principle when put into application will stand thus:

Rs. 40—1.25—45
Rs. 45—1.25—50
Rs. 50—1.25—55 } Total period 20 years.
Rs. 55—1.25—60
Rs. 60—1.25—65

Group B: (Corresponding to the skilled category).—Rs. 75—115. It contains five slabs of Rs. 8 each. Each slab comprises a period of four years. The yearly increment is Rs. 2. It covers a total period of 20 years. This principle when put into application will stand thus:

Rs. 75—2—83
Rs. 83—2—91
Rs. 91—2—99 } Total period is 20 years.
Rs. 99—2—107
Rs. 107—2—115

Group A: (Corresponding to the highly skilled category).—Rs. 110-155. This scale contains five slabs of Rs. 9 each. Each slab has a duration of 3 years. The yearly increment is Rs. 3. It covers a total period of 15 years. The principle enunciated above when put into application will stand thus:

Rs. 110—3—119
Rs. 119—3—128
Rs. 128—3—137 } Total period is 15 years.
Rs. 137—3—146
Rs. 146—3—155

Regarding the framing of different scales and grades, I have presupposed that skill increases with experience and length of service. Within each slab the increment is annual and automatic. But the lift from one slab to the next higher within the same group has been made dependent upon the efficiency of the worker more or less. So while a worker is assured of automatic annual increments within the period of each slab, he will find at the end of each slab a bottle-neck. This bottle-neck will be allowed to be crossed by the management unless a worker is found inefficient. If a worker is held up for inefficiency, his case will come up for consideration again before a Board which will be comprised of the Manager, the engineer-in-Charge, the Chief Personnel Officer or the Labour Officer, as the case may be, at the end of each year till he qualifies himself for such lift. So the matter will no longer depend upon the reports of supervisors and foremen only. This also assures that the incentive will be kept up during the entire period of one's service. If one choose to be idle he can do so for only a short period of time, but at the end of the slab he will be held up by the management. So the management does not lose its control over the granting of lift from one slab to another, and the workmen also will feel happy to find their future resting not in the hands of any individual, but in the hands of a representative body. I would envisage a time when in this Board there will be representatives of workmen. But that is yet to come. But it will be up to the management to promote any workman from any group to any other higher group without making him pass through all the slabs because of the extra efficiency of the man concerned. The grades and scales given by me will not stand in the way in respect of that discretion of the management. These grades and scales of pay will not prejudice any better one in vogue in any company. The present grades and scales represent only a sort of minimum which is binding on the company in the interest of workmen. It must not in any way prejudice the existing pay or privileges of the workmen. Regarding the putting of the workmen into these grades, their present pay will be the guiding factor. Where the present pay is less than the minimum of a grade or a slab in a grade, that should be pulled up to the next higher pay point. Where the present pay is just below a particular slab in a particular group, that should be pulled up to the next higher point of pay, and then increments will follow. All this is not made retrospective as claimed by the Unions and the Federations, firstly, because that will place a heavy burden on the industry, and quite abruptly. That may upset the financial balance of the company. Secondly, the management cannot be made responsible for the long duration of this trial any more than the Unions. Quite a large number of Unions were added to the reference at a late stage under orders of Government when the case was already fairly ahead. So the matter had to be renewed and that accounts for the delay. So I cannot make my award retrospective from the date of the order of reference. I make it prospective from the date it becomes operative in law. For this salary, the pay month will compromise 26 working days of 8 hours each. The daily rate and hourly rate will be worked out accordingly.

15. Regarding the clerical section, I do not like to introduce much changes than what was given in the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal's Award. I do not, however, want to deprive them of the privileges which have been granted under this award to other workmen.

As mentioned before, the grades and scaes of the clerical section as also of the supervisory staff stand as folliws:

Clerical Section

(1) Non-matriculates—Rs. 60—3—90 (in 10 years).

(2) Matriculates or under-graduates —Rs. 65—3—95 EB—4—135 (in 20 years).

(3) Graduates—Rs. 75—4—115—EB—5—165 (in 20 years).

Supervisory staff.

Rs. 70—4—110—EB—5—160.

The scales of the clerks compare favourably with the scales given in the Third Jute Tribunal's Award or the last Cotton Textile Tribunal's Award The Unions claim that the grade of the non-matriculate should be abolished The Associations want to keep it. I think that the Association's version should be accepted because in the grade of non-matric there are many who are local people, and they can do the work of marking, counting and sundry other jobs which do not require much academic qualification. I cannot raise them to the matriculate group because they will have educational drawback. So, to abolish the non-matriculate grade will mean unemployment of a large section of such clerks. That is anything but desirable at the present moment. It will appear that the graduate clerks have been put on a par with the group B which represented the skilled category of workmen before, so far as their initial salary was concerned. In a way this answers the claims made by Shri Narayan Das Gupta regarding the operatives. He wanted to equalise the position of the operatives with that of the clerks.

Regarding the Subordinate Staff, I give on the lines indicated in the First Omnibus Engineering Award:

(1) Peons and bearers—Rs. 30—1—50. (2) Durwans—Rs. 35—1—55. (3) Drivers—Rs. 60—1—90. (4) Lorry Drivers—Rs. 65—1—95.	Efficiency bar in each case on the tenth year.

I do not accept that because the bulk of the workers is now recruited from the middle-class, their pay is entitled to be more than of the working class. That argument is hollow.

Issue No. 2: This issue relates to dearness allowance. Dearness allowance was a war-time measure introduced during the war just offset the rising prices of commodities and to mitigate the sufferings of the people resulting therefrom. It was supposed to be a temporary phase. As such, instead of increasing the basic wages, dearness allowance was brought into being keeping in with the rising prices in the country. But such hopes were belied in this respect. Even after the war, the prices did not come down. Rather they went up still higher. So, dearness allowance has come to stay. Even in paying provident fund contribution and overtime wages, dearness allowance is required to be included. In the definition of wages in the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended in 1956, dearness allowance forms a part thereof. There is move to incorporate a part of the dearness allowance into the texture of basic wages. That is still under consideration.

Dearness allowance depends on two factors, viz., (1) capacity of the particular industrial unit to pay and (2) it corresponds to the rise in the cost of living index. It is further established that dearness allowance must not be granted such as to fully neutralise the rise in the cost of living index. The reasons are: (1) It may as a result give fillip to the inflationary level of prices. (2) It may create a privileged class in the society in the shape of industrial workers. There is no reason why they should have a preferential treatment when all other people of the country feel the pinch of rising prices. On the basis of this the percentage of neutralisation has been weighed down to 60 per cent. or at the highest to 90 per cent., as in Bombay.

Next, the question that arises is how the dearness allowance is to be computed. The First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal found the then cost of living index at 310 points. The prices were expected to stabilise at 180 points. Up to 180 points no dearness allowance was payable. It was payable upon 130 points, i.e., the difference between 310 points and 180 points (310 points minus 180 points is equal to 130 points). According to the Central Pay Commission for every 5 point rise, rupee one was to be given as dearness allowance. On this calculation Rs. 26 would have been the measure of dearness allowance to be given by the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal. But on the basis of the Central Pay Commission's Report Rs. 25 was allowed as dearness allowance by the said Tribunal.

The Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal in 1950 found the cost of living index at 340 points, i.e., 30 points above the figure found by the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal. Re 1 being the measure for a rise of five points, the Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal added Rs. 6 to what was granted by the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal. So dearness allowance came to be Rs. 25 plus Rs. 6, i.e., Rs. 31 as the minimum under the award of the Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal. In 1957 the average cost of living index is 364 points (vide the Labour Commissioner's calculation). I take the year 1957 in preference to 1958, firstly, because 1958 is not yet over and, secondly, because in 1958 the prices of commodities have shot up like anything. There is a great agitation not only in West Bengal but also in other places in India urging upon the Government to control the prices. Government is already on the move, and an Ordinance is shortly expected in this respect, as we get in newspapers. So the present high prices may be taken to be a passing phase, and this increase in the cost of living index of 1958 should not be taken for the purpose of calculation of dearness allowance.

Now, this being the position, we get that there is a rise of 24 points (364 – 340 points - 24 points) since the award of the Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal in 1950. Rupee one being the measure for a rise of every five points, the dearness allowance that was granted by the Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal will be liable to be increased by Rs. 5 in a round figure at each pay range. So the quantum of dearness allowance will stand under my award at Rs. 36, Rs. 47, Rs. 53, Rs. 59 and Rs. 65 in place of Rs. 31, Rs. 42, Rs. 48, Rs. 54 and Rs. 60, respectively, as given under the award of the Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal for pay ranges varying from Rs. 50 to Rs. 250 each slab being of Rs. 50. Thus:

For the pay range up to Rs. 50 D.A. will be Rs. 36;

For the pay range from Rs. 51 to Rs. 100 D.A. will be Rs. 47;

For the pay range from Rs. 101 to Rs. 150 D.A. will be Rs. 53;

For the pay range from Rs. 151 to Rs. 200 D.A. will be Rs. 59;

For the pay range from Rs. 201 to Rs. 250 D.A. will be Rs. 65; and so on.

I have preferred to accept the Labour Commissioner's computation of the cost of living index because it is specifically of the "working class". The computation by the State Statistical Bureau is of the middle-class and the menial class done for a specific purpose. The figures given by the mercantile organ "Capital" are also not taken because they are for the middle-class people, and also becausee the basis of those figures has not been subjected to scrutiny. Shri A. Das Gupta, Tribunal, sitting in the Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal, said that he accepted the figures given in the "Capital" in his Bengal Chamber of Commerce Award because they were already in vogue among commercial firms who were parties to the said case. He confessed that he did not scrutinise the basis of those figures, but merely accepted them on admission of the parties. Shri S. N. Modak, Chairman of the Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal, discarded both these computations—I mean, the computation of the State Statistical Bureau and the computation of the "Capital". He also criticised adversely the statistics of the Labour Commissioner for the same not being published and the public not being given a chance to comment on it. Nowadays the statistics of the Labour Commissioner are published in the "Calcutta Gazette". The figures are collected by officers specially appointed for the purpose. The "working class cost" of living index which is pertinent here is within the special purview of the said department. So these figures are entitled to more credit than the figures given by the other two organs mentioned before, and are found to be dependable by this Tribunal. The Presidents of the Engineering Associations have also filed before the Tribunal a draft scheme of sliding scales of dearness allowance which is on the record, and I quote from the same below.

"Award	Cost of living index figures:		Rate
	1939 base.	1944 base.	Rs.
1948	310	118	25 p.m.
1950	340	130	31 p.m.

It will therefore be seen that the apparent basis of the 1950 award was Re. 1 increase for every 5 point rise above the cost of living index of 310 which was the basis of the 1948 award.

The average of the index for 1957 was 366.7 and by applying the same scheme of a Re. 1 increase for every 5 point rise, since the 1950 award based on the index of 340, the comparable rate of dearness allowance would be Rs. 36 per month."

So it is clear that even the companies do admit that the dearness allowance is liable to be increased by Rs. 5 for each slab because of the rise in the cost of living index from 1950 to 1957. The Unions press that the dearness allowance should be increased still further, but I am not prepared to accept it for reasons more than one, viz., (1) I have granted an increase of the basic wage by Rs. 5 from what was given in the First Omnibus Tribunal's Award in 1948, and (2) I have granted an incremental scale. Both these measures cast a financial burden on the companies. So I am not prepared to raise the dearness allowance beyond what is strictly justified by the rise in the cost of living index, as admitted by the companies and also justified by the Labour Commissioner's cost of living index. This will not fully neutralise the rise in the cost of living index, as it did not do in 1948 and in 1950.

Shri Narayan Das Gupta suggests a new scheme of dearness allowance. He contends that the companies are prone to hold up the workers just at the entrance of each slab, i.e., at the points of Rs. 50, Rs. 100, Rs. 150, etc., of the basic pay range to avoid increased payment. These are like so many bottle-necks. To obviate this he suggests that Rs. 10 should be each slab of the pay range in place of Rs. 50, and dearness allowance should be split up at each point of such pay range. I am not prepared to accept this suggestion, firstly, because there will no longer be such bottle-necks in the pay scales I have granted. Ample provisions have been made to get over them. Secondly, if the slab of Rs. 50 is split up into numerous small slabs of Rs. 10 in the pay range, that will cast a heavy financial burden on the companies which I do not like to place for reasons already given. Besides, the scales of dearness allowance which obtain in the State Government service for non-gazetted officers also provide for such a slab of Rs. 50 and not Rs. 10 in the basic pay range. That has been accepted by the employees without demur. If I turn to the system of dearness allowance followed in the jute and cotton textile industries, I find that there is no scheme of the pay range being split up into slabs of Rs. 10 each as is suggested by Shri Narayan Das Gupta.

The Federations and the Unions have all in one voice claimed the scales of dearness allowance as given by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. Those scales of dearness allowance have been pronounced by the Tribunals to be rather generous. Their scheme of dearness allowance provides for 90 per cent. of the basic pay as dearness allowance for the first Rs. 100; 50 per cent. on the second Rs. 100, and 22½ per cent. on the third Rs. 100 of the basic pay. The Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal rejected the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme for several reasons which are mainly (1) that it may be very good in the case of commercial firms where the number of employees is less than in engineering concerns, (2) that such a scheme of dearness allowance cannot be permitted in the engineering industry which is a competitive one and which has to hold its own against competitions both from abroad and from inter-States, and (3) that the clerks employed in commercial firms have duties varying considerably from those of the clerks employed in engineering firms. Shri Phani Ghosh of the Dock Mazdoor Sabha critised this observation of the Tribunal as unconvincing and at all events not impressive. But he could not show that the nature of duties of the clerks employed in commercial concerns is identical with that of the clerks in engineering firms. The clerks employed in commercial firms are required to possess high academical qualifications because they have to carry on correspondence with foreign companies. Many important transactions with foreign companies depend upon such correspondence for their success. They have to bring to bear on their work strong commonsense, ingenuity and mathematical efficiency. None of these form an essential part of qualification of a clerk in any engineering concern. The clerks in engineering concerns have to carry on routine duties to a great extent which are rather of simple and uncomplicated nature. If we go deeper into the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme of dearness allowance, we find more convincing reasons why this system of dearness allowance cannot be applied in the engineering concerns. In firms under the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the clerks mostly have a salary above Rs. 100 per month. Those few whose salary is below Rs. 100 per month, reach rupeees hundred within a few years (vide the award of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce). But the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scale of dearness allowance is halved when the pay scale is above Rs. 100, and quartered when it is above Rs. 200. So if an average is taken, the Bengal Chamber of Commerce does not stand to pay much on the score of dearness allowance, simply because it gives 90 per cent. of the basic pay as dearness allowance for the first hundred rupees of pay. In engineering concerns workers, and even the clerks, have salary mostly below Rs. 100 per month. The total personnel of engineering workers in West Bengal, according to the Federations, is more than 1½ lacs. So, if 90 per cent. of the basic pay is given as D.A. to such a huge number of people, the engineering industry will be on the brink of collapse by this burden alone. The financial burden I have already imposed does not permit me to increase the same further by the granting of such a scale of dearness allowance, whether it goes by the name of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce Scheme or by any other name. The Unions claimed, without success, such scales of dearness allowance before the Major Jute and the Cotton Textile Tribunals. So, I reject the claim on this score.

It is contended by some of the companies that where the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scales are already in vogue, the increase in the basic wage scale under the present award should not be given effect to. Rather, the increased scale of pay will be liable to be reduced by the excess amount by which the present scale of dearness allowance falls short of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scale of dearness allowance. The contention is that the total emolument should be considered. It is further contended that the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scale of dearness allowance has been found not to constitute a service condition by the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. So there is no point in the Union's contention that the existing privilege of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scale of dearness allowance is not liable to be reduced. I think, there is some misconception clinging round this point. As the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed that though there is a convention among the Tribunals not to disturb the existing conditions, still there can be no inflexible rule on the point. The existing condition can be reduced. The only ban is that the pay can never be reduced below what is called the "minimum wage". Now, the Tribunals are reluctant to disturb the existing conditions not because they are sacrosanct but because it is the Union who claims an improvement of the existing conditions. The dispute is not, what should be the existing condition, but is rather whether the existing condition should be improved upon. So, in answer to the Union's demand if the Tribunal reduces the existing conditions, it goes beyond its jurisdiction as limited by the order of reference. Here it is not mooted before me whether the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scales where they are granted are liable to be reduced in altered circumstances. So the question is also not before me whether as a result of the present award on dearness allowance the basic pay that I have granted will be liable to be correspondingly reduced. So I refrain from deciding that question in the present case. All that I say, as was also said by the Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal, is that where the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scale of dearness allowance is in vogue, it should be allowed to continue but the increased basic pay, if any, is not per se reduced. So, my award about dearness allowance stands independent of what is awarded in respect of the separate issue relating to basic pay.

As the basic pay depends not merely on the rise in the cost of living index, but also on the capacity of the concern to pay, I thing it worthwhile to mention again that barring a few companies "incapacity to pay" has not been pleaded specifically before me. Where it is pleaded, it is only difficulties have been enumerated. Besides, from the Associations' computation of dearness allowance on the basis of the rise in the cost of living index I am inclined to hold that they do not grudge giving of this increased dearness allowance by the rise in the cost of living index This is my award about dearness allowance. I do not make it restrospective for the same reasons for which I have refused retrospective effect to the increased basic wage. This will be effective from the date of operation of the award. I further direct that the dearness allowance will be liable to be increased or decreased on the basis of Re. 1 for every five points in case of rise and fall of the cost of living index. The position will be reviewed at the end of each financial year. I do not like to allow any review in the middle of the year as is suggested by the companies because I find a rise generally of the cost of living index in the first and the second part of the year while I notice downward trend in the middle.

The dearness allowance will be the same for all classes and categories of workmen, be he an operative, or a clerk or subordinate staff. I endorse this view of the Second Omnibus Engineering Tribunal subject to the same proviso that where any other more generous scheme is already in force, the same will not be prejudicially affected by the result of the present award.

Before this award is concluded, it remains to be answered whether the marginal units who are already hard hit by trading reasons will be subjected to this new burden of increased basic pay and dearness allowance and this incremental scale. My first answer will be that I am averse to make any differential treatment in respect of any trading unit which is a party to this industry-wise Tribunal and that for the following among other reasons: (1) Disparity in wage will be the result. That may give rise to discontent already noticed. (2) Prices of commodities manufactured, being linked up with wage, will be different. (3) Low wages in one will push up sales in one at the cost of another and that there will be an unhealthy competition among the employers. But all these considerations cease to be important when the very existence of the trading unit is at stake. That is why the "capacity to pay" is so essential in granting dearness allowance and also fair wage. So I am bound to make a differential treatment concerning companies which cannot bear a heavy financial burden. I award as below.

There will be no incremental scale in the case of the following companies till such time when they are in a better financial position to make good profits, viz.:—

(1) Messrs. British India Electric Construction Co. Ltd.

(2) Messrs. Bharat Battery Manufacturing Co. Private Ltd.

(3) Messrs. Gobinda Sheet Metal Works and Foundry.

(4) Messrs. J. Stone & Co. India Private Ltd.

(5) Messrs. Pioneer Iron & Steel Corpn.

The increased dearness allowance and the increased initial basic pay of different groups of workmen will be binding on all companies subject, of course, to any legally binding agreement entered into meanwhile, barring those which have already gone out of the reference as noticed in my interim awards which are given as per the appendices to this award. The interim awards in the appendices form part and parcel of my present award wherein they all merge.

APPENDIX I

[The first interim award about interim relief prayed for in the Major Engineering Tribunal, West Bengal, under Government order No. 5441-I.R./D/10L-116-56, dated 20th December 1956.]

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:
Shri G. PALIT, Judge, Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

INTERIM AWARD

Order No. 17, dated 12-11-57

The application for interim relief has been made and pressed by the workmen of

(1) Messrs. Metal Box Co. of India Ltd., B/2 Hide Road Extension, Kidderpore, Calcutta.

(2) Engineering Mazdoor Sabha, 4 Nityadhan Mukherjee Road, Howrah.

(3) National Union of Engineering Workers.

(4) Burn's Employees' Union, 8 Nityadhan Mukherjee Road, Howrah.

(5) Federation of Metal & Engineering Workers' Union.

(6) Hindusthan Development Corporation Engineering Mazdoor Union, 24 Bondel Road, Calcutta.

(7) Messrs. Gramophone Welfare Workers' Union, 82 Shambazar Street, Calcutta-4.

The prayer is resisted by the employers. Those Unions which have entered into agreement with the employers did not join in this prayer for interim relief.

Some Unions have claimed by way of interim relief some increment in the basic wage of the workmen in question while mostly others have claimed an increment in the dearness allowance on a flat scale.

Their contention is that the prices of commodities have steadily risen higher and higher. At the present moment it is far higher than what it was during the 1st and the 2nd Major Engineering Tribunal. As a result of this, the cost of living index shows a marked rise above that at the time of the previous Engineering Tribunals. As dearness allowance is dependent on the cost of living index primarily and on the capacity of the industry to pay, the Unions contend that their claim for increase in dearness allowance is almost irresistible. This interim relief is prayed for in the shape of a moiety of the total relief to come. As the actual hearing may still be delayed, such interim relief will mitigate the suffering of the workmen.

The employers resist this claim for interim relief, firstly, on the ground that this apparent prosperity of the Engineering industry due to the impact of the Second Five-Year Plan is not lasting. It is short-lived like the hectic flush. Secondly, the Unions were responsible for the delay being late comers on the scene; thirdly, that the hearing is not far distant.

Weighing the matter very cautiously and in all its bearings, I find that I am unable to grant the interim relief at the present stage and that for the following among other reasons. These are, viz., (1) I have given out that the hearing will be taken up in the last week of January next. This is not very remote. In the meantime the parties have been peremptorily asked to finish all interlocutary matters. (2) I am not prepared to prejudge the issue about dearness allowance. Of course, there is no gainsaying that the cost of living index has considerably risen from what it was before at the time of the previous Tribunals, but this is not the only criterion. The capacity to pay of the industry is to be judged. That will require evidence to be gone into about the financial soundness of the concerns. (3) About the interim relief on the score of basic wages the position is still worse. It will depend on a variety of factors of far reaching importance. Any prima facie finding and relief based on it will be the reverse of justice and will merely complicate matters. (4) There is mutual recrimination between the parties about the delay in the preliminary stages. No doubt, the Unions were brought on the scene rather late by Government order. But the Unions cannot be held answerable for that. It was found expedient by Government to do so. The clerical section as such was also put out of the adjudication. That also was based apparently on the question of expediency. So it is no use finding fault with one another and crying over spilt milk. It is in the interest of both parties to see that the past laches, if any, be made good by greater earnestness at the present moment and to help the Tribunal to bring this rather stupendous task to an early conclusion.

The interim relief prayer accordingly stands rejected.

Judge, Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

APPENDIX II

[The second interim award of the Fifth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, under Government order No. 5444-I.R./D/10L-116/56, dated 20th December 1956.]

PRESENT :

SHRI G. PALIT, Chairman, Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

AWARD

The preliminary objections which have been raised as matters of law by different Unions may resolve themselves under two broad heads, viz:—

(1) Concerning agreements which are either bipartite or tripartite, I mean, between employers and employees, or between them and in presence of the Conciliation Officer during conciliation proceedings.

(2) Awards which are operative and subsisting or, in other words, which have not been terminated in pursuance of the Industrial Disputes Act. The stand taken up by the companies regarding these two objections is that where the agreement is operatives it is not open to the parties to repudiate it. They will be estopped in law from doing so. So the Tribunal is not competent to override the said agreements and to impose obligations upon the parties contrary to what are contained in those agreements. Regarding the awards which subsisting, the stand of the companies is virtually similar in nature. As awards impose binding obligations on the parties concerned, it is not open to the Tribunal to impose on the them other obligations contrary thereto. If it so does, the position will be anomalous. There will be confusion, and industrial peace will be threatened. That is never permissible.

The stand taken up by the Unions, on the other hand, is just the opposite. It is contended by Shri Acharya Choudhuri that the omnibus reference being an industrywise measure, practically in effect terminates all subsisting awards of Tribunals, and agreements entered into between the parties. Even if the awards have not been terminated specifically by notice as contemplated in the Industrial Disputes Act, still the very fact of such a major reference impliedly makes such awards nugatory and robs them of their binding effect. As Government can shorten or lengthen the operation of an award under the Industrial Disputes Act, it is also competent to terminate an award. The major reference in a way effects such termination.

Shri D. L. Sen Gupta argues that the Tribunal is competent to set aside any agreement between the parties and supplant the same by a new one considered by it reasonable and fair in the circumstances. In that view of the matter, the Tribunal's jurisdiction is unfettered. It is competent to override such agreements and, as a matter of that the awards also which are binding on the parties concerned.

Turning to the legal position, my decision is that the Tribunal cannot adjudicate upon the same matter as had been made the subject-matter of valid agreements between the parties even though it has been asked to do so by the Government in an omnibus reference. The reasons are more than one. Of course, it is open to the Tribunal to reverse any concluded contract between the parties if it finds that it runs counter to social justice or, in other words, if it results in the exploitation of labour. This jurisdiction of the Tribunal was accepted by the Federal Court of India, and later on by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India. The case of Western Automobile Association and some other cases may be referred to in this connection. But now the law been changed regarding this matter. Under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, as amended in 1956, a settlement arrived at by an agreement between employer and workmen otherwise than in course of conciliation proceeding shall be compulsorily binding on the parties to the agreement [vide section 18(1) of the Amended Act]. This has come into effect from 10th March 1957. Previously under section 18(1) of the Act a settlement arrived at in the course of conciliation proceedings or an award which has become enforceable was only binding on the parties to the dispute. So it is clear that even a bipartite agreement, not to speak of any settlement reached in the conciliation proceeding, or an enforceable award, has been made legally binding on the parties. So in law certain obligations have already been cast on the parties to the dispute regarding certain matters. So long as the binding effect subsists, can the Tribunal or as a matter of that any other legally constituted body impose any contrary obligation touching the same matter? My answer would be an emphatic "no". If this is permitted the parties will be in a quandary as to which direction they will follow. The aim of law can never be to put the parties in such an embarrassing position touching their legal obligations. The intention of the legislature can also never be construed in that manner. When it makes a bipartite agreement between the employer and the employees legally operative, it places such a contract on the same footing as that of a legal settlement arrived at in a conciliation proceeding or under an enforceable award. It will not do to lose sight of the fact that the trend of Industrial Law is to enable the parties to settle their matter in dispute inter se amicably as much as possible. Compulsory adjudication should never be the remedy in the first instance. It should be resorted to only when attempts at conciliation have failed. So a sanctity should also attach to a bipartite agreement. So I must hold that the tripartite as well as bipartite agreements which have been put in evidence will not be again adjudicated upon in the present case, so far they relate to the dispute mooted before me. So those employers and employees who have reached such a settlement will drop out of the contest.

Regarding the awards, I have already made the position clear. Unless they are terminated under section 19 of the Act, they are subsisting and operating. Of course, Government can extend the period of operation of an award or reduce it, but even then such power is not unqualified as is clear from section 19 of the Act. There must be a material change in the circumstances on which such alteration would be justified. So it is clear that Government's power in this respect is not an unfettered one. It is hedged round with lots of restrictions. Now, if the express power of Government in this respect is so much fettered, can it be asked with any amount of force that the very reference being an industrywise one has per se impliedly terminated all subsisting awards? That is unthinkable, and such position can never be maintained in law. So, Shri Acharyya's argument in this respect as much as in respect of termination of agreement is not acceptable. It may be asked, and as a matter of fact it has been suggested, that bipartite agreements have come to be legally binding only with effect from 10th March 1957. The present reference was originally made on 20th December 1956. At that time the Tribunal was competent to supplant agreements between the parties by its awards. If that jurisdiction was there at the time of the reference, can that jurisdiction be taken away by any change in the law subsequently? That argument, no doubt, carries some force. But when there is the change or alteration in the substantive law, as in the present case, under section 18(1) of the Act, it will affect all pending proceedings unless the said proceedings are safeguarded by any saving clause. In the present case such saving clause regarding this matter is wanting. Besides, if I ignore such bipartite agreements which have become legally binding with effect from 10th March 1957, my decision will be contrary to the law. That can never be. So the argument in this respect fails.

I may also say a word about the awards which are subsisting and operative. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Howrah Burns Ltd. has stated that though the principle of res judicata cannot be extended per se to cover a case under the Industrial Law, still its salutary character should be given proper effect to. Finality of litigation if not the end of a dispute in Industrial Law, as in Civil Law, should, however, be adhered to till there is a change of circumstances requiring its revision. Had there been a change of circumstances, the parties would themselves have abrogated the contract. But in the present case no such abrogation has taken place. That may incline me to think that the change of circumstances since those agreements or awards has not come to exist. So in that view of the matter also the awards and the settlements should not be disturbed.

Regarding the objection on the score of estoppel raised against the Unions, I should say that it does not hould much water. Of course, under a valid contract the parties cannot be permitted to impugn the said contract in the absence of vitiating factors such as fraud, misrepresentation, duress, etc. But in the present case such an argument is off the mark because it is not the parties who have brought this reference. It is a third party, viz., the Government which has made this order of reference. Governmnt was nowhere a party. Besides, Government has done it in exercise of power conferred by the statute. It is the established law that there can be no estoppel against the statute. So the contention on the score of estoppel fails.

There is altogether a different objection raised by Shri Phani Ghosh regarding the legal validity of the order of corrigendum, dated 7th June 1957. He challenges it on the ground that Government is not competent to make the corrigendum as it purports to have done. Correction does not mean anything more than making a clerical change. But here certain parties are in fact eliminated from the scope of adjudication as a result of correction embodied in the corrigendum. It is also said that this is not an amendment because no improvement has been effected by it. It amounts to cancellation or rather withdrawal, may be partial, of the reference concerning certain sections of employees originally impleaded. This is said to be illegal and in excess of Government's power. I, of course, agree that the word "correction" used in the said corrigendum has not been a happy one. The proper wordings should have been "in modification of the previous order". I also admit that as a result of the said change, the Head Office people who were originally within the scope of the adjudication have been excluded from it. But because of that the said corrigendum amounts to cancellation or withdrawal of the order of reference, at least partially, I am unable to agree. The original order of reference has not been cancelled or withdrawn,—neither wholly nor partially. I find no force in the argument that an amendment must necessarily result in improvement. "Amendment" means a change by way of modification. That may be by addition of parties or even by striking out of parties. Under section 21 of the General Clauses Act, the authority which is competent to pass an order has also the inherent power to amend, vary or rescind the said order. So it cannot be said that Government has no power to amend or modify its order after it has made the order of reference. The learned representative of the Union Shri Ghosh has referred to the case decided by my brother Shri S. C. Sen Gupta between J. S. Cohen & Co. and Santosh Kumar Bhattacharyya (L.L.J., Vol. II, page 205, 1956). But the facts there are distinguishable from the present one. That was a case which was originally an "individual dispute". Later on it was sought to be converted into a collective dispute by an amended order of reference. So the said amendment was held to be not competent to eradicate the inherent lacuna in the original order of reference. I have no quarrel with such proposition of law. But in the present case the workmen were impleaded generally in the order of reference. But Government might have seen the mistake arising from it. In the previous two Omnibus Tribunals only the operatives in the factory were impleaded. After the lapse of these ten years Government thought fit to make another omnibus reference. But in so doing it described the dispute as between engineering firms and their workmen, subject to certain qualification. It seems to be that Government had in mind only the operatives, and not all workmen. Through inadvertence a generic term was used in place of the special term denoting a particular class of workmen. Government later on wanted to make a correction of this error. I see no reason why Government should be unable to make the object of reference explicit by an amendment of the same. It is not supplanting the original order of reference by a fresh one, as was the case decided by the Patna High Court relating to Bata Shoe Company Ltd., reported in 1956 L.L.J., Vol. II, page 358. In that case when the Tribunal refused to implead one Union and proceeded with the case, and the trial was almost concluded, Government superseded the original reference and made a fresh one. So, that was a case of withdrawal of the original reference and making a fresh one.

In view of the above principles, I find that in the result the following changes will occur regarding certain companies named below and in the manner indicated there:

(1) Messrs. Greaves Cotton and Cromption Parkinson Private Ltd., 4 Mission Row Extension, Calcutta-1 (serial No. 17 of the schedule II).—There has been a joint petition filed by the company and the workmen requesting the Tribunal to drop the present dispute as there is an operative award still subsisting relating to them concerning the wages and dearness allowance. That being the position, the above firm is deleted from the order of reference and it goes out of contest.

(2) Messrs. Indian Aluminium Co. Ltd., Grand Trunk Road, North Belur (serial No. 22 of the schedule II).—There is a bipartite agreement, dated 31st August 1956, entered into between the parties which is operative for five years, i.e., up to 31st August 1961. The Union relies on paragraph 78 of the said agreement. But it does not stand the Union in good stead. It does not make the agreement about wages and dearness allowance nugatory. All that it says is that if any provision is made unenforceable because of certain legal difficulties, only that provision will be invalid. The other provisions will not be prejudicially affected. Clause 75 of the said agreement specifically excludes and demand for any increase of allowance or financial benefit or any demand for increase in wages. So the agreement ousts the present reference regarding wages and dearness allowance. So this firm is also deleted from the order of reference and drops out of the contest.

(3) Messrs. Maya Engineering Works Private Ltd., 23 Russa Road, Calcutta (serial No. 3 of the schedule IIA).—There appears to be an agreement, dated 24th August 1956. This was renewed on 3rd June 1957. Its period was extended to 31st December 1959. This agreement relates to wages and dearness allowance. So this firm also is deleted and drops out of the contest. Shri Pathak has remarked that the first and the second agreements related to only production bonus. That is no doubt true. Even then there is the third agreement which is operative. So the position regarding the agreement remains unaltered.

(4) Messrs Asbestos Cement Private Ltd., Taratolla Road, Garden Reach, Calcutta (serial No. 2 of the schedule II).—There is a tripartite agreement, dated 2nd February 1956, and it is operative till 28th February 1959. As the said agreement is binding on the parties concerned, and as it relates to wages and dearness allowance, this firm is ordered to be deleted from the present reference, and it goes out of the contest.

(5) Messrs. East India Rubber Works Ltd., 3 Stark Road, Lillooah, Howrah (serial No. 8 of the schedule IIA).—There is an award, dated 5th July 1956. The parties have agreed to maintain the existing scales and rates of wages or other wages. There has been no notice to terminate the said award. So the said award is still operative under section 19, clause 6 of the amended Industrial Disputes Act. That being so, the present reference cannot be valid with regard to the said company, as I have already held. It is further contended that this being a rubber works does not come under the category of engineering firms. But this is only a debatable point. Such a contention cannot be raised after the order of reference has been made. The Tribunal would be travelling beyond its ambit of power if it embarks upon the question whether any particular engineering firm described as such in the order of reference is really so or not. About the existence of dispute Government says the last word under the amended section. So that contention does not go far enough. I have alerady held that the award still holds the field and excludes the operation of the present reference. So this firm is deleted and it goes out of the contest.

(6) Messrs. Aluminium Corporation of India Ltd., Jaykaynagar, Asansol (serial No. 1 of the schedule IIA).—There is an award given by this Tribunal, published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated 19th December 1957, at page 4528. In the said adjudication there was an issue about revision of grading of all categories of workers. The Tribunal observed at page 4535 "So on the evidence before me, I am unable to classify the job and revise the existing grades. That will upset the equilibrium of the company without doing any real good to the workers. I would rather call upon the company and the Union to lay their heads together and classify the jobs in different groups and have the pay fixed groupwise. After that is done, if the matter is placed before the Tribunal it will then be in a position to see how far the said classification and rates and grades are equitable and fair, and to what extent interference is necessary for any modification. But taking the matters as they are, I am unable to give any direction or do the revision of the existing grades". The Union contends that as this award does not effect any revision of grades, the present Tribunal will be competent to decide it when the matter has been referred to it again. I am unable to accede to this contention. Unless the said award terminates or is terminated, Government is not competent to make any reference and the Tribunal is not competent to make any fresh decision. To that extent such action will be ultra vires. It was held by Mr. Justice G. D. Khosla of the Punjab High Court in the case of British India Corporation Ltd. versus Industrial Tribunal, Punjab, reported in the "Indian Factories Journal", 1st January 1958 at page 352 "So long as a previous award is in force in respect of certain industrial disputes, these disputes cannot be referred afresh to the Industrial Tribunal by merely changing the phraseology of the disputes and the Tribunal will not have jurisdiction to entertain the fresh reference in respect of these matters of dispute". This decision is on the same line as the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Burn & Co. versus their employees (1956 II, F.J.R., page 217). So this Company drops out of the case so far as the wages issue is concerned.

(7) Messrs. Reckitt Colman of India Ltd., 41 Chowringhee Road, Calcutta-16 (serial No. 37 of the schedule II).—In the case of this company a tripartite agreement for five years has been filed. It will expire after 30th November 1961. But in the said agreement, out of the three factories, the Asansol factory does not figure. So the dispute will be confined in toto to the Asansol factory. The agreement does not mention D.A. specifically. So the dispute about D.A. of all the workmen in the three factories will stand good in the present adjudication.

(8) Messrs. Bharat Battery Manufacturing Co. Private Ltd., 56 Bondel Road, Calcutta (serial No. 5 of the schedule IIA).—There is an agreement, dated 1st July 1952. This agreement appears to have been terminated on 9th July 1954 by a notice. There is another agreement, dated 9th March 1956, which again has been terminated by a notice on 11th January 1957. So at the present moment there is no valid agreement which ousts the firm from the present reference. So the firm will stand in the present adjudication.

(9) Messrs. Bengal Electic Lamp Works Ltd., 7 Old Court House Street, Calcutta (serial No. 9 of the schedule IIA).—The only contention raised by the company in support of its exclusion from the order of reference is that the Federation of the Union which represents the workmen is not a registered one. But I find that this Federation is a registered one. So the contention of the company fails. This firm has been rightly included in the present reference, and it remains so included.

(10) Messrs. Gramophone Company Ltd., 33 Jessore Road, Dum Dum, Calcutta-28 (serial No. 15 of the schedule II).—There is an award in respect of this company, dated 19th January 1956. The said award decided that the basic wages were quite fair in the financial circumstances of the Company. That award has not been terminated. So the said award excludes the company from the present order of reference, so far as basic wages are concerned. But the dearness allowance was not decided by that award. So that remains to be adjudicated upon in the present reference.

(11) Messrs. India Machinery Co. Ltd., 29 Strand Road, Calcutta (serial No. 8 of the schedule I).—There is an agreement here, dated 11th February 1957, which has been made binding for two years. But it does not exclude the company from the present reference. In the said agreement I find that the adjudication about wages and D.A. has been kept specifically open. So the Tribunal is free to decide it. In the circumstances the reference regarding this firm stands.

(12) Messrs. Jessop & Co. Ltd., 63 Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta-1 (serial No. 28 of the schedule II).—Here the clerical staff want to be exempted from the present order of reference. It is contended by the Staff Union that the clerical staff and the sub-staff were previously exempted in the two other Major Engineering Tribunals. It has drawn my attention to the order-sheet of the Major Engineering Tribunal presided over by Shri S. N. Modak and Shri A. Das Gupta, as per the order No. 4, dated 13th May 1950. The said order runs thus:—

> "Jessop Company Ltd. (serial No. 14) in their letter No. S.S.H.S., dated 12th May 1950, informs the Tribunal that they have no objection if the employees are exempted from the scope of adjudication as they were exempted from the Major Engineering Tribunal previously. The Union in its written statement also prays for exemption from the scope of adjudication. This is allowed."

Now, it is the contention of the management that it does not like to exempt the clerical staff and the sub-staff from the scope of the present reference though previously they might have agreed to exempt them in the other two major Tribunals. I do not see how, when a particular party before a Tribunal wants its exemption, the Tribunal can still thrust its award upon it, unless the dispute has been raised against the said party. For instance, if the management impleads a section of its workmen under section 33, it will not do for the said workers to plead that they want to be exempted because the case is against them. But in the present case the position is not the same. Government apprehended a dispute or was of opinion that a dispute existed between the employer and the employees, and so it has made the reference. Now, if the Union says that it does not want its benefit, and disclaims any such contention, can the reference still hold it in? That would be preposterous. So there can be no objection to the exemption of the clerical staff and the sub-staff from the present adjudication. If they have in mind to have the benefit of the Head Office staff in the adjudication pending before the other Tribunal, Shri Gan, where they have not been specifically impleaded, there can be no point to bind it down to the present Tribunal for this reason. If they fear that they will not have any benefit in the present adjudication, and if they like to retire, how can they be prevented? So I hold that the sections of workmen will be exempted from the present reference as prayed for.

(13) Messrs. Remington Rand of India Ltd., 3 Council House Street, Calcutta-1 (serial No. 7 of the schedule IIA).—There is an agreement, dated 28th September 1953, concerning wages and dearness allowance of the Head Office staff. The servicing men want to be exempted from the present adjudication because they claim to be included in the said agreement. They fear that as they do manual work of servicing, they might be mistaken for factory workers, and might be put in the present adjudication. As I have already held, I can have no objection to any particular section of workers going out of the present adjudication if it so desires. The award can never be thrust upon unwilling shoulders of workmen for whose benefit it is given. So the servicing staff in this unit will be excluded from the present adjudication. The order of reference holds good in respect of the factory workers.

The learned Counsl Shri S. K. Acharyya contends that the Tribunal may pass an award even in cases of firms where there are operative awards subsisting with this qualification that the award will come to operate after the previous awards run out or are terminated. His reason is that because it is an industrywise award, it is likely to consider the interest of workmen in the general background of the industry which is not taken into the reckoning in the case of an individual unit. I do not deny that the Tribunal deciding an industrywise dispute is in a better position to assess the paying capacity of the industry than in case of dealing with an individual unit. But that does not mean that such a Tribunal can override the existing award or can give a fresh one while one is already existing. I have cited the ruling of the Punjab High Court that the Tribunal does not have any such jurisdiction any more than the Government in making a fresh reference. When that jurisdiction is wanting, the question of giving an award to be kept in abeyance for the time being does not arise. So this contention also fails.

APPENDIX III

[The third interim award of the Fifth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, under Government order No. 5441-I.R./D/10L-116/56, dated 20th December 1956.]

PRESENT:

SHRI G. PALIT, Chairman, Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

AWARD

A preliminary legal objection has been filed by National Carbon Company (India) Limited (serial No. 33 to the schedule II of the Government order of reference, dated 20th December 1956) contending that the present Tribunal by its award, dated 16th August 1955, disposed of the issue about "increment in rates and grades", and that it granted a round sum of 15 per cent. increment in all rates, whether hourly rates, daily rates or piece rates or monthly rates. This award was confirmed by the Labour Appellate Tribunal by its decision, dated 27th January 1956. The company filed an objection before the Hon'ble High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The matter ended there in a settlement. The Hon'ble High Court recorded the said settlement and granted 15 per cent. increment in the time rate from 28th February 1956, and piece rates were ordered to be varied or altered to be consistent with or in consonance with this increment in the time rate. This agreement, however, was without prejudice to the contentions of the parties for any future period. The Union accordingly accepted this increment in rates. So the contention in the present case is that the Tribunal will drop the issue about "wages, grades and scales of pay" so far as this Company is concerned.

The Union contends that the said decision of the Hon'ble High Court does not preclude any future contention about this wage and grade matter. There is some truth in this contention. But there is nothing to show that the said agreement has come to an end by the efflux of time or by the overt act of the parties terminating the agreement. So I accept the contention of the company and drop the issue about wages, grades and scales of pay, so far as this company is concerned in the present adjudication because the aforesaid agreement still binds the parties.

2. The company, Messrs. Reckitt Colman of India Ltd. (serial No. 37 to the schedule II of the order of reference) contend that the Tribunal by its order No. 31, dated 6th March 1958 (first interim award in respect of this reference), confined the scope of the dispute in the present case only to Asansol factory. The Tribunal has found that the agreement in question which is operative till 30th November 1961 does not mention dearness allowance specifically. So the dispute about dearness allowance of all workmen in the three factories was found to be good in the present adjudication. The Company challenges the correctness of the said finding because, it contends, in the said agreement the Union by implication waived the claim of dearness allowance. So it cannot reagitate it here. I am unable to accept this version of the Company for two reasons, viz., (1) if the Company was not satisfied with my decision as per the order No. 31 (first interim award), dated 6th March 1958, the proper course would have been to prefer an appeal against the said preliminary decision. The Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), since amended, does not make any provision for review of the decision of the Tribunal. So the Tribunal, even if it would, could not revise its decision already given after hearing the parties. (2) The objection seems to be misconceived, firstly, because in the agreement there is no specific determination of dearness allowance. The claim was there but it was eventually dropped. This, at most, may preclude the contention in the shape of an estoppel. But the question of estoppel does not arise here. It is not the Union of workmen who has initiated the present dispute underlying the reference. The reference has been made by the Government. Government is competent to make a reference under the statute if it finds it expedient. So, where is the estoppel operative? Government has the statutory power to make a reference. There can be no estoppel against the statute. So my finding already recorded that the dispute about D.A. of all the workmen in the three factories of the company stands good is reinterated, and they are rightly included in the present adjudication. So the contention of the Company is turned down in this respect.

G. PALIT,

Chairman, Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

A

BILL

to amend the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1951.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1951 for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter appearing; West Ben. Act XXXIII of 1951.

It is hereby enacted in the Ninth Year of the Republic of India, by the Legislature of West Bengal, as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

"Temporary arrangement when the Commissioner is unable to act.

22A. (1) If the State Government be of the opinion that—

(a) for any reason the Commissioner is unable to act, or

(b) circumstances exist which render it difficult for him to act, the State Government may, for the purpose of ensuring that the municipal administration of Calcutta does not suffer, by order notified in the Official Gazette, appoint a person to be designated as the Chief Executive Officer to exercise the powers and discharge the functions and duties of the Commissioner for such period as may be specified in the order and the person so appointed shall, for all purposes, be deemed to be the Commissioner.

West Ben. Ord. V of 1958.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 21 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1951, provides for the appointment of an officiating Commissioner when the Commissioner is granted leave and section 22 provides for the appointment of an officiating Commissioner in the event of the death, resignation or removal of the Commissioner. Apart from any of the contingencies contemplated by sections 21 and 22, situations may arise when a Commissioner is unable to act or it becomes difficult for him to act on account of circumstances beyond his control, and in such emergent situations it would be necessary immediately to provide for the municipal administration to be carried on by the appointment of a person who may duly exercise the powers and discharge the duties and functions of a Commissioner. The Bill makes provisions accordingly.

NOTIFICATION

No. 27701L. — 3rd December, 1958. — The Governor having been pleased to order, under rule 48 of the West Bengal Legislative Assembly Procedure Rules, the publication of the following Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons which accompanies it, in the Calcutta Gazette the Bill and the Statement of Objects and Reasons are accordingly hereby published for general information:—

THE CALCUTTA THIKA TENANCY (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1958.

A

to amend the Calcutta Thika Tenancy Act, 1949.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Calcutta Thika Tenancy Act, 1949, for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter appearing; West Ben. Act II of 1949.

It is hereby enacted in the Ninth Year of the Republic of India, by the Legislature of West Bengal, as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Calcutta Thika Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1958.

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

Amendment of section 17 of West Ben. Act II of 1949.

2. In section 17 of the Calcutta Thika Tenancy Act, 1949 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act),—

(i) in clause (b) of sub-section (1), the words "together with the cost of transmission by postal money order of such money to the landlord" shall be omitted; and

(ii) after sub-section (1), the following sub-section shall be inserted, namely:—

"(1a) The application referred to in sub-section (1) shall be accompanied by a copy thereof along with the prescribed fee for sending such copy to the landlord by registered post with acknowledgement due.".

The Calcutta Thika Tenancy (Amendment) Bill, 1958.

(Clauses 3—5.)

Substitution of new section for section 20.

3. For section 20 of the said Act, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"Disposal of rent deposited under section 17.

"20. On any deposit being made under section 17, the Controller shall send in the prescribed manner the copy of the application to the landlord and the amount lying in deposit may, in such manner as may be prescribed, be withdrawn by the landlord on application made in that behalf and if such amount is not withdrawn before the expiration of three years from the date of deposit, it may, in the absence of any order of a Civil Court to the contrary, be repaid to the tenant on his application and on his returning the receipt given by the Controller under section 19:

Provided that before passing any order for repayment of the amount to the tenant the Controller shall give a notice to the landlord by registered post at the last known address of such landlord and shall also publish the notice in his office and shall not pass any order for repayment until after the expiry of thirty days from the date of issue of such notice by post. The cost of transmission by post of such notice shall be deducted from the amount in deposit in accordance with such procedure as may be prescribed.".

Insertion of new section 32A.

4. After section 32 of the said Act, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"Thika tenant may get supply of electricity to the holding and structures thereon without the permission of the landlord.

"32A. (1) A thika tenant desiring to get supply of electricity from a licensee, as defined in clause (h) of section 2 of the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, may, if the landlord refuses or withholds his consent to such supply, apply to the Controller, setting out the scheme for such supply. IX of 1910.

(2) On receipt of such application the Controller may, after giving the landlord an opportunity of being heard, permit the thika tenant to get the supply in accordance with the scheme set out in the thika tenant's application or in accordance with any modified scheme.

(3) On such permission being given, the landlord shall be deemed, notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, to have given the requisite consent under sub-section (2) of section 12 of the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, and the licensee shall not be liable to the landlord for trespass for steps taken for supply of electricity according to the said permission.".

Amendment of section 34.

5. In sub-section (2) of section 34 of the said Act,—

(1) for clause (h) the following clause shall be substituted, namely:—

"(h) the manner of sending the copy of the application to the landlord, and of withdrawal by the landlord of the amount in deposit, referred to in section 20 and the procedure for deducting from the amount in deposit the cost of transmission by post of the notice to the landlord, referred to in the proviso to section 20;"; and

(2) after clause (n) the following clause shall be added, namely:—

"(o) any other matter which is required to be or may be prescribed.".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 20 of the Calcutta Thika Tenancy Act, 1949 (West Bengal Act 11 of 1949) requires that the rent deposited with the Controller by a thika tenant under section 17 should be forwarded to the landlord by the Controller by postal money order. This is causing difficulty as the landlords are refusing to accept the money so forwarded.

Difficulty has also arisen with regard to supply of electricity to a thika tenant. Supply of electricity to such a tenant requires previous consent of the owner of the land which is often refused.

The Bill has been framed with the object of removing the above difficulties.

BIMAL CHANDRA SINHA,
Member-in-charge.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Standards of Weights and Measures Act, 1956 (89 of 1956), which seeks to establish standards of weights and measures based on the metric system for the entire country, has been brought into force by the Government of India to a limited extent simultaneously all over India with effect from 1st October, 1958.

2. Further, in the absence of any Standards of Weights and Measures Act, and an Enforcement Organisation therefor in this State, there remains the constant risk of deception in all transactions for trade or commerce, especially of the credulous and silent classes of consumers. Barring a few sections of the Indian Penal Code this State Government have no weapon to combat dishonest traders and protect the consuming public from their clutches

3. As the enforcement of standards of weights and measures is a State responsibility under Entry No. 29 of the State List, this State Government is required to enact a complementary legislation for enforcement of weights and measures based on the metric system.

4. As it was necessary to take certain preliminary steps in advance of the Central Government's notified date of enforcement of metric system of weights and measures, i.e., 1st October, 1958, and as the Legislature was not in session, the West Bengal Standards of Weights and Measures (Enforcement) Ordinance, 1958 (West Ben. Ord. No. VII of 1958) was promulgated by the Governor on 24th September, 1958. The Bill is intended to replace the Ordinance by an Act of the State Legislature.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

In the recent past, there was a sudden and sharp rise in the prices of certain essential commodities and the indications were that there might be further increase in prices. As the State Government was of the view that there was little or no justification for such rise in prices, it was considered necessary to adopt measures for checking the rise in prices and preventing profiteering by dealers in such essential commodities. It was with this object that the West Bengal Anti-profiteering Ordinance, 1958 (West Ben. Ord. IX of 1958) was promulgated by the Governor of West Bengal on the 22nd October, 1958 when the Legislature was not in session.

The present Bill, which will replace the said Ordinance, contains provisions empowering Government to fix the maximum prices of certain essential commodities mentioned in the Schedule to the Bill and to take action to check profiteering in such commodities.

THE WEST BENGAL LIFTS AND ESCALATORS (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1958.

A

to amend the West Bengal Lifts and Escalators Act, 1955.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the West Bengal Lifts and Escalators Act, 1955 for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter appearing; West Ben. Act V of 1955.

It is hereby enacted in the Ninth Year of the Republic of India, by the Legislature of West Bengal, as follows:—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the West Bengal Lifts and Escalators (Amendment) Act, 1958.

Amendment of section 7 of West Ben. Act V of 1955. 2. In the proviso to section 7 of the West Bengal Lifts and Escalators Act, 1955 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act)—

(1) for the words "three months" the words "six months" shall be substituted and shall be deemed always to have been substituted;

(2) for the word and figure "section 8" the words and figures "sub-section (1) of section 8" shall be substituted and shall be deemed always to have been substituted.

Amendment of section 8. 3. In section 8 of the said Act—

(1) in sub-section (1)—

(i) for the words and figures "Notwithstanding anything contained in sections 4 and 5, the" the word "The" shall be substituted and shall be deemed always to have been substituted;

The West Bengal Lifts and Escalators (Amendment) Bill, 1958.

(Clause 4.)

(ii) for the words "three months" the words "six months" shall be substituted and shall be deemed always to have been substituted; and

(iii) after sub-section (1) the following sub-section shall be inserted, namely:—

"(1A) Without prejudice to the provisions of section 18, the owner of any premises in which a lift has been installed before the commencement of this Act who has not applied for a license for the working of such lift within the period of six months referred to in sub-section (1) may apply after the expiry of the said period of six months for a license for the working of such lift.";

(2) to sub-section (2) the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that a fee of double the amount mentioned in sub-section (4) of section 5 shall be paid along with an application under sub-section (1A), which shall not be refunded whether the license is granted or not.".

Repeal of West Ben. Ord. VI of 1958 and Savings.

4. (1) The West Bengal Lifts and Escalators (Amendment) Ordinance, 1958, is hereby repealed. West Ben. Ord. VI of 1958.

(2) Any application made, any order passed, any action taken or anything whatsoever done under any provision of the said Ordinance shall be deemed to have been made, passed, taken or done under the corresponding provision of this Act, as if this Act were in force on the day on which such application, order, action or thing was made, passed, taken or done.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Under the original provisions of sections 7 and 8 of the West Bengal Lifts and Escalators Act, 1955 (West Ben. Act V of 1955), applications for licences for working of existing lifts were required to be filed within 3 months from the date of commencement of the Act, i.e., the 1st May, 1958. As there was some unavoidable delay in the preparation of the prescribed forms and collection of necessary technical details and drawings, to be furnished with each application, a large percentage of the owners of existing lifts had failed to apply for licenses by the prescribed date. In order to regularise the position and to minimise hardship, which might be otherwise caused to bona fide defaulters, the period of grace had been extended to six months from the date of commencement of the Act by the West Bengal Lifts and Escalators (Amendment) Ordinance, 1958 (West Ben. Ord. VI of 1958). The provisions of the said Ordinance have been incorporated in the present Amending Bill.

2. It has since been reported to the Government that in spite of this extension of the original time-limit a number of owners of lifts have failed to comply with the provisions of section 8, possibly because they are finding it difficult to get hold of old plans, sectional drawings to be filed with the license applications in respect of lifts, which have been in existence for years. There being no provision for receiving belated applications from even bona fide defaulters in the Act, as it now stands, which merely provides for prosecution of such defaulters under section 18 of the Act, the Government have felt it necessary to add a provision for the purpose. In order to obviate chances of hardship to bona fide applicants and failure to comply with the provisions of section 8 of the Act due to circumstances beyond their control, as well as to prevent dislocation of work and inconvenience to the public by stoppage of the operation of the lifts of such defaulters sub-section (1A) has been added to section 8 of the Act, which enables a defaulting owner to apply for a license, even after the expiry of the date, and a proviso has also been added to sub-section (2) under which such applications shall be accompanied by a fee of double the normal amount.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Law Revision Committee (now State Law Commission) pointed out certain defects and omissions in the Calcutta Official Receiver's Act, 1938 (Bengal Act VII of 1938). The existing provisions in the Act regarding receipt, withdrawal, payment and investment of moneys by the Official Receiver are not in conformity with the provisions of the Constitution of India. Under Article 284(a) of the Constitution the moneys received by or deposited with the Official Receiver are required to be paid into the public account of the State. As, however, investment of moneys out of the public account will not be permissible until any law or rule is made in that respect under Article 283(2) of the Constitution, the Official Receiver is required to be authorised to withdraw sums deposited in the public account, as and when necessary, for the purpose of making various prescribed payments and investments. It is necessary to remove the defects and omissions and to provide for certain other matters by amending the Act. The Bill has been drawn up for that purpose.

(b) the principles in accordance with which permission referred to in section 5 may be granted;

(c) the form of application and the particulars referred to in sub-section (1) of section 6.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Since the undertaking of the Steel Project at Durgapur in the district of Burdwan, structures have been and are being erected in an unplanned manner in and around the area. Large-scale speculation of land is also going on there. Government are undertaking various other schemes such as Coke Oven, Gas Grid, etc. in the vicinity of the area. It is, therefore, necessary to obtain powers for the State Government to prevent unplanned constructions and speculation in lands in the area.

The Bill has been framed with the above objects in view. The main features of the Bill are as follows:—

(1) Constitution of the Durgapur Development Authority with powers to control unplanned constructions and to give directions for their stoppage, alteration or even demolition.

(2) Acquisition of the land in the case of the inability of any person to comply with the directions of the Durgapur Development Authority, on the application of the said person.

(3) Empowering the Durgapur Development Authority or any other person or officer to lay down, place, maintain, alter, remove or repair any pipes, pipe-lines, supply-lines, posts, or other appliances or apparatus for the maintenance of supplies and services essential to the life of the community.

(4) Imposition of penalty for violation of the directions given by the Durgapur Development Authority.

"1948.	VII	The Bihar Panchayat Raj Act, 1947.	The whole shall be repealed.".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The amendments proposed in the Bill are intended to remove certain anomalies and practical difficulties experienced in working the Act and to clarify certain provisions of the Act.

The Act was originally passed in 1956 but was ultimately published as Act I of 1957. So, the Act is now proposed to be called the West Bengal Panchayat Act, 1957 [clause 2 and clause 14(a) of the Bill].

According to the scheme of the Act, the Anchal Panchayat is the principal local authority. It is, therefore, sought to make the election of the Pradhan of an Anchal Panchayat the starting point of affecting the operation of other Acts enumerated in Schedule 1 to the Act [clause 3(a)].

The Bihar Panchayat Raj Act is in force in the territories transferred from Bihar to West Bengal. Provision is made for its repeal [clause 14(b)], and consequential amendments are proposed [clause 3(b)].

To guard against eventualities, provisions are made for appointment of the members of a Gram Panchayat by the State Government on the failure of the Gram Sabha to elect such members and for prescribing the time and manner of their election (clause 4 and clause 13), and also for the transaction of the normal business of a Gram Panchayat during the period between the expiry of the term of appointed members and the commencement of the term of elected members (clause 5).

Similar provisions are required for appointment of the members of an Anchal Panchayat. It is also necessary to eliminate the conflict between the four-year term of office of the members of an Anchal Panchayat and the one-year term of office of the members of a Gram Panchayat appointed under section 13. According to the present rule 9 of the West Bengal Panchayat Rules, 1958 a notice of at least sixty days has to be given before an election; the time for filling up a vacancy in an Anchal Panchayat has, therefore, to be extended from two to three months. A person may be allowed to be a member both of a Gram Panchayat and an Anchal Panchayat. Provisions are made accordingly (clause 6).

But a person should be debarred from holding the office both of Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha of a Gram Panchayat and a Pradhan or Upa-Pradhan of an Anchal Panchayat (clause 7). Provisions are also necessary to be made for notifying the election or appointment of the members of an Anchal Panchayat and of its Pradhan and Upa-Pradhan (clause 8).

A Nyaya Panchayat is to consist of five members elected from amongst the members of Gram Sabhas within an Anchal Panchayat; where an Anchal Panchayat comprises more than five Gram Sabhas it is necessary to provide that at the time of election no Gram Sabha may be left out of consideration. So, the second proviso to section 70(1) of the Act is suitably remoulded (clause 9). In a suit, the accrual of the cause of action within the local limits of a Nyaya Panchayat should be sufficient to give it jurisdiction apart from the residence of the defendant, and section 83 of the Act is amended accordingly (clause 10). It is expressly provided that the members of a Nyaya Panchayat are public servants (clause 11).

As the repeal of certain enactments according to section 4 of the Act precedes the constitution of a Nyaya Panchayat under section 70(1) of the Act, it is necessary to provide for the transfer of suits and cases pending in courts functioning under some of those enactments to the ordinary courts, and this is done by substitution of section 118 which in its present form is considered unnecessary (clause 12).

GOVERNMENT OF WEST BENGAL

WEST BENGAL LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY SECRETARIAT

NOTIFICATION

No. 3044 L.A.—16th December 1958.—The following report of the Joint Committee on the West Bengal Children Bill, 1958, with the Bill embodying amendments recommended by the Committee, is hereby published for general information.

REPORT OF THE JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE

On

THE WEST BENGAL CHILDREN BILL, 1958

We the undersigned members of the Joint Select Committee to which the West Bengal Children Bill, 1958, was referred have considered the Bill and we have the honour to submit our Report to which the Bill as amended by us is annexed.

1. The Joint Select Committee held five sittings and considered the Bill carefully clause by clause. The Committee was asked to submit its Report by the 31st August, 1958; but the Committee could not do so as it could not finish its deliberations by that date. The Committee crave leave of the House to submit its Report now.

2. Memoranda regarding the Bill were received by the Committee from the All India Women's Conference, the West Bengal Council of Child Welfare and the National Federation of Indian Women and the Committee had the pleasure of hearing the evidence of the representatives of these organisations. Mrs. Sudha Majumdar, Dr. N. G. Majumdar and Miss Puspamayee Bose, respectively.

3. At the outset it may be mentioned that the scope of the Bill referred to the Joint Committee is a limited one. The Bill is not aimed, although much desired as such object would be, at promoting the welfare of children in general. It is aimed at, firstly, the setting up of separate courts for the trial of juvenile delinquents, segregation of such delinquents from the ordinary prison population and imparting such general and technical education as would enable them to become useful citizens in the future, and, secondly, at eliminating the influence of undesirable and unsuitable homes from which juvenile delinquents are ordinarily recruited, homes where parental negligence or even connivance leads children to begging, various forms of misconduct and crimes.

4. Having regard to this limited scope of the Bill, the Committee found itself unable to take into consideration many of the suggestions of the above-mentioned organisations for the general welfare of children, e.g., care of children of poor widows or crippled and old father, compulsory free primary education, providing playgrounds for children, prevention of misery to children, banning of unsuitable books and cinema shows, etc., or to incorporate them in the Bill.

5. The Bill is a consolidating Bill; at present the subject matter of the Bill is governed by four Acts, viz., the Reformatory School Act, 1897, the Bengal Children Act, 1922, the Bengal Borstal Schools Act, 1928, and partly by the Bengal Vagrancy Act, 1943. The Bill has consolidated the provisions of the foregoing Acts and amended and modified the law in the light of the experience derived during the past and of the requirements of modern times.

6. The main changes which the Joint Select Committee have introduced in the Bill are the following:—

(a) It has been provided that Reformatory Schools should be of two different classes—one for the reception of juvenile delinquents and the other for the reception of children other than delinquents;

(b) The State Government shall appoint a Board of Visitors to visit Reformatory, Borstal or Industrial Schools and to record their comments as regards the management of such Schools;

(c) There shall be a Board called the State Children's Board to advise the State Government regarding all matters in relation to the administration of the Act;

(d) Every child shall, as soon as he or she is received in a School, be examined by a Medical Officer;

(e) The Government will be empowered to establish or recognise after-care organisations for the welfare of juvenile delinquents and other children discharged from Reformatory, Borstal or Industrial Schools;

(f) The Government will also have power to appoint Probation Officers to visit juvenile delinquents or other children who are taken charge of by after-care associations or by parents or other guardians in order to see to their proper rehabilitation;

(g) When a woman with children is sent to prison, the court may allow any child not more than two years of age to accompany her and may direct any child over two years of age to be sent to a reception home or Reformatory School of the second type.

7. Other changes which are of a minor nature or which have been made for clarification of meaning, and necessary verbal and consequential changes have been shown in their proper places.

8. Several suggestions were made but the Committee have not found it possible or desirable to incorporate these rigidly in the Bill itself.

It was suggested that a larger proportion of women should be employed as Inspectors or Magistrates for the trial of juvenile delinquents. Sufficient number of qualified women may not be available at present for the purpose. It should, however, be the endeavour of the Government to enlist the services of women as far as possible.

The Committee recommend that in framing the rules under the Act and in administering the Act when passed, the following suggestions should be kept in mind:—

(a) The male and female inmates of all Schools and Homes should be kept separate;

(b) Separate arrangements should be made for different types of neglected children including foundlings;

(c) Suitable financial help may be given by the Government to recognised institutions.

9. It is the opinion of the Committee that the Act when passed should be brought into force all over West Bengal within a period of two years from the date of passing.

10. Although, the Bill itself does not contemplate such a measure, but as the point had been raised, the Committee feel that they should record their view that, apart from the arrangement for the protection of children when they are really neglected (as provided by the Bill), a Board or a Committee should be appointed by the State Government to consider the preventive aspect of juvenile delinquency in general.

11. The Bill was published in the "Calcutta Gazette Extraordinary" on May 26, 1958. The Committee do not think that the Bill has been so altered by them as to require republication and the Committee recommend that the Bill as now amended be passed

We sign the report of the Joint Select Committee on the West Bengal Children Bill, 1958, subject to the following observations which we hope, will be recorded as part of the said report.

The scope of the Bill is, unfortunately, extremely limited and excludes the consideration of the general welfare of children. We wished that instead of this consolidating Bill, a more comprehensive Bill were drawn up to bring within its scope the urgent question of offering opportunities to thousands of poor children of our country for their fullest growth as useful Citizens of free India.

Sub-clause (3) of clause 1 provides that the Act shall come into force in such area or areas on such date or dates as the State Government may, by notification in the official gazette, appoint, and different dates may be appointed for different provisions of this Act or for different areas. We feel that even if the Government may not be able to enforce the Act at once, some definite date within which the whole Act will come into force all over West Bengal should have been laid down, as otherwise it may ever remain a still-born piece of Legislation.

We are happy to find that the Select Committee have made amendments requiring the Government to set up a Board of Visitors for every school established for children under this Act, but are sorry to record that no provision has been made regarding the constitution of the Board. Clause 8A of the Bill provides that these Boards shall be constituted in such manner and consist of such number of members as may be prescribed under rules by the Government under the Act. We are in favour of inclusion in them of teachers and medical practitioners and of other non-official persons of eminence, who command the confidence and respect of the people of the localities concerned. We are strongly of opinion that unless such persons are appointed, the very purpose of setting up such Boards will be defeated.

The same observation applies to constitution of the State Children Board. We were in favour of associating a member of the Senate, Calcutta University, a representative each of the Indian Medical Association and of the Indian Institute of Engineers and of persons having expert knowledge of child psychology and juvenile delinquency. Clause 8B of the Bill, no doubt, provides for the appointment of such a Board, but unfortunately, it leaves the Government free to appoint any person as members of the Board under rules that may be prescribed by the Government in this behalf. We would once again press on the Government to take our suggestions into serious consideration at the time of making the rules.

The Borstal Schools in our country were never popular institutions; they were, in another name, prison houses for delinquent children. The whole conception of these schools should now change inasmuch as modern science has definitely established that delinquency is the product of many social factors beyond the control of children that suffer from it and they may be fully reclaimed as useful citizens with proper care and education. It must, therefore, be the responsibility of the schools established or certified under the Act to provide for adequate amenities for such children, to offer them the best and fullest educational opportunities they may profit by. These children, at least, those that are capable of it, must be given the opportunities for free primary, secondary and even higher education. They must be provided with opportunities for the best Technical education. Clause 14 of the Bill, from this point of view, is extremely scrappy. It lays down that the obligation of the managers of such schools as mentioned in this paragraph, is to provide the children concerned with "accommodation, maintenance and such other facilities as may be prescribed for their education, training and welfare." This provision guarantees to the children concerned only accommodation and maintenance and leaves the question of facilities for their education, training and welfare to the discretion of the Government that may frame rules as and when they like. This takes away whatever virtue this restricted Bill possesses and we feel very strongly that the children's right to the best of education and training should be guaranteed in the Bill itself.

Subject to the above observations we append our signatures to the report of the Joint Committee on the West Bengal Children Bill, 1958.

APPENDIX

MEMORANDUM

From the West Bengal Council for Child Welfare, 47 Chowringhee Road, Calcutta, for consideration of the Joint Committee on the West Bengal Children Bill, 1958.

(i) The Bill aims at protecting children from cruelty, neglect and ill-treatment. But it is silent on the preventive aspect. There should be a specific clause/clauses for the prevention of misery to children. That is considered to be a positive step for the welfare of children.

(ii) A "neglected child" should also include a child having a parent, a guardian, who maltreats or treats the child cruelly, which is detrimental to the proper growth and development of the child.

(Chapter I, clause 2—Definitions)

(iii) When the State Government is dissatisfied with the management of a certified school it might also appoint new managers for such a school, or may take direct charge of the school.

(Chapter II, clause 10)

(iv) The Bill should contain specific provision for the proper rehabilitation of neglected/ill-treated or delinquent children.

(Chapter II, clause 17 and Chapter II, clause 22)

(v) Any responsible person or a properly constituted welfare organisation may also bring a neglected or ill-treated child before a Court.

(Chapter IV, clause 25)

(vi) When a normal child is neglected or ill-treated he should be sent to an orphanage instead of a reformatory.

(Chapter IV, clause 27)

(vii) The parent or guardian of a juvenile delinquent or child should include in the case of illegitimacy, his putative father and/or mother.

(Chapter V, clause 31—Explanation)

(viii) There should be provision for imparting general education also to a neglected ill-treated child if the child is found fit to receive it.

(Chapter V, clause 32)

(ix) The Bill should contain specific provisions regarding the existing orphanages, conditions of child employment and welfare of children of working mothers.

(x) The Bill should be so enacted as to prepare the way for the proper growth and development as useful citizens of all children, who by reasons of their birth or accidents, are deprived of the facilities for their proper up-bringing.

MEMORANDUM

From Shrimati Sudha Mazumdar for consideration of the Joint Committee on the West Bengal Children Bill, 1958.

The system of dealing with delinquent children in the Netherlands for many years has been found to be very satisfactory. It is as follows:—

A woman social welfare officer-cum-policewoman is placed in charge of a certain zone of the town. It is her duty to watch the area under her charge very carefully. When she sees any child being neglected, that is, if the child is seen playing about in the streets uncared for or ill-treated in any manner, she traces the parents or guardian and if it is found that the child is neglected on account of step-parents or drunken parents or sheer careless parents, they are warned and if this continues in spite of the warning then the child and its parents are summoned before the children's judge who gives a further warning. If in spite of this the child continues to be neglected or ill-treated then it is taken to what is called a Half Freedom Home. This Home is in charge of a matron and is kind of hostel from where the child goes to school or continues any vocational training that he or she may be undergoing. According to the income of the parents they have to pay a certain sum of money for the upkeep of the child and the rest is paid by the State. The child can stay here for two years, visit its parents or the parents can come and see the child once on a Sunday. There are many Homes like this for boys and others for girls of different ages. There is a committee to plan the evenings when music and games are organised. The matron is the "Mother" of the children and looks after them very carefully. Except for having to return at this time at a fixed time there is no other restriction that is why it is called Half Freedom Home.

We can have a few Homes of this kind with certain modifications of course but the basic principles may remain the same.

2. Children should not be allowed to accompany their mothers to jail. She may only take an infant in arms. No child above the age of one year to be in jail. When the trying Magistrate sends her to jail, he should also send her children if there are none of her own people to take charge of them to a recognised institution where they will be looked after according their age group, for the bigger ones should receive a literacy education. In Chapter 2, page 3—

Inspection of Schools: In Reformatories, Borstal school and Industrial schools, where these are for girls, the Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors should be women.

Cinema: At present, pictures shown are advertised at A or U. But there is not machinery to see that tickets are not issued to children under a specified age for the adult pictures. In Switzerland there is a police supervision at Cinemas for this purpose. Unless something like this is done young minds will be contaminated by undesirable pictures. Family Planning films should never be shown to children, but only to adult audiences.

In page 11, clause 33—

The penalty is too little, the imprisonment should be six months at least and fine 500 rupees.

Clause 40—

This penalty too should be the same as above.

MEMORANDUM

From the National Federation of Indian Women West Bengal Committee, 57 Ballygunge Gardens, Calcutta-19, for consideration of the Joint Committee on the West Bengal Children Bill, 1958.

দেশের অনাদৃত ও অপরাধী শিশুদের সংশোধনের জন্য আনীত বিলটির জন্য আমরা পশ্চিমবঙ্গ সরকারকে ধন্যবাদ জানাই। এ বিল সম্পর্কে বেসরকারী প্রতিষ্ঠান ও ব্যক্তিবর্গের মতামত আহ্বান করায় সরকার আমাদের ধন্যবাদভাজন হয়েছেন।

বর্তমান সময়ে শিশুদের একটি বৃহৎ অংশ যেভাবে অবহেলিত হচ্ছে তাতে এই সমস্যার প্রতি সরকারের সর্বাধিক গুরুত্ব দেওয়া প্রয়োজন বলে আমরা মনে করি।

আলোচ্য-বিলে অনাদৃত শিশুদের মানুষ করা এবং অপরাধী শিশুদের সংশোধন করার পদ্ধতি স্থির করা হয়েছে।

প্রথমেই আমাদের মনে হয় 'অনাদৃত শিশুর' যে সংজ্ঞা এই বিলে দেওয়া হয়েছে তার পরিধি আরও বাড়ানো দরকার এবং 'অক্ষম বিধবা মায়ের সন্তান ও পঙ্গু বৃদ্ধ পিতার সন্তানদেরও এই সংজ্ঞার অন্তর্ভুক্ত করা দরকার। বর্তমান অর্থসংকটের সময়ে অন্ততঃ কিছুকাল এইসব দুর্ভাগ্য শিশুদের মানুষ করার দায়িত্ব সরকারকে নিতে হবে।

দ্বিতীয়তঃ আমাদের মনে হয় যেসকল কারণে শিশু অনাদৃত হয় এবং শেষ পর্যন্ত অপরাধ প্রবণ হয়ে যায় সেইসকল কারণ দূর করাই সর্বাপেক্ষা বেশী প্রয়োজন এবং তাতেই শিশুপালন সম্পর্কে যে জটিল সমস্যার সৃষ্টি হয়েছে তা সমাধানের পথ সহজ হয়ে উঠবে। আলোচ্য বিলটিতে এইরূপ দৃষ্টিভঙ্গী না থাকায় শিশুপালন সমস্যার সামগ্রিক সমাধান এতে হবে না বলেই আমাদের ধারণা। যদিও বর্তমান সামাজিক ও অর্থনৈতিক অবস্থায় সামগ্রিক সমাধান সম্ভব নয় তবুও কতকগুলি বিশেষ ব্যবস্থা দ্বারা শিশুসমাজের উন্নতির পথ করে দেওয়া যেতে পারে। শিশুমনকে আকৃষ্ট করবার জন্য কিছু ব্যবস্থার প্রবর্তন এবং শিশুমনকে ক্ষতিগ্রস্ত করে এমন কতগুলি চলতি ব্যবস্থা নিষিদ্ধ করার কথা আমরা বলতে চাই। এগুলি দ্বারা একদিকে শিক্ষা ও মানসিক প্রফুল্লতার জন্য সুস্থ পরিবেশ সৃষ্টি করা হবে অপরদিকে শিশুকে কলুষিত করবার গর্হিত চেষ্টা প্রতিরোধ করা যাবে। যেমন—

(১) বাধ্যতামূলক অবৈতনিক প্রাথমিক শিক্ষার ব্যবস্থা। এর জন্য প্রয়োজনীয় আইন করা উচিত। এই বিলে সম্ভব না হলে পৃথক বিল প্রস্তুত করা কর্তব্য। শিক্ষাক্ষেত্রের অভাবই শিশুদের বহির্মুখীন হবার অন্যতম মূল কারণ।

(২) খেলাধূলার মধ্য দিয়ে শিশুর স্বাস্থ্য এবং মানসিক গঠন উভয়েরই বিকাশ সাধন করা যায়। এজন্য কলকাতার পার্কগুলিতে বিশেষ ব্যবস্থা করা যেতে পারে। সরকার নিযুক্ত ক্রীড়াশিক্ষক, শিশুদের খেলাধূলা ও তার মধ্য দিয়ে কিছুটা শৃঙ্খলাবোধ ও পরিচ্ছন্নতা শেখাতে পারেন। এজন্য প্রয়োজনীয় ব্যবস্থা এই আইনেই করা যায়।

(৩) খেলার ব্যবস্থার সঙ্গে পার্কগুলিতে শিশুদের জন্য পড়বার ঘর (লাইব্রেরী) করে দেওয়া দরকার। সেখানেও শিক্ষক নিযুক্ত থাকবেন। এখান থেকে মাঝে মাঝে শিক্ষামূলক ছায়াছবি দেখানো যেতে পারে। এই আইনে এর ব্যবস্থা হতে পারে।

(৪) প্রত্যেক স্কুলে এবং এইসব খেলার সংগঠনগুলিতে নিয়মিত স্বাস্থ্য পরীক্ষার ব্যবস্থা করা দরকার।

এগুলি ছাড়া কুপ্রভাব ও কুসংসর্গ থেকে শিশুদের রক্ষা করার জন্য কতগুলি ব্যবস্থা অবলম্বন করা প্রয়োজন যেমন—

(১) অপরাধমূলক শিশুসাহিত্য বাজারে কেনাবেচা বন্ধ করা।

(২) যৌন আবেদনমূলক বিজ্ঞাপন বন্ধ করা।

(৩) শিশুদের নিয়ে যারা ব্যবসা করে অথবা ন্যায্য পারিশ্রমিক না দিয়ে যারা শিশু শ্রমিক খাটায় তাদের সম্পর্কে কঠোর শাস্তি বিধান করা।

(৪) শিশুচুরি হওয়া আজকাল প্রায় নিত্যকার ঘটনা। ব্যবসার কারণে এদের বিকলাঙ্গ করে দেওয়ার মর্মান্তিক ঘটনাও বিরল নয়। এইসব শিশুকে নিয়ে ভিক্ষে করা বা এদেরকে পকেটমার তৈরী করার কাজে গুণ্ডাদল নিযুক্ত আছে এ বিষয়ে সন্দেহ নেই। সম্ভবতঃ কঠোর সাজা দেওয়া হয় না বলেই এগুলো চলতে পারে। সুতরাং এইসব ক্ষেত্রে খুব কঠিন শাস্তিদানের ব্যবস্থা করা উচিত। বিশেষ করে যারা শিশুদের বিকলাঙ্গ করে দেয় তাদের যথেষ্ট গুরুদণ্ড হওয়া উচিত।

শিশুদের বিচার, সংশোধন ও পরবর্তীসময়ে নজর রাখা সম্বন্ধেঃ

(১) শিশুদের কোর্টে মহিলা বিচারক হওয়াই বাঞ্ছনীয়। যদি বিচারক মহিলা পাওয়া না যায় অন্ততঃ বিচারকের পরামর্শের জন্য অনারারী মহিলা ম্যাজিস্ট্রেট সঙ্গে থাকা উচিত।

(২) অনাদৃত শিশুরা যদি অপরাধী না হয় তবে তাদের শিক্ষা ও বসবাসের ব্যবস্থা পৃথক হওয়া উচিত এবং তাদের স্কুলের নামও পৃথক হওয়া উচিত।

(৩) শিক্ষাকেন্দ্রগুলিতে যারা শিক্ষক নিযুক্ত হবেন তাদের শিশুমনস্তত্ত্ব সম্পর্কে বিশেষ জ্ঞান থাকা দরকার এবং বেশীর ভাগ মহিলা শিক্ষক হওয়া দরকার।

(৪) শিক্ষাকেন্দ্রগুলির সুষ্ঠু কাজ পরিচালনার জন্য একটি কেন্দ্রীয় পরামর্শদানকারী বোর্ড গঠিত হওয়া উচিত। বিশিষ্ট শিক্ষাব্রতী শিশুমনস্তাত্ত্বিক ও সমাজ সেবীদের দ্বারা এই বোর্ড গঠিত হওয়া উচিত। কেন্দ্রের কাজ পরিচালনা বিষয়ে এই বোর্ড সরকারকে পরামর্শ দেবেন।

(৫) শিক্ষাকেন্দ্রে সাধারণ শিক্ষা ও বৃত্তিমূলক শিক্ষা উভয়েরই ব্যবস্থা থাকা উচিত।

(৬) শিক্ষান্তে ছাত্রছাত্রীগণ, বিশেষতঃ যারা কোর্ট থেকে সাজাপ্রাপ্ত ছিল তারা যাতে বাইরে এসে চাকুরীতে বহাল হয়ে স্বাভাবিক জীবনে প্রতিষ্ঠিত হতে পারে তার ব্যবস্থা করে দিতে হবে।

(৭) শিক্ষাকেন্দ্র থেকে ছাড়া পাবার পরও অন্ততঃ তিন বছর পর্যন্ত অপরাধী শিশু যারা ছিল তাদের সম্বন্ধে খোঁজখবর রাখার ব্যবস্থা থাকা উচিত।

সর্বশেষে আমাদের বক্তব্য এই বিলটি পাশ হবার পর অন্ততঃ এক বছরের মধ্যেই যেন চালু করা হয়।

বিলটির নাম শিশুকল্যাণ বিল হলেই ভাল হয়।

17A. (1) The State Government may appoint as many Probation Officers as it may think fit to visit juvenile delinquents and other children taken charge of—

(i) by after-care organisations established or recognised under section 17, or

(ii) by parents, guardians or other persons, having been temporarily released from reformatory, industrial or borstal schools on probation on the execution of bonds or otherwise, and to report to the State Government as to the conduct of such juvenile delinquents and other children and the circumstances in which they live.

(2) The Probation Officers appointed under sub-section (1) shall have such other powers and duties as may be prescribed.

CHAPTER III.

Juvenile delinquents.

Bail and custody of children pending inquiry.

18. (1) When a child is arrested or detained on a charge for any offence, whether bailable or not, or appears or is brought before a Court, such child may be released on bail with or without sureties, but he shall not be so released if there appear reasonable grounds for believing that the release is likely to bring him under the influence of any criminal or expose him to moral danger or defeat the ends of justice.

(2) Where the Court makes an order under clause (c) of sub-section (1), it may further direct that the juvenile delinquent be placed under the supervision of a person to be appointed by the Court with his consent for such period as may be specified in the order:

Provided that if at any time within three years of such order it appears to the Court on receiving information from the person appointed by the Court or otherwise that the juvenile delinquent has not been of good behaviour, it may, after such inquiry as it deems fit, order the juvenile delinquent to be sent to a reformatory or borstal school to be detained there for such period, as the Court may direct.

(3) An order under clause (e) of sub-section (1) may be made against a parent or guardian who, having been required to attend, has failed to do so, but, save as aforesaid, no such order shall be made without giving the parent or guardian an opportunity of being heard.

(4) Any order directing that a parent or guardian shall pay a fine under this section may be executed in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898. Act V of 1898.

Proceedings under Chapter VIII of Act V of 1898 not to be instituted against child.

"subject to such adaptations and modifications, whether by way of repeal or amendment, as the State Government may from time to time but before the expiration of one year from that day, by notification in the Official Gazette, make in any such law for the purpose of facilitating the application thereof in relation to West Bengal,".

Amendment of Schedule II. 3. After item (16) of Schedule II to the said Act, the following items shall be added, namely:—

"(17) The Bihar Bhoodan Yagna Act, 1954 (Bihar Act 22 of 1954).

(18) The Chota Nagpur Rural Police Act, 1914 (Bihar and Orissa Act 1 of 1914).".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The West Bengal Transferred Territories (Assimilation of Laws) Act, 1958 provides for bringing the territories transferred from Bihar to West Bengal under the same set of laws which are applicable to the rest of West Bengal as far as possible. The Act has, however, not yet been enforced by issue of a notification as required.

The Planning Commission has requested retention of the Bihar Bhoodan Yagna Act, 1954 in the transferred territories. After careful consideration of the suggestion, and as the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act, 1953 has not been extended to the transferred territories yet it is proposed to retain the Bihar Bhoodan Yagna Act, 1954 in the transferred territories with necessary adaptations to be made by Government. On account of special circumstances prevailing there, it is also intended to retain the Chota Nagpur Rural Police Act, 1914 in the transferred territories.

The object of the Bill is to amend the West Bengal Transferred Territories (Assimilation of Laws) Act, 1958 to empower the State Government to make adaptations and modifications in any Bihar law included in Schedule II and also to amend Schedule II to the Act to include therein (a) the Bihar Bhoodan Yagna Act, 1954 and (b) the Chota Nagpur Rural Police Act, 1914.

The Bill has been drafted accordingly.

Member-in-charge.

the State Government may, by notification, and in such other manner as may be prescribed, proclaim its intention to declare such area to be a slum-area.

(2) Upon the publication of such a notification and within two months of such publication, the person or persons affected by such notification may make representations in writing to the State Government, stating the grounds of their objection to the intended declaration.
